RITISH POLICE FIRE ON INDIA REBELS; KILL 2

Officials Stoned by Mob in Madras.

BULLETIN.

MADRAS, India, April 27.—(AP)—Two Indians were killed and three wounded today when police fired upon a mob in Pycroft road. The rioters had stoned the police, injuring the commissioner, the deputy commissioner and a number of others. Warnings to disperse were ignored. The police then fired seven shots.

BOMBAY, April 27.—Mahatma Gandhi's followers are becoming bolder and bolder. This afternoon they staged the biggest demonstration seen in Bombay during the present crisis. To till now massmeetings and volunteer parades have been held on the Maidan, a large open space outside the city, but today thousands of volunteers gathered in a huge procession and marched through the main streets shouting, "The government is dead now the salt law is broken."

They made particular demonstrations along the Apollo Bunder, a handsome esplanade facing the sea. Here are situated the great stone arch, popularly known as the gateway of India; the Royal Yacht club and the Taj Mahal hotel, a well known port of call for travelers from the United States visiting India.

Stage Mile Long Parade.

Late this afternoon European visitors in the club and hotel were disturbed by shouts outside and rushed to windows to witness a remarkable sight. A procession about a mile long came winding slowly from the city towards the sea. The men were all dressed in the ascetic uniform prescribed by Gandhi, consisting of white homespun cap and loose white shirt, worn over white trousers.

Vivid splashes of color were supplied by national flags in green, red and white, colors of the independent India movement, and by bright colored silk shawls of many women in the procession. The great majority of the men were mere youths, but here and there an older volunteer acted as a kind of cheer leader, urging on followers to revolutionary cries.

All this was disturbing to impartial observers, who have noticed sentiment among the native population of Bombay grow more and more excited during the last few weeks. Yet, a neutral visitor finds the whole situation in India increasingly difficult to estimate.

Gandhi Legendary Figure.

Gandhi's influence undoubtedly has grown in most of the big cities, where young men are defying laws more openly every day. Gandhi is becoming almost a legendary figure to thousands of followers who have never seen him but follow the "holy man" with a fervor that is more religious than political.

On the other hand in villages, where an overwhelming proportion of India's 320 millions find their homes, the farmer is driving white bullocks yoked to his primitive plow as placidly as ever, untouched by the rising tide of political unrest sweeping through towns where Gandhi has his strong points. The only exception is in the district of Gujarat, just north of Bombay, which is Gandhi's home. Here towns and villages alike unite to do him honor, people leaving their work to join his army of volunteers at one word from the mahatma.

The tactics of this volunteer army continues peaceful, except where inevitable clashes with the police provoked minor engagements. The real trouble of the moment is that political ferment into which Gandhi already has plunged sections of the country.

Border Tribes Biggest Menace.

It is producing outbursts in distant areas, remote from his powers of discipline. His own simple Gujarat peasants are far from being a violent force in themselves, but it is a different story when his teachings inflame wilder elements in Bengal, on the east coast, or the traditionally warlike men of the north. Hence the serious outbursts wherein British troops were compelled to fire on mobs at Chittagong, a port in Bengal, Karachi, the Indian terminus of the air mail from London, and above all Peshawar, which is the center of the warlike tribes of the frontier.

It is this last instance that holds the most serious threat. Tribesmen of the north are not politically minded, probably very few have ever heard of Gandhi's name. Their hobby is warfare and their ambition loot. So

Lindy Brings in Air Mail Ahead of Time

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, April 27.—(AP)—With characteristic swiftness Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today blazed a new air mail route across the Caribbean sea, linking New York and Buenos Aires in a seven day mail schedule.

Leaving Havana, Cuba, at 5:33 a. m. [Chicago daylight time], the flying colonel split the famous Lindbergh Caribbean circle route, striking the Central American mainland at Cape Gracias a Dios, Nicaragua, instead of at Yucatan, on his old route. He landed at France field here at 4:04 p. m. [Chicago time], completing his flight of 1,033 miles from Cuba in 9 hours and 58 minutes. He was not scheduled to arrive here until 6 p. m.

Carries 215 Pounds of Mail.

The plane brought 215 pounds of mail, destined for various parts of South America. Postoffice employés here were prepared to work all night, if necessary, to prepare the mails for the southward journey, which will be resumed at dawn tomorrow. Col. Lindbergh will not fly beyond this city, however. He plans to return to the United States the latter part of the week.

L. R. "Dinty" Moore, who participated in the United States navy's attempt to fly the Atlantic in 1919, will pilot the southbound mail to Talara, Peru. From that point other planes will relay the mails to various South American republics. It is scheduled to arrive in Buenos Aires at 4:30 p. m. [Chicago time] Friday.

Under perfect flying conditions, Col. Lindbergh sailed easily over the long water jump of today's flight. He carried Basil Rowe as co-pilot and Bert Denicky as radio operator. Constant communications were maintained with the radio base of the Pan-American Airways at Miami, Fla., and with other stations of the company in Central America.

Lindy Enjoys His Trip.

A brilliant sun glittered over the Caribbean as Col. Lindbergh swung the plane toward the Isle of Pines after leaving Cuba. A speed of approximately 115 miles per hour was maintained as the ship flew toward Central America. Radio messages related that Lindbergh enjoyed the trip, several times relinquishing the controls to his co-pilot, so that he might make observations and eat his lunch in flight.

One stop was made to refuel. This was at Porto Cabezas, Nicaragua, where the ship was landed at 11:37 a. m. [Chicago time]. The flight was resumed at 12:12 p. m. The weather continued brilliant as the plane cruised along the Central American coast into Panama.

A crowd of officials and civilians gathered at France field to welcome the flyer on his third inaugural air mail trip into Latin America.

GIRL IS KILLED BY FALL FROM HOTEL WINDOW

Miss Marion Walraven, 21 years old, daughter of Earle C. Walraven, a general representative of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company, died yesterday at the Jackson Park hospital of injuries incurred some hours earlier when she fell from a window of the Walravens' sixth floor apartment in the Shore Line hotel at 2231 East 67th street. An inquest will be held today at the Jackson Park hospital.

The accident occurred while Miss Walraven and her sister, Jane, 16 years old, were preparing for bed after returning home from a bridge party. Miss Walraven had stepped to the top of a radiator to draw a faulty shade when she lost her balance and plunged through the open window.

Jane, not in the room at the moment, was startled by a half scream and rushed in. Marion was not there, but on looking out the window Jane saw her sister on the floor of a second story veranda.

Mr. Walraven, who was in Jacksonville, Fla., on business, was summoned.

Boy, 8, Fails in 2d Glider License Test; to Try Again

Undaunted by his second failure yesterday to keep afloat in his glider for thirty seconds, the time necessary to qualify for a third class glider pilot's license, Verton Collignon, 8 year old Palatine, Ill., schoolboy, will make his third attempt next Sunday, he declared. Verton's tests have been made under the auspices of the Winrider Glider club at Gorsline field, Palatine. His next attempt will be made at Cary.

London Talks to Canadian Train by Phone

BY STANLEY JACKSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Quebec, April 17.—For the first time in history, two way radio telephone conversations with London, England, Washington and other points, from a train speeding at 60 miles an hour was carried on today. It marked the inauguration of a new Montreal-Chicago service. The train will land Montreal passengers in Chicago tomorrow morning, four hours faster than any previous schedule.

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National railways, conversed with Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont in Washington during the record run between Toronto and Montreal. A few minutes later he telephoned to Minister of Commerce James Malcolm in Ottawa, and then to C. J. Smith, vice president of the road, in London.

Besides Sir Henry and other transportation and communication officials who were on the train, more than a score of newspaper men put in calls to various parts of Canada, the United States, and to London. The speakers in London were clearly heard.

Utilize Wires by Track.

The new telephone makes use of the lines of telegraph wires that parallel all railroad tracks by broadcasting the conversation to them. This then runs along the wires to a central station and is then transferred to the ordinary telephone wires, and from them again to radio for transmission over the ocean.

A limited success had previously been attained by German state railroad engineers in a one-way telephone circuit installed on the main line trains operating between Berlin and Hamburg, a distance of 180 miles. Mr. Robb, vice president of the Canadian National, and Sir Henry had tested this system while on business trips in Europe. They were convinced that this one way circuit was unsuited to business conditions on this side of the Atlantic and so started a number of experiments which culminated in today's successful test.

Inaugurate Crack Expresses.

The new telephone system was installed on the new International Limited, which left Montreal at 4 p. m., daylight saving time, and was scheduled to arrive in Chicago 18 hours and 15 minutes later.

The train maintained an average speed of 55 miles an hour today in a run between Toronto and Montreal, cutting two hours off the old schedule, and at times reached a speed of 82 miles an hour.

The International Limited and the Intercity Limited, running in the opposite direction, will be, it is claimed, the fastest trains in the world traversing a similar distance. If the New York-Chicago trains were run at the speed of the International, it would be possible to cut the time between the two cities to 17 hours and 15 minutes.

SURVEY REPORT HAS OPTIMISTIC OUTLOOK AHEAD

Summary Issued as Chamber Meets.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—On the eve of the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, an optimistic summary of business conditions was issued tonight by the national business survey conference.

Significant phases of the present situation as noted by Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the chamber and chairman of the conference, are:

"1. That large American industry is fully carrying out the construction program forecast by them last December when the conference met.

"2. A manifest adjustment of production of goods to current consumption.

"3. Continued cautious merchandising policies in retail distribution.

"4. The evidence in our foreign trade of problems of trade disturbance in the other countries."

The general committee of the business survey conference which grew out of the meetings called by President Hoover following the stock market collapse will meet during the convention of the chamber of commerce. The general topic of the convention, which will commence tomorrow and continue through Thursday, will be "What's Ahead for Business?" President Hoover is to be a speaker.

High Points in Summary.

High points in the extensive summary of business conditions as issued today included the following:

"Short time credit: The easing of conditions in the money market, which began last October, has been progressing, with some rates on acceptances and call and time money in March reaching the lowest level since 1924. At the same time there has been a marked decline in average rates charged by banks in leading cities in all parts of the country on loans they make to their customers, these rates now being generally lower than at any time since the middle of 1928.

Record for Long Term.

"Long term credit: For the first quarter of 1930 the volume of new capital obtained by producing and distributing corporations totals one billion 584 million dollars, which is the record for new capital obtained for such purposes in any first quarter except the first quarter of 1929, which exceeded this by less than 2 per cent.

"The construction industry: For the first quarter of 1930 building contracts awarded show for commercial buildings 207 million dollars, against 244 million dollars for 1929 and 200 million dollars for 1928; for industrial building, 146 million dollars for 1930, against 175 million dollars for 1929 and 122 million dollars for 1928; for public works and utilities, 303 million dollars for 1930, against 196 million dollars for 1929 and 242 million for 1928; but for residential building, 243 million dollars for 1930, against 465 million for 1929 and 707 million for 1928. Total building contracts for all classes show one billion 100 million dollars for the first quarter of 1930, against one billion 256 million dollars for 1929 and one billion 485 million dollars for 1928.

March Construction Up.

"For March alone there is an increase in commercial building contracts above 1929 and 1928. A marked increase in industrial building contracts over 1929 and 1928; an increase in public works and utilities over 1929, but 5 per cent below 1928, but in residential contracts a total of 101 million dollars, against 197 million for 1929 and 275 million in 1928.

"Railroads: For the first quarter of 1930 returns indicate that the capital improvements planned are proceeding on schedule and that the total expenditures for the first quarter indicate an increase of 40 per cent over the expenditures for the same period in 1929.

"Shipping: Shipping trades report the same falling off in tonnage carried as last month. The same falling off in normal passenger business. Employment in shipyards continues at the same rate as last month and substantially above 1929. The letting of further mail contracts assures increased business later for the shipyards, probably during the second quarter.

"Electric power and gas: Reports from the electrical industry indicate that the new construction program for the first quarter of 1930 is being

Minister Who Shot Two Is Found Guilty

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ottawa, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—The Rev. James A. Wilson, 59 years old, Methodist minister of Mendota, Ill., today was found guilty of attempted murder by a jury which deliberated nearly twenty-one hours. The verdict carries a sentence of from one to fourteen years in the penitentiary.

"The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away," murmured the silvery haired Methodist pastor, and bowed his head when the verdict was read. In striking contrast to scenes during the trial, when he was always surrounded by friends, he was alone when the decision came. The verdict was so unexpected that only a dozen persons were in court.

Evenly Divided at First.

The jury, which retired Saturday evening at 5:30 o'clock, battled over the pastor's guilt until shortly before 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The first ballot found the jurors divided evenly, six to six. Slowly those believing in the minister's innocence yielded ground until only two held out. Then, on the twenty-ninth ballot, the two holdout jurors joined their companions.

"We are forced to believe that a man who carried a gun carried it for no good purpose," declared Ike Bennett, foreman. "The minister's explanation that he was carrying the gun because he intended to commit suicide did not convince us."

"I feel sorry for the pastor," declared State's Attorney Russell O. Hanson, "but this was not a case for sympathy. It was a question of whether the law of the land could be freely violated by a minister where the ordinary man would be punished."

Last Jan. 29, according to testimony in the case, Mr. Wilson loaded his revolver and went to the home of Amos Elliott, the church sexton. Elliott was in possession of a letter written by the minister to Mrs. Emma Wagner, a widow.

The letter was of a compromising nature. The pastor begged Mrs. Wagner's forgiveness for what he had done. Elliott had announced that he would present the missive to the church board and ask for an investigation. Mrs. Wagner said the pastor had pursued her with his offers of love.

Four Shots Fired.

In an argument over the letter at the Elliott home the pastor drew his gun and fired four shots, wounding both Elliott and his wife, Wilhelmina. Elliott, who is 68 years old, was close to death for a time, but recovered after nine weeks' illness from a bullet wound which pierced his breast near the heart. Mrs. Elliott was only slightly wounded.

The shooting was admitted. The minister said his mind had suddenly gone blank when he drew the gun. In addition a long parade of character witnesses testified to his good reputation previous to the shooting. Thus the defense supported its argument that a preacher of God ought to be excused for the first crime in a long life.

"All very well," commented the state's attorney. "But these same people who are so indignant at my prosecution of this gunman would be the first to demand I put in prison a young fellow caught carrying a pint of gin."

Conducts Jail Services.

Tonight the Rev. Mr. Wilson, resigned but maintaining a cheerful countenance, held services in the county jail for a score of prisoners. He had been informed that his lawyers would appeal to the Supreme court.

The Elliotts, in their little cottage, said they faced poverty.

"I've been fired as the sexton," said the 68 year old Amos. "I can make a little money doing odd jobs, but my son's family has had sickness and they've come to live with us. I don't know how we're going to live, but God will take care of us."

SHIP PLUNGES INTO CROWD; 7 DIE, 20 HURT

Two Children Burn to Death.

FAYETTEVILLE, TENN.—Seven persons killed and twenty injured when plane falls into crowd during an air circus.

ALVORD, TEX.—Crash of plane in storm causes death of famed endurance flyer and two companions.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H.—Two children, a boy and a girl, die and pilot is injured in fall and burning of plane.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—Two flyers die in falling of plane near Milwaukee airport.

BULLETIN.

Fayetteville, Tenn., April 27.—(AP)—Sheriff M. W. Rhea said tonight that Milton P. Covert, pilot of a plane that crashed into a crowd here today, killing seven persons and injuring several others, had been placed in jail in another county. The sheriff said he believed the crash was "accidental," but there was some talk of violence to the pilot.

Fayetteville, Tenn., April 27.—(AP)—Seven spectators among a large crowd gathered here to watch an air circus sponsored by the American Legion post were killed and 20 others were injured today as a plane crashed into the onlookers.

The dead are: Booney Beard, 14; Kelly Towry, 23; Lawrence Smith, 28; Monroe Marbury, 37; Hurley Spray, 26; Rufus Bonner, 9, Negro, and Marvin Ashby, 30.

Of those injured doctors said two were expected to die. They are Claude Copeland, 30, and J. M. Douthitt, 75. Little hope was held also for the recovery of Nannie May Ortner, 4, and Rose Counts, 25.

Fell but Ten Feet.

The plane, piloted by Milton Covert of Columbia, Tenn., fell from a height of about ten feet. Covert and two companions were nearing the landing field in the plane when, witnesses said, the ship dropped, crashing into a crowd of about 100 persons standing on a railroad embankment. The pilot and his companions were not injured.

The parents of the Ortner girl, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Ortner, and another child, J. B. Ortner, 10, also were hurt, but not seriously. One Negro boy suffered the loss of both legs.

Capt. Al Gombert of Akron, O., in charge of the circus, said officials had warned spectators not to stand on the embankment, because all planes had to sweep close over it in landing.

Burn to Death in Plane.

Portsmouth, N. H., April 27.—(AP)—A boy and a girl burned to death after an airplane crash beside the Portsmouth Country club this afternoon. The dead were Geneva Brockett, 14, of Suffield, Conn., and Bruce Heffler, 14, of Greenland. The pilot, Cyde Robinson of Exeter, was seriously burned.

The children earlier in the day had been given their first airplane ride by Robinson and had been eager to go again. Robinson was making for the Portsmouth airport from the Hessler farm in Greenland when the engine stalled. In attempting to land on a road, a wing caught on a tree and the plane burst into flames as it crashed.

Robinson was thrown clear and tried to pull the children out. He was seriously burned about the face, hands, and chest in the vain attempt and was taken to a hospital at Exeter.

The flames from the plane started a brush fire which swept over six acres and threatened the country clubhouse and cottages beside the grounds. Portsmouth firemen, aided by Boy Scouts, fought the blaze.

Air Record Holder Dies.

Detroit, Mich., April 27.—[Special.]—Herbert J. Fahy, 33, former army flyer and holder of the world's solo endurance record, died at the Mercy hospital, Grayling, Mich., early Sunday morning from injuries received late Friday when his plane struck a stump on the landing field of the Cliff Durant estate, near Roscommon.

His wife, Claire, also a prominent pilot, escaped injury in the crash, because she was in a separate cabin to the rear of the fast ship.

Fahy died without regaining consciousness.

The body will be taken to Washington, D. C., where Fahy was born, and will probably be interred in Arlington cemetery.

The former army pilot was a close friend of Gen. William E. Mitchell, former chief of the army air corps, and his late career in the army service was almost as stormy as that of his chief.

The two flyers went to the Durant estate last Wednesday to attempt to sell Durant a Lockheed plane. They told friends that he had promised to buy the ship if Fahy could demonstrate that the fleet plane could land and hop off from his new landing field.

Three Die in Crash.

Alvord, Tex., April 27.—(AP)—An airplane crash during a storm five miles northwest of here cost the lives of James H. Kelly, 25, of endurance flight fame, and two companions, last night. Kelly and G. W. Mennis Sr., 50, an oil operator, both of Fort Worth, Tex., were killed and C. F. Williams, 49, of Tonkawa, Okla., died in a Fort Worth hospital today.

G. C. Ross, Oklahoma City oil operator, the fourth occupant of the plane, was injured seriously. He suffered a broken right shoulder and lacerations about the head.

With R. L. [Reg] Robbins, Kelly set a new world's endurance flight record at Fort Worth in May, 1929, by keeping aloft their monoplane, the Fort Worth, more than 172 hours.

Forced Down in Storm.

Kelly and his three companions were en route from Oklahoma City to Fort Worth when the plane ran into the storm and crashed from a low altitude. After the crash Ross walked to a farm house and summoned aid.

Mennis, owner of the five place ship, was a student flyer, under Kelly's instruction.

In 1928 Kelly left a west Texas ranch to attend a flying school in Fort Worth. Early in 1929 he was appointed manager of an airport at Laredo, Texas. He held this position until he and Robbins decided to attempt the endurance flight in the rebuilt monoplane.

Kelly is survived by his widow. Mennis is survived by his widow and a son, G. W. Mennis Jr., a college student.

TWO DIE IN AIR CRASH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., April 27.—[Special.]—Albert Roden, 26 year old amateur aviator of Saukville, Wis., crashed from a height of 300 feet above the Brown Deer flying field here today and was killed. A passenger, Harry Wegner, 15 years old, student of the high school in Grafton, Wis., also was killed.

The crash was due to his attempt to land at too low speed, according to witnesses. The flyer was nearing the airport to land, they said, when he made a sharp turn to the left, apparently lost control and the plane came down on its nose. Wegner was dead when taken from the wreckage. Roden lived about ten minutes.

The plane came to earth on the farm of E. C. Hunkel, adjoining the flying field.

Flying About Three Years.

Roden had been flying about three years, gaining his experience with an old war production biplane. About two months ago he bought the Velie monocoupe, a smaller plane with a single motor of 60 horse power and one requiring, aviators said, more skill in handling.

The limited commercial license which Roden had received when he flew the biplane was revoked when he bought the smaller plane and he was given only a private license which denied him the right to take passengers for hire into the air.

O. W. Young, U. S. government inspector for aeronautics, who was at Maitland field, Milwaukee, when the accident was reported, hurried to the Brown Deer field by airplane, inspected the wrecked plane and examined witnesses.

Withdraws Commercial License.

Mr. Young said that Roden had appeared before him about six weeks ago to apply for a license for the new plane.

He probably had 300 flying hours experience with the biplane type and had his commercial license, but after the examination of his experience with the monoplane, the commercial license was withdrawn and a private pilot's license issued, Mr. Young said. A private pilot's license requires only 10 hours' flying experience.

Pilot Fred Holterhoff, in charge of the Brown Deer field, was flying when the accident occurred. G. V. Smith and Rudolph Zimbehl, student flyers, saw the crash, as did Mr. Hunkel.

Expert Gives Views.

After talking with the student flyer witnesses and with Government Inspector Young, Mr. Holterhoff, who is a war time pilot of the German army and an associate in flying with Baron Richthofen, the German war ace, said he felt the accident was due to Roden's ship losing speed for a landing at too low an altitude

Hands Tied Behind Back, Leaps 2,500 Feet in 'Chute

Valley Stream, N. Y., April 27.—(AP)—A man with his hands tied behind his back leaped from an airplane flying 2,500 feet above the Curtiss-Wright airport today to demonstrate a new automatic parachute device. The jumper, John Runger, landed safely in a woods near the field. The device is the invention of John Ruby of Jamaica, Queens.

BANKER WINS IN AIR RACE TO RENDEZVOUS HE ASKED WITH DEATH

Yreka, Cal., April 27.—(AP)—Funeral service will be held here Tuesday for Horace V. Ley, 52, Yreka bank president and attorney, whose last request that he be permitted to die at his home was granted last night after a 400 mile airplane trip from Oakland.

Lew, afflicted with an incurable disease and realizing he was about to die, chartered a plane which carried him through head winds and storms to Yreka, arriving at dusk. He died a few hours later.

Acquainted with the decision of physicians that he had but a few days, perhaps hours, to live, he said:

"Take me home if I must die."

An airplane was obtained. Accompanying the former banker and soldier on the homeward flight were his wife, Marion, and a sister, Mrs. E. H. Evans.

U. OF C. SCIENTIST SAYS NEW PLANET MAY BE COMET

MacMillan Says Orbit Must Be Studied.

A suggestion that the ninth planet, discovered recently by observers at the Lowell observatory in Flagstaff, Ariz., is not a planet but a comet was advanced yesterday by Dr. William D. MacMillan, professor of mathematical astronomy at the University of Chicago.

Dr. MacMillan's suggestion was based upon a diagram of the orbit of the new "Planet X" as computed by Lowell astronomers. He said that the three positions on the orbit so far recorded were insufficient to insure accuracy, but they described the orbit as an extremely elongated ellipse, which would indicate that it is a comet, though of an unusual type, but more like a comet than a planet.

More Observations Needed.

"Several more months of observation must be had before any accurate graph of the orbit of 'X' can be drawn," Dr. MacMillan said. He added that if further observations show that the orbit is hyperbolic instead of elliptical, "X" will never return to the solar system, and will be the first such comet ever seen.

"Astronomers in general have had the feeling that 'X,' though highly interesting, is not a planet and has no connection with Lowell's prediction," Dr. McMillan continued. "Its orbit would seem to justify that feeling. Estimates of its size have been on the assumption that 'X' is solid, and would have such reflecting powers as solid bodies have. But actually there is no way of measuring its density. If it is a comet, as it seems to be, then it may be a swarm of fragments and its volume is much larger than that of the earth.

Orbit to Decide Issue.

"It is conceivable that 'X' was once a planet of some other star than our sun, and that untold eons ago it was torn from its orbit by the disruptive approach of still another star and shot off into space. Whether it has or has not fallen permanently into the sun's influence depends upon the eccentricity of its orbit."

According to the orbit drawn by Dr. MacMillan and Dr. Walter Bartky, the newly discovered body will pass beyond vision in a few years and will not return until 5000 A. D. If the orbit sketch is accurate it will not reach its aphelion, the point in its orbit farthest from the sun, until 3495. Its closest approach to sun and earth was in 1900, and it will not reach its perihelion again until 5089. In 1900, on the calculated orbit, it would have been 21 astronomical units from the earth and would have been not a "trans-Neptunian" planet but would have been close to the path of Uranus. An astronomical unit is 93 million miles, the distance from the earth to the sun.

PARACHUTE LEAP MADE BY WOMAN THREE MILES UP

Roosevelt Field, L. I., April 27.—[Special.]—After an airplane climb of an hour and a half into the clear sky above this field this afternoon Miss Frances Rees, a parachutist, 36 years old, dropped from the plane, opened one of the two parachutes attached to her flying suit, and descended in fourteen minutes to a safe landing near Merrick, six miles away.

She was picked up by a passing motorist and brought back to the field and arrived just as the plane landed.

Carried Sealed Barograph.

The pilot, Emil Burgin, announced that his altimeter showed 14,800 feet when she jumped out. Although the plane carried a sealed barograph on which a line was traced indicating the altitude at nearly half the 42,000 foot maximum, W. D. Ward, official timer of the National Aeronautic association, said he did not think the existing record, held by a French woman at 16,430, had been broken. The instrument will be forwarded to Washington for recalibration and correction to local barometric pressure to determine the exact altitude at which the woman jumped.

The plane was the Pilot Radio, in which William Alexander, Capt. Lewis A. Yancey, and Zeh Bouck recently flew to Bermuda. It was a tiny speck in the azure sky when the jumper was seen to drop out. Even a smaller fleck against the blue, she tumbled once as she dropped perpendicularly.

Guides Parachute Down.

The descent was made in a series of slips in which the woman pulled at the windward lines, collapsing that section of the supporting silk to keep as nearly over the field as possible. Gradually she drifted to the south, however, and disappeared from sight while still high in the air.

PLANE BATTERS DANGLING AERIAL ARTIST TO DEATH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUSSELDORF, Germany, April 27.—Many thousands of spectators at the aerial acrobatics at the Lohausen flying field this afternoon were thrilled and helpless witnesses of a tragedy. Willie Hundertmark was billed to climb from one plane to another in flight. At his second attempt he successfully caught the rope ladder dangling from the machine flying above.

But Herr Hundertmark was unable to get his foot onto the first rung of the ladder, and the pilot was not able to draw him up. The plane circled around for 20 minutes with the stunt artist helplessly dangling and the vast crowd cheering in belief that it was all part of the show. The pilot then decided to descend, but Herr Hundertmark was too exhausted to release himself from the ladder as it dragged along the ground and so was dreadfully injured.

Ascending again, the pilot circled the plane for another 30 minutes. The crowd was now silent, watching the senseless and mauled acrobat hanging from the end of the rope ladder. The pilot finally decided to alight. Amid shrieks of horror he landed, again dragging Herr Hundertmark across the ground. An ambulance at once rushed the acrobat to the hospital, where he died.

Aids Woman in Storm; Chicagoan Willed $65,000

Iola, Kas., April 27.—(AP)—As a private in the United States army fifteen years ago, Glen K. Normand, former hotel cook here, assisted Mrs. L. B. Thorne of Texas City, Tex., in salvaging her belongings after a Galveston bay storm wrecked her home. Ending a two year search, Texas attorneys have just found Normand in Chicago to notify him he was willed $65,000 by Mrs. Thorne on her death in 1923.

SUN IN ECLIPSE TODAY; SHOWERS MAY SPOIL VIEW

Scientists Ready for Study in West.

While Chicagoans and residents of the middle west today turn their eyes skyward to watch the first partial eclipse of the sun visible in this region in the last five years, astronomers in the west, along a narrow path in which the eclipse will be total, will be making the most complete study of an eclipse which science has ever known.

Rain is forecast here today, so clouds may deprive Chicagoans of their view of the spectacle.

The path of the total eclipse will stretch from California northeastward into Montana, with astronomers stationed all along the line to observe and photograph it. In Chicago, at the point of its greatest intensity, the moon, passing between the sun and the earth, will blot out about one-half of the sun.

Starts Here at 1:44 P. M.

The eclipse will start here at 1:44 p. m., daylight saving time, appearing as a mere dent in the lower right hand edge a disc, the sun being the disc. As the shadow moves diagonally upward and toward the left, the dent will grow larger, appearing at 2:02 p. m. very much like a bite out of a pie. At 2:32 nearly one-half of the sun will be in shadow, only the upper half being visible.

At 3:06 p. m., when the eclipse will be greatest here, less than half of the sun will be visible. The shadow will move upward and at 3:32 p. m. the sun will again take on the appearance of a bitten apple, with the bite taken from the top. At 4:24 p. m., an instant before the eclipse ends, the minute dent made by the moon's shadow will be at the extreme upper edge.

Fair Weather in West.

Though rain is forecast here, astronomers in the west were jubilant over the prospect of fair weather for their observations of the total eclipse. Even along the coast, where it was indicated that the sky would be overcast, airplanes will fly aloft in search of positions from which to photograph the moon's passage.

Astronomers will be strung all along the path of the total eclipse, with the largest party sent out by the University of California's Lick observatory on Mount Hamilton, under Dr. J. H. Moore. The party will be stationed at Bumptonville, Cal., and nearby will be scientists from the University of Nevada, Pomona college, and Johns Hopkins university. In Nevada an expedition from Pittsburgh, Pa., will carry out its observations, while a group from the Mount Wilson observatory will photograph the eclipse at Honey Lake.

Plan to Take Pictures.

The period of total eclipse will last only 13 seconds, but during that brief period the latest scientific instruments will record the moon's journey at a speed of 1,200 miles an hour. Photographers in planes 15,000 feet in the air will fix the precise path of the moon and will time its passage by radio, while other cameras with telescopes attached will photograph the eclipse itself, the sun's corona, and the tongues of flame which shoot out into the transparent atmosphere from the light giving portion of the sun.

The Lick observatory expedition will devote most of its work to studying the makeup of the sun's atmosphere by means of two spectroscopes which get their images of the sun through an arrangement of mirrors and lenses known as a coelostat.

While the preparations in the middle west, where the eclipse is only partial, are not as elaborate as those where the eclipse is complete, scientists at several observatories are planning to make a study of various phases of the phenomenon. Prof. Edwin B. Frost at Yerkes observatory, Williams Bay, Wis., will study it in the light of problems of light and space.

SUN IN PARTIAL ECLIPSE TODAY

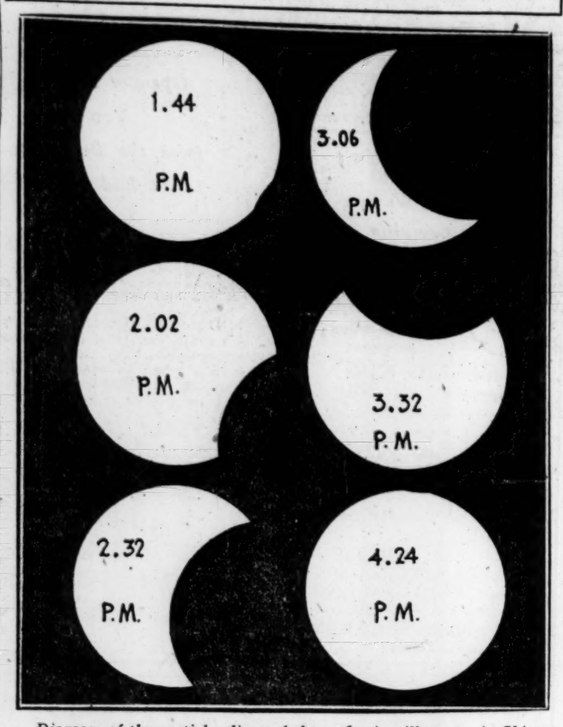

Diagram of the partial eclipse of the sun as it will appear in Chicago, weather permitting, prepared by Prof. George Van Siesbroeck of the Yerkes observatory of the University of Chicago at Williams Bay, Wis. West is to the right; east to the left. The time is Chicago daylight saving. Caution is given that a smoked glass or suitable filter must be used to avoid serious danger to the eyesight of those looking at the sun.

SZYMCZAK FACING CONTEMPT IF HE OBEYS COURT ORDER

M. S. Szymczak, clerk of the Superior court, faces an official predicament today.

Judge Joseph B. David has announced his refusal to accept assignment to the Criminal court from the executive committee of the Superior court, and he has told Mr. Szymczak to have a deputy clerk on the job in his old court today. But it has been intimated to Mr. Szymczak that the executive committee, Judges Harry A. Lewis, Denis E. Sullivan and Oscar Hebel, will order him not to provide Judge David with a deputy clerk, and so whatever Mr. Szymczak does, he may face a contempt of court citation, either from Judge David or from the committee.

Judge David said he had not changed his mind about staying in the Superior court and that he intended to open his court in the county building this morning as usual and proceed to hear cases. Judge Lewis, on behalf of the executive committee, said there would be a meeting of the committee before court opens this morning at which they may decide what to tell Szymczak to do.

HUSBAND SLAYS ADMIRER OF HIS ESTRANGED WIFE

A husband shot and killed a man whom he found calling on his estranged wife last night.

Frank Gascon, 28 years old, 2230 Osgood street, called yesterday afternoon at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Marchwinski, 646 Garfield avenue, and found Mrs. Gascon with Luther McWilliams, 39 years old, manager of the flat building at 2109 Sedgwick street, where the Gascons formerly lived.

The husband accused the building manager, who had recently been divorced, of stealing his wife, Josephine. She ordered Gascon out of the house. He left and, with her permission, took along his 2 year old son, Frank Jr.

At 8 p. m. Gascon returned to the Marchwinski home with the child. He rang and, as McWilliams opened the door, fired three shots, one of which struck McWilliams in the head. Gascon fled in his roadster. He was arrested early this morning when he returned to his home.

Mrs. Hoover Out First Time Since Recent Injury

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—For the first time in two weeks Mrs. Herbert Hoover went outdoors today, enjoying the warm spring sunshine from the south portico of the White House. With the President at her side Mrs. Hoover spent a half hour after luncheon, chatting and watching the dogs from the White House kennels frisking on the lawn. She sat in the wheel chair which she has used since she wrenched her back a fortnight ago.

CONVICTS REBEL AGAIN IN OHIO; BREAK WINDOWS

Quiet Down After Machine Guns Are Set Up.

Columbus, O., April 27.—[Special.]—Hundreds of prisoners in the Ohio state penitentiary here were so rebellious for a time tonight that machine guns were mounted on the lawn and at other vantage points and additional national guardsmen were called to the prison. Later the men calmed down and officials believed they had the situation under control.

Shortly after 9 o'clock the convicts in one cell block began shouting and breaking windows. National guardsmen, who have been stationed at the prison since the fire a week ago, in which more than 300 died, hurriedly placed the machine guns.

The disturbance was in the cell block known as White City, which houses prisoners which have been idle since the fire. The convicts began milling about after some one shouted "roof fire." The incipient uprising virtually had spent itself within an hour, however.

It was not long after it had been learned that forty extra guards would go on duty tomorrow in an effort to end the passive resistance stand of the convicts to oust Warden P. E. Thomas that the outbreak began.

Earlier in the day Warden Thomas had announced that efforts would be made tomorrow to put the convicts back to work.

NURSE IS FOUND DEAD; MAY HAVE TAKEN INSULIN

Mrs. Belle Hoffman, 39 years old, superintendent of nurses at the Auburn Park hospital, was found dead last night in a room at the Fort Dearborn hotel, apparently having committed suicide. A bottle containing a small amount of insulin was found in the room and in the absence of any poison the police believed she may have ended her life by injecting an overdose of insulin into her veins. A hypodermic needle was found in her purse.

Mrs. Hoffman came to Chicago on Friday from Tulsa, Okla., and registered at the Fort Dearborn hotel and a short time later obtained the position at the hospital. She did not give up the hotel room, however, and returned there yesterday morning after making an appointment by telephone to meet some one at the hotel. As far as was known the other person did not keep the appointment.

The police could find no apparent motive for suicide. Although Dr. S. A. Waterman, managing director of the Auburn Park hospital, said she seemed to be grieved because three nurses left shortly after she was employed, the police did not believe that fact prompted her to end her life. Mrs. Hoffman was the widow of a soldier killed in the war and has a 14 year old son, Robert, attending school at Fort Madison, Ia.

ITALY SLIPS FIVE WARSHIPS INTO SEA AMID POMP

Mussolini Adds 90,000 Boys to Militia.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NAPLES, April 27.—The Italian admiralty wrote its naval tonnage figures, one of the London conference mysteries, in the indigo waters of the bay of Naples this morning. At Castellamare, on the south side of this famous Parthenopian harbor, the Giovanni delle Bande Nere, a 5,000 ton light cruiser, slipped into the water. Simultaneously at Spezia there was launched the Zara, a 10,000 ton cruiser, corresponding to the American cruisers Augusta and Pensacola.

In the neighboring shipyards at Genoa was launched the light cruiser Alberto da Guissano, while in the Trieste shipyard on the other side of the peninsula the 10,000 ton Fiume and the submarine Delfino skidded into the Adriatic.

Five Warships Launched.

Altogether five warships, totaling 32,000 tons, were launched. Sponsored by the princesses of the royal house and christened by high prelates of the church, these proponents of Premier Mussolini's maritime policy slipped into the sea saluted by salvos of 21 guns from squadrons anchored in the harbors and amid the huzzas and "a la la's" of thousands of black shirted youths, who were coincidentally drafted into the Fascist militia today.

Fifty-seven thousand more tons of warships, comprising 25 units, are on the stocks in these three major shipyards. Most of them will be launched this year. When completed, they will give the Italian navy 226,000 tons of post-Washington treaty fighting ships, or about one-fourth of the tonnage of Great Britain and the United States.

This was distinctly a naval day in Italy. The annual Fascist levy of youth was also held in all Italian cities, and as the boys got their rifles and party cards and became members of the militia—90,000 of them were inducted—Fascist officials made speeches emphasizing maritime glory and Italy's future on the seas.

Duchess Gets Naval Salute.

Duchess Adelaide, royal princess of Savoy, who was the godmother for the Giovanni delle Bande Nere, left Naples on the destroyer Tigure, while the bay was still swathed in mists, steaming past smoking Mount Vesuvius, whose bellowings had caused small earth tremors in Naples early this morning. When the Tigure arrived at the Castellamare port, three other destroyers of the escort fired a 21 gun salute, and the princess, accompanied by a party of officials and admirals, landed and took her place in the royal pavilion alongside of the docks.

The Giovanni delle Bande Nere, a lanky and formidable looking ocean jackal, streaming with colored pennants, lay tied up, like Gulliver, in her wooden stocks, with a bottle of champagne suspended from a blue ribbon on her bow. A polychrome crowd of exuberant Neapolitans, many of them women, packed the areas just outside of the ranks of the Black Shirts, bands played and radio loudspeakers were rasping out inarticulate speeches.

In front of the crowd was a huge portrait of Giovanni delle Bande Nere, the new cruiser's namesake, the doughty Renaissance warrior, who restored the fortunes of the house of Medici. The whole harbor was a riot of sounds, smells, patriotism, and colors.

Sprinkled with Holy Water.

When the speeches had been made, and the bands had played the royal march and the "giovanezzi" and workmen had put a little more grease on the skids, and the fire department had stretched a hose in case friction caused by the glide would start a blaze, the bishop of Castellamare, in full ecclesiastic paraphernalia, his purple train carried by two priests, blessed the ship from the prow. Then he walked around it, sprinkling it with holy water in the baptismal service.

Then Duchess Adelaide, on the arm of the admiral of the port, cracked a foaming bottle of Piedmont champagne over the Giovanni's steel nose. This proved a disappointment to the superstitious Neapolitans, who are all more or less believers in the evil eye, for the wind was blowing and the bottle swung three times against the ship before exploding.

A few minutes later an admiral made a speech recalling Italy's sea history and Premier Mussolini's aim to restore its naval strength. He expressed the hope that the Giovanni would prove as redoubtable as its famous namesake. Bugles blew, cranes moved, and, with banners flying and the crowd yelling and bands playing, the warship slithered into the waters and bobbed up buoyantly without a trace of a list.

Equally picturesque were the ceremonies at Spezia and Genoa for the launching of the Zara and the Alberto da Guissano. Crown Prince Humbert, accompanied by Princess Marie José, did the champagne honors for the Zara in the presence of Admiral Giuseppe Sirianni, minister of marine, Capt. Ralston S. Holmes, American naval attaché, also witnessed the ceremonies.

Other Launchings Picturesque.

Signora Corina Thaon di Revel, daughter of a noted admiral, sponsored the Albert da Guissano, while at Trieste Princess Giovanna, the daughter of the king, gave her colors to the cruiser Fiume to wear in the warship's future sea adventures. At Monfalcone, near Trieste, the submarine Delfino took to the water with the same ritual.

At Genoa, later in the day, big crowds shifted to the Sestri Ponente ship yards to see the laying of the keel of the Rex, Italy's 45,000 ton trans-Atlantic liner.

FINDS YANKEE WAGE EARNER GETS MUCH MORE THAN BRITISHER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 27.—Workers in many trades in the United States receive wages nearly twice as high as British workers in the same trades, while the entire scale of American wages is vastly higher than the British scale, according to Prof. J. H. Richardson, chairman of industrial relations at Leeds university.

Prof. Richardson said that by "real wages" he meant the purchasing power of the workers' money wages in relation to the conditions they ordinarily purchase. Basing his estimates on a figure of 100 for English workers, he placed the American figure at 197. This figure must be lowered, however, he stated, if allowances are made for the higher rents paid by American workingmen. Also, averaging the wages of highly organized workers with those less well organized, he would place the American figure nearer 160.

His figures follow:

United States	197	Irish Free State	97
Canada	165	Netherlands	87
Australia	148	Germany	78
Sweden	108	Switzerland	77
Denmark	107	Czecho-Slovakia	70
Great Britain	100	Poland	62

BROTHERS 9,000 MILES APART TO CHAT BY RADIO

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 27.—(AP)—Two brothers who have not talked with each other for 57 years will converse tomorrow morning by radio over more than 9,000 miles of land and sea.

American radio fans who tune in on station KDKA at 8:30 a. m. eastern daylight time can listen in on their conversation.

F. C. Watson, 80, will speak a "hello" into the telephone at his home in Sewickley, near here. W8KX, the short wave transmitter of KDKA, will relay the message on a wave length of 25.4 meters to VK2ME at Sydney, Australia, and the "hello" will reach the ears of Samuel J. Watson, 72, over a loud speaker at his side in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Todd, at Forbes, New South Wales, approximately 100 miles from Sydney.

His reply will be relayed by VK2ME to Pittsburgh over a wave length of 28.4 meters after having been spoken by the junior Watson into a telephone at Forbes.

It will be morning in Pittsburgh and night in Australia.

Measles Show Big Drop in First Three Months of Year

Health department records for the first three months of 1930 reveal an unprecedented drop in the frequency and the mortality of measles in the city. Only 294 cases of the disease were reported during that period and 4 deaths, while in the corresponding period in 1929 the records show there were 3,670 cases and 46 deaths.

Fire Destroys Cathedral in Mexico; 2 Persons Killed

MEXICO CITY, April 27.—(AP)—Dispatches to El Universal from Chilapa, state of Guerrero, today said that Chilapa cathedral had been destroyed by fire. Two bodies have been recovered from the ruins, and it is believed that other persons perished.

PARKER DENIES ANY PREJUDICES ON EVE OF VOTE

Writes Reply to Charges Against Him.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—On the eve of senate consideration of the nomination of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina as a Supreme court justice, Senator Lee S. Overman [Dem., N. C.] today received a letter from Judge Parker denying the charges that he is prejudiced against organized labor or the colored race.

After setting forth the facts concerning the Red Jacket case, which is the basis of the attack on him by labor groups, Judge Parker declared that he did not originate a decision prejudicial to labor in connection with the so-called "yellow dog" contract, since the Supreme court had already upheld that form of contract in two cases. He was bound, he said, to follow the law as determined by the Supreme court.

Quotes Decisions.

With regard to his alleged prejudice against the colored race, Judge Parker called attention to his judicial decisions in meeting his obligation to give full effect to the constitution and the laws guaranteeing the rights of colored people. He referred to the charge that during a political campaign ten years ago he made statements indicating hostility to Negroes.

"My effort then was to answer those who were seeking to inject the race issue into the campaign under a charge that the Republican party of North Carolina intended to organize the colored people and restore the conditions of the reconstruction era," Judge Parker said in his letter.

"I knew the baneful effect of such a campaign and sought to avoid it. For years the best men of both races in the state had been seeking to create friendly sentiments and peaceful relations between the races; and I did not want their efforts to be sacrificed or the party, whose nominee I was, to be embarrassed by the raising of a false issue of this character.

No Prejudice, He Says.

"While I made it clear that my party was not seeking to organize the colored people of the state as a class, I at no time advocated denying them the right to participate in the election in cases where they were qualified to do so, nor did I advocate denying them any other of their rights under the constitution and laws of the United States. Any charge of intimation that I appealed to race prejudice is most unjust.

"I have no prejudice whatever against the colored people and no disposition to deprive them of any of their rights and privileges under the constitution and the laws."

Senator Overman announced that he would read the Parker letter into the record at the opening of debate on the Parker nomination tomorrow.

Veterans Ask Employers to List Open Positions

N. O. Isaacson, state commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, yesterday appealed to Chicago employers who have jobs open in their concerns to list them with the veterans' employment officer, Harry Curtis, 127 North Dearborn street. Isaacson said the organization has received 360 applications for work in the last two weeks and has been able to find jobs for only 30 men.

CHICAGO NEGROES OPPOSE PARKER FOR U. S. JUSTICE

Urge Hoover to Withdraw His Nomination.

Many Chicago Negroes last night sent telegrams to President Hoover urging that he withdraw his nomination of Federal Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina for associate justice of the United States Supreme court.

The telegrams followed three mass meetings held during the day at colored churches under the auspices of the American Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Other telegrams opposing the confirmation of Judge Parker's nomination were sent by Negroes to United States Senators Deneen and Glenn.

Three Massmeetings Held.

Walter White, acting secretary of the association, was a speaker at the largest of the massmeetings held at the Olivet Baptist church, 31st street and South Park Way in the afternoon. At a morning service at the South Park M. E. church, 30th street and Prairie avenue, and at St. Stephen's A. M. E. church, Damen avenue and Washington boulevard, last night, speakers denounced Judge Parker.

"The seating of Judge Parker upon the Supreme bench would be a slap in the face of every Negro citizen in the nation," declared White. "We feel sure of 49 senate votes against the confirmation. But every Negro in Chicago should wire the President and the Illinois senators. We want to make sure of Judge Parker's defeat."

"Enemy of Negro Progress."

White attacked Judge Parker as an "enemy of Negro progress." His statements were based on an alleged utterance of the jurist in 1920 while he was the Republican candidate for governor of North Carolina. The Negro as a class does not desire to take part in politics, and neither does the Republican party in North Carolina desire him to be active politically, Judge Parker declared at that time, White said.

"Judge Parker thus flouts the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the constitution and is not fit material for an associate justice of our highest court," White declared.

N. Y. WOMAN MARKS 85TH BIRTHDAY; BEER AND MILK HER DRINKS

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ulrica Sperling of Flushing, L. I., who attributes her longevity to "hard work, two quarts of milk a day, and an occasional glass of beer," will celebrate her 85th birthday tomorrow with a visit to John R. Voorhis, the 100 year old chairman of the board of elections. She will be accompanied by her son, William, an employé of the board.

Mrs. Sperling came to this country from Germany 52 years ago. When her husband died 40 years ago, she had eight children to support. She is now living with a daughter, Mrs. Sophie Snyder. Mrs. Sperling has 13 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

GERMANS PRAISE U. S. OFFICERS FOR SAVING LIVES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAMBURG, April 27.—The commissioner for shipping casualties today congratulated the officers of the S. S. President Harding of the United States lines, for their presence of mind and prompt action which saved the lives of all but one of the crew of the English collier Kirkwood. The Kirkwood sank yesterday seven minutes after the collision.

When the President Harding rammed the Kirkwood in a dense fog off Heligoland early on Saturday, the officers of the President Harding instantly realized the seriousness of the situation. Instead of backing out from the Kirkwood, they kept the President Harding's bow in the hole. When the President Harding backed out, the Kirkwood sank. The boiler in the Kirkwood exploded simultaneously with the collision and one stoker was not able to get out of the coal bunker as the door blocked.

Examination of the President Harding today revealed that a hole seven feet long and one foot wide had been torn on the starboard bow about a yard from the water line.

Knocks Clock Off Dresser; It Kills Baby in Her Crib

Adora Padgett, 4 months old, was killed early yesterday as she lay in her crib at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Padgett, 3551 Reta street, when stuck by an alarm clock which her father accidentally knocked off the dresser. Padgett told the Town Hall police that he replaced the clock, unaware that the child had been injured. Two hours later he found the baby was dead.

CHARGES MILLION A DAY OFFICIAL GRAFT IN RUM

Boston, Mass., April 27.—[Special.]—One million dollars a day is paid in graft to federal, state, and county officers in charge of prohibition activities for "protection," Congressman Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York charged in his address under the auspices of the Liberal Civic league at Symphony hall tonight.

La Guardia topped this with the declaration that he has proof in his possession that the American Dollar line steamships have sold liquor on board their vessels despite the denials of Capt. Robert Dollar. He produced what he asserted was a certified copy of a summons issued in Singapore against passengers charged with having failed to pay their bill aboard the President Van Buren in 1924 which stated that more than $200 of the money owed was for liquor purchased aboard the ship.

In Elizabethtown, Tenn., federal prohibition agents set up a still to "trap" retailers, La Guardia asserted. Other federal agents discovered the still and wanted "protection" money to keep them from raiding the still, he said. Government legal advise was sought to find out if it would be lawful to pay protection money to their own federal agents, according to his information.

But, he said, while the tangle was being dissolved federal agents who had sought the money raided their companions because they hadn't "come across."

Catch Burglar Trying to Leave Flat with Loot

Edward Collins, 51 years old, 1800 South Michigan avenue, was captured by Sergt. William Hennessy's squad from the Grand Crossing police station last night as he was preparing to flee from the apartment of August Ekerman, 7658 Rhodes avenue, with several hundred dollars' worth of silver and jewelry. Neighbors call police.

Two Women Are Crowned "Miss Greece" at Festival

Mrs. Sophie Georgias, 18 years old, 1102 Glenlake avenue, and Miss Alexandra Kaloedas, 23 years old, 6024 St. Lawrence avenue, both were awarded the title of "Miss Greece" last night in the Hotel Sherman at a festival concluding a campaign to raise $25,000 for St. Basil's church, 733 South Ashland avenue, cathedral of the Chicago diocese of the Greek Orthodox church. When the ballots in the festival's popularity contest were counted it was found that Mrs. Georgias and Miss Kaloedas led the other contestants with an equal number of votes.

Firemen Speed to Fire, Then Leave House to Burn

Nashville, Tenn., April 27.—(AP)—Fire engines moved swiftly through the streets of a Nashville suburb today to the blazing home of Frank M. Bass, attorney.

"Just a minute," yelled the fire chief. "He's not a subscriber." The firemen packed their tools and left.

When the Nashville fire department engines arrived the home was in ruins. The loss was estimated at $35,000.

The first company, an independent one, explained they had no authority to fight fires for nonmembers.

HOOVER'S DRIVE FOR NAVAL PACT ABOUT TO BEGIN

Senate Will Receive Copy This Week.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—The administration drive to win prompt ratification of the London naval agreement will be launched this coming week by President Hoover.

White House attachés state that the treaty limiting the naval establishments of Great Britain, the United States, Japan, and to a certain extent those of France and Italy, will be submitted to the senate as soon as a certified copy of the document is handed to the President by the American delegation.

As these American delegates are expected in Washington Tuesday, it is possible the treaty will be in the hands of senate leaders by Wednesday or Thursday. Indications are that the administration will take advantage of the arrival of the delegates as well as formal submission of the treaty to the senate to outline salient reasons why President Hoover believes the pact should be supported by the country and ratified by the senate.

Committees to Investigate.

Arrival of the treaty in congress will be the signal for the opening of three and possibly four congressional committee investigations, each designed to analyze the pact and to bring out the facts regarding its effect upon the American naval establishment, American national defense generally, this country's foreign relations, and world peace.

Pertinent points sure to be discussed before the senate and house naval committees and the senate foreign relations committees touch on the question of whether the pact gives this country parity with Great Britain, whether it will bring about actual reduction in national defense expenditures, and whether it will end competition in the building of naval armaments.

The committee investigations will be a curtain raiser for the big battle expected when debate begins on the question of senate ratification. Indications today are that before a final vote is taken the whole question of American foreign policy will be thoroughly discussed. Special attention is expected to be given to the possible effect on American prestige in the orient of adoption of the treaty provisions which give Japan a larger ratio in cruisers and submarines than the 5-5-3 ratio adopted for battleships at the Washington naval conference.

See Democratic Support.

Party lines are scheduled to be overrun in the senate fight on the treaty. The administration counts on winning Democratic support through the activities of Senator Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], minority leader of the senate and one of the delegates at London. Republican leaders sure to be active in supporting the treaty include Senator David A. Reed [Dem., Pa.], also a delegates to the conference. Indications are that Senator Borah will support the treaty. It is assumed that a decision as to whether Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow will resign his assignment at Mexico City to reenter the senate to aid in the ratification of the pact will be made after he confers with the President.

Thus far only a few senators have publicly indicated how they stand on the question of senate approval of the treaty. In virtually all cases senators respond to inquiries with the statement that they will not make up their minds definitely until the subject matter of the treaty has been exhaustively explored and naval experts have explained the technical details of the treaty and their effect, if adopted, on the character of the American navy.

Hale Opposes Pact.

Chairman Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.] of the senate naval committee is frankly opposed to ratification of the pact. Several members of the house naval committee, including Chairman Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.], also are on record as against approval of the treaty in its present form.

The rift in the navy that developed this last year over whether the United States should scrap its policy of building only 8 inch gun cruisers and begin constructing a larger proportion of smaller 6 inch gun ships is expected to be accentuated during the committee hearings. Admiral William V. Pratt, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet and chief American naval adviser at the London conference, will appear as the major exponent of expansion of the 6 inch gun cruiser class. Against him will be arrayed several officers of the navy general board, headed by Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of naval operations. Admiral Hughes is on record as favoring construction of only 8 inch gun cruisers by the United States in the future.

Chairman Britten said today that he will question Admiral Hughes, Admiral Pratt, and other naval officers as to the type of cruisers which they think the United States should build. The treaty allows the United States eighteen 8 inch gun ships, two to be completed after the treaty expires. It allows 143,500 tons of cruisers for the United States, if this country desires to maintain this much tonnage in cruisers armed with 6 inch guns. Even if Great Britain, under the emergency building clause, increases her fleet above the treaty limits to meet naval building by France, this country cannot increase the number of her 8 inch gun ships. It is reported that some American naval officers favor building only fifteen 8 inch gun ships and constructing the rest of American tonnage in smaller gun vessels.

"I think a reservation should be added to the treaty allowing this country to build 8 inch gun cruisers if it desires, in case Great Britain increased her tonnage," Mr. Britten said today. "I also believe this country should be allowed to build only cruisers armed with 8 inch guns. From my discussions with naval officers I am convinced this view is shared by the majority of the higher ranking officers in the navy."

This statement was made before a house committee by Admiral Hughes when the last cruiser bill was pending in congress.

Large Cruisers Urged.

"The question of type of cruiser enters as a very important factor in the cruiser program," he stated. "The situation of the United States with regard to supporting bases beyond the continental limits of the United States is such that the navy requires cruisers of the maximum tonnage in order to give them great cruising radius, in addition to the necessary offensive power and speed.

"In every one of the employments of cruisers above enumerated the usefulness of the cruiser will depend on the ability to meet at the point of enemy contact any vessel with at least equal combat ability. It would be useless to send a 5,000 or 7,000 ton cruiser in pursuit of an 8,000 ton cruiser. A cruiser on the scouting line could not attain its mission if it had to fall back before a cruiser of superior power. A cruiser in the screen, protecting our fleet, could not perform its mission if it were too weak to give battle at once to an enemy cruiser seeking to penetrate the screen.

"In all independent cruiser operations, where vessels act singly, it is of the utmost importance that each vessel shall have the power built into it to meet on equal terms any cruiser of the enemy which it encounters. All of these considerations lead inevitably to the conclusion that all cruisers that we build must be of the maximum sizes allowable under the treaty."

REPORT OF HUSTON QUITTING AS HEAD OF G. O. P. REVIVED AGAIN

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—The presence here of a number of prominent Republican party leaders has revived the report that Cladius H. Huston is about to retire as Republican national chairman.

Several of these leaders have been in conference with President Hoover, with whom the decision as to retention of Mr. Huston is believed to rest. In some quarters it is expected that the President will make his position clear within a few days. Some of the President's advisers believe there should be no change in the chairmanship just on the eve of a congressional campaign, but others continue to take the position that recent disclosures of Mr. Huston's activities as an official of the Tennessee River Improvement association make his retention inadvisable.

Most of the Republican leaders who are here from various sections of the country came to Washington to attend last night's Gridiron club dinner, but they have taken the opportunity to talk over the chairmanship and various other party questions.

WILLIAM VERITY, PIONEER, WILL BE BURIED TODAY

Death Closes Sequel to Greeley's 'Go West.'

"Go west, young man, go west." A Chicago pioneer who received this famous advice at first hand from Horace Greeley 75 years ago, when apparently he had only a few more months to live, will be buried today. The pioneer was William S. Verity, who died at the age of 97 on Thursday night in the Evanston hospital. Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock this afternoon from the home, 226 Vine avenue, Park Ridge.

Born in Leeds, England, on Aug. 12, 1832, William Verity was brought to this country by his parents at the age of 9. The family settled in New York state, where young Verity grew to manhood and fell in love, just about the time he was warned by physicians that he was threatened with tuberculosis, and that he must come west if he expected to live.

He Asks Greeley for Advice.

In this situation the young man of 21 sat down and wrote to Greeley, editor of the New York Tribune, asking his advice both about marriage and about the advisability of making the trip to Chicago, which at that time was considered the far west. Greeley replied, recommending marriage, and concluding with the famous advice, "Go west, young man." The Verity family still has the Greeley letter.

Arriving in Chicago in 1855, Mr. Verity established a plumbing business at Randolph and Halsted streets. One of his business neighbors was R. T. Crane, who about the same time established a plant manufacturing plumbing supplies. The two men remained friends until the death of Mr. Crane about twenty years ago. Mr. Verity retired from business twenty-five years ago, but the business he founded is still in existence at 825 West Lake street.

Voter in Every Election.

Until about a week before his death Mr. Verity enjoyed excellent health, caring personally for all his business affairs, reading newspapers daily, attending church regularly every Sunday, and never neglecting to cast a vote in any election.

He was one of the founders and incorporators of the Methodist camp meeting grounds at Des Plaines, established in 1859. At different times he served in the capacity of trustee, secretary, and treasurer of the association. Each year found him an attendant at the summer camp meetings there.

Burial will be at Rosehill cemetery at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the presence of three generations of his descendants.

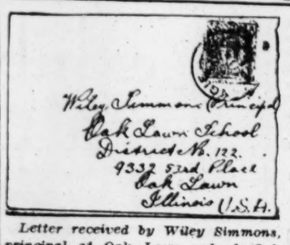
From Cowangie, Australia



Letter received by Wiley Simmons, principal of Oak Lawn school, Oak Lawn, Ill.

This letter was written by Thomas Stevenson, who teaches a school of nine pupils near the western boundary of Victoria, Australia. It was mailed in a little town called Cowangie.

Mr. Stevenson carries on his work in the heart of a dry and desolate region, covered with a scrub growth called mallee bush. From his school building, which consists of one room and a front porch, he can see no human habitation. His pupils are sons and daughters of farmers who came into the district several years ago to conduct a wheat growing experiment. The nearest one lives a mile and a half away and several come from a distance of six miles each day on horseback.

The wheat growing experiment seems destined to failure, Mr. Stevenson says, as settlers have become discouraged by the lack of rainfall and the difficulty of cultivating the sandy soil. During the last season, some were able to raise no wheat at all and others barely got back their seed. Many have given up entirely and moved away from the neighborhood.

The roads round about have become impassable and occasional sand storms add to the hardships of the inhabitants.

However, Victoria is not to be judged by the unproductiveness of this particular section, Mr. Stevenson remarks. Although it is only 1-34 the size of Australia as a whole, it contributes nearly 2-3 of the total gold output. Wool raising is another important industry.

Manager of Chain Store and His Aid Are Drowned

Sidney, Neb., April 27.—(AP)—E. D. Tooley, 35, manager of a chain store, and his assistant, Orville Brooke, 20, were drowned in Harris lake, near Oshkosh, 25 miles north of Sidney, today.

BOMBER SEIZED BY FLORIDA MOB; LYNCHING FEARED

Tampa, Fla., April 27.—(AP)—Plant City officers reported tonight that John Hodaz, suspected in the bombing of a Plant City home last Thursday, was taken from a deputy sheriff tonight by a mob of men and supposedly lynched.

Hodaz, a white man, was arrested in Tampa this afternoon and was being taken by Deputy Tobe Robinson to Bartow for safe keeping when the officer said he was accosted by a number of men and the prisoner taken.

"I was stopped by three men standing by a car with the lights out," Robinson said, "and then four others wearing masks rushed up and pushed guns into my ribs. They flashed a searchlight on Hodaz and took him."

GANGSTER SHOT AS HE GUNS FOR WIFE AT PARTY

Benjamin Butler May Die; Alleged Assailant Held.

It was the tenth wedding anniversary of the William Ivers, 926 West 50th street, and the beer runners were there for an all night celebration. Early yesterday morning Benjamin Butler, 6204 South Park avenue, described by the police as a labor union representative for Danny Stanton, south side beer gang leader, engaged in a fist fight with his wife in the midst of the party. Edgar Smith, 4319 South Spaulding avenue, terminated the fight by shooting Butler twice, and last night Butler was not expected to live.

Lieut. Al Booth of the police homicide squad went to the Ivers home and his account of the shooting was that Smith shot Butler just when Butler was about to shoot Mrs. Butler, who weighs 140 pounds, but was besting her 200 pound husband in the battle.

Police Report on Shooting.

Lieut. Booth's report contained the following information about the shooting:

Ivers, formerly a chauffeur for Stanton, who is allied with Alphonse Capone, sent out the call on Saturday night for the boys of the Stanton gang and their wives. Forty or fifty persons were present and a barrel of beer was on tap in the basement, mugs and cans of it being passed all over the house. The radio was furnishing music for the dance downstairs. Stanton himself was present to honor the Ivers until 3 o'clock in the morning.

The Butlers had been married a year. Mrs. Butler was Miss Mignon Stevens, a singer in a night club at 51st street and Wentworth avenue, until Butler and "Mickey" McGovern fought a pistol duel for her hand last April. Mignon married Butler when he recovered from his wounds.

Draws Gun on His Wife.

Mrs. Butler thought it was time to go home at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, but her husband disagreed. She went home alone and then telephoned him to follow her. He refused to talk to her on the phone, so she went back to the Ivers home and found her husband with his arms around another woman. Mrs. Butler started to pummel her husband. Butler drew his pistol, but Smith's pistol intervened. Butler went down with two bullets in his body.

William Sheean, 818 West 51st street, once a schoolmate of Butler and a member of Stanton's gang, took Butler to German Deaconess hospital.

Two pistols and a sawed off shotgun were discovered by the police in the Ivers home. Ivers and his wife told what had happened. Mrs. Butler was found at her own home, showing the effects of her fight. She said she did not see Smith shoot her husband. Mrs. Smith was found in her own home and her only statement was: "I'm a one man woman and I won't tell you a thing." She was held in custody.

Smith was arrested at 3 o'clock in the afternoon as he was leaving a saloon near Halsted and 68th streets.

"I won't say I did shoot him or I won't say I didn't," he told Lieut. Booth and Capt. James Allman. "I'll tell it to the judge."

Others held as witnesses are Joseph Buckley, 7324 South Ada street; Edward Farrell, 310 East 80th street, and James Flynn, 7820 Laflin street.

CONFESSES BANK HOLDUP.

Clinton, Ind., April 27.—(AP)—Karl Allen, 27, arrested at a hotel here, confessed today to having participated in the holdup of the Indianola [Ill.] State bank Friday, in which $3,000 was taken by three men.

Gandhi and Wife Depart.

NAVASARI, India, April 27.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi, accompanied by Mrs. Gandhi and her women volunteers, left today for Ambheti, in Bardoli subdistrict.

During a speech at Charvada announcing his new plan of campaign yesterday, Gandhi said he liked the new name, "salt thief," given him by his opponents, better than that of Mahatma, holy man, given him by his friends. He said any one could become "mahatma" by putting on a loin cloth and making some pretenses in the matter of food and drink, but it was not so easy to be a salt thief.

Reiterating his intention of raiding the government's salt depot at Dharasana, he said:

"We have been playing a child's game so far, but we are going to be serious when I make the attack on Dharasana.

"I shall invite men, but not women, to accompany me, for the authorities will laugh at us if I take women with me. We won't harbor anger or advise it, but will suffer calmly. We should be ready to die, but not in the manner of Chittagong or Peshawar, for those disorders delayed independence."

Gandhi added that he was not sure when independence would be obtained. It was understood he will shortly draft another letter to Lord Irwin, viceroy of India.

(The disturbances at Chittagong and Peshawar referred to by Gandhi caused considerable loss of life. The fighting done on those occasions violated Gandhi's code of nonviolence.)

List 20 Dead in Peshawar.

PESHAWAR, India, April 27.—(AP)—The official list of Indians killed in the recent riots here today enumerated twenty dead, including four who died in the hospital of injuries.

Twenty-one injured still were undergoing treatment in the government hospital, and there were a dozen in another hospital. The authorities believed also that a few injury cases were still concealed in the town, despite assurances that those going to hospitals for treatment would not be prosecuted for participating in the riot.

All Shops Are Open.

There has been no rioting since Wednesday. All shops were open yesterday.

Deputy Commissioner Metcalfe and Police Superintendent Garod, injured in last week's rioting, were progressing toward recovery today. Inspector General Isemonger and Supt. Fooks have recovered entirely.

The recent disturbances at Chittagong have subsided, and officials do not anticipate further trouble, as the alleged ring leaders have been arrested and removed. The border tribes were reported quiet today.

Britain to Control Press.

(Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.)

SIMLA, India, April 27.—A proclamation providing for better control of the native press, issued by Viceroy Lord Irwin tonight, is regarded as the most important move the government has taken since the start of Mahatma Gandhi's campaign of disobedience and as a grave commentary on the Indian situation.

"Civil disobedience, whatever may have been the professed aim of those who launched it," said the viceroy, "is rapidly developing, as all reasonable men foresaw, into violent resistance to the constituted authority."

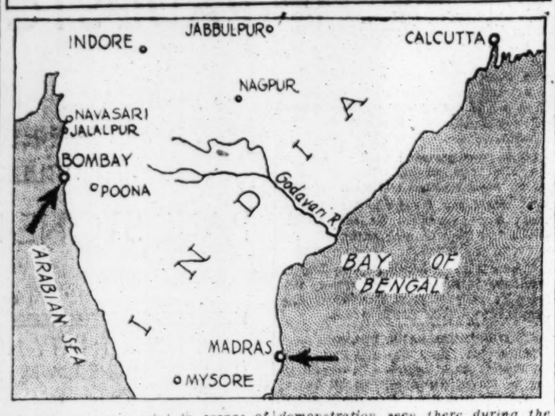
The riots at Calcutta and Karachi, the armed outbreak at Chittagong and the grave disturbances at Peshawar, he said, show clearly that "the spirit of revolution, fostered by civil disobedience, now is beginning to emerge in a dangerous form." Nothing at present is operating so powerfully to promote that spirit, he added, as the writings of the Indian press.

Fears Stirring of Hatreds

"A certain section is bent on promoting the spirit of revolution and stirring up hatred for the government," he said. "The civil disobedience movement makes it necessary to approach the problem no longer as a general policy but as one constituting a grave national emergency."

Lord Irwin concludes by stating the new measure is not designed to check the just liberties of the press or fair criticism of the administration.

BRITISH KILL RIOTERS IN INDIA



Arrows on map point to scenes of yesterday's most serious disorders in India. In Madras police fired on a mob of rioting natives, killing two, after the Indians had stoned several British officials. At Bombay Mahatma Gandhi's followers staged the biggest demonstration seen there during the present crisis. Thousands, wearing homespun garb, paraded through the main streets, flaunting Britain. Meanwhile Gandhi, the revolt leader, left Navasari, accompanied by his wife, repeating his intention of raiding the government salt depot at Dharasana.

Report Sale of 40 British War Tanks to Soviet Russia

(Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.)

LONDON, April 27.—It is reported that Vickers, Ltd., has arranged for the sale to the Russian soviet government of 40 military tanks, with the approval of the MacDonald government. Moscow is reported to have paid a very satisfactory price for these tanks which were originally intended for the British army. It was said that tests of these machines proved them to be unsatisfactory for use by Britain.

Poison in Accidental Pistol Wound Fatal to Druggist

Ray Brown, 48 years old, a druggist at 2926 North Crawford avenue, died early yesterday morning at the Belmont hospital of blood poisoning which developed from a bullet wound in his right leg. He was wounded Wednesday when a pistol which he carried in a hip pocket was discharged as he brushed against a counter.

CENSUS FIGURES REVEAL TREND OF NATION'S GROWTH

Atlanta Only Large City Completing Count.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—A growth of 22.5 per cent in population during the last ten years is shown by the first 90 cities of 10,000 or more inhabitants for which enumerations in the 1930 census have been announced.

This first indication of the trend of the country's population is furnished by a compilation made by the Associated Press from the official preliminary announcements of supervisors throughout the country.

The country's growth as a whole in the decade ending with 1920 was 14.9 per cent, while in the previous decade, ened with 1910, it was 21 per cent. Growth of the country's urban population—that is, people living in places of 2,500 or more inhabitants—showed an increase of 25.7 per cent in the decade ending with 1920, and for the previous decade it was 34.8 per cent.

Only one of the country's larger cities has reported thus far. It is Atlanta, which reported 266,557 people, an increase of 35.6 per cent over 1920.

Of the cities thus far reporting, the largest percentages of increase have been shown by Ventura, Cal., with 186.3 per cent; Lakeland, Fla., with 130.2 per cent, and Decatur, Ga., with 121.2 per cent.

Cities showing 50 per cent or more increase in the ten years are mostly in the south and west. None with that large an increase has been reported yet in the east. Half a dozen cities have shown decreases from ten years ago. Three of these are in the east, including Fall River, Mass., which showed a decline of 5.3 per cent and now has 114,348 people, and three are in the southwest.

There were 746 cities of 10,000 or more population in 1920. Cities in that category are expected to show a considerable increase in the present census. Several already have entered the 10,000 class, including Longview, Wash., which was not in existence in 1920, and now has 10,491 people.

Daughters of '76 Warrior Living in Georgia Village

Milledgeville, Ga., April 27.—(AP)—Two living daughters of one of the rebels of 1776 have been located in the village of Gibson by the Nancy Hart charter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. They are Miss Sara Pool, 87, and Mrs. Mary Pool Newsome, 83, the daughters of a revolutionary patriot by his third wife.

Jersey City

a city of national products

ALTHOUGH Jersey City is chiefly known as the world's greatest railroad terminal city, with shipping next in importance, it has not put all its "eggs in one basket".

The Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co. manufactures more soap, perfume and toilet articles than are produced in any other centre.

There are more tons of telephone directories printed by the Jersey City Printing Co. than by all other printers combined; phone books for almost the entire East are manufactured here.

The American Type Founders Co. manufactures more type than any other three foundries in the world.

The Durham Duplex Razor Co. and Wade & Butcher Co. (co-ordinated), produce the finest steel cutlery in the world.

Mueller's Macaroni is manufactured in Jersey City.

Jenkins Television Corporation, manufacturers of television receivers, operates from Jersey City THE FIRST commercial broadcasting station in the United States.

Clarence Chamberlin (head of Crescent Aircraft Corporation), first flier to carry passenger across ocean, now building one of largest airports in world for land and seaplanes; and has factory already in operation.

The Continental Can Co., with large modern plant; and a colossal new factory of the American Can Company, make Jersey City a leading producer of tin cans and metal containers for the nation's modern merchandising.

The Joseph Dixon Crucible Co., manufacturers of lead pencils and graphite products, is one of the city's oldest industries.

Besides the American Can, other important new industries are: Bond Electric Corporation, manufacturers of flashlights, batteries and radio tubes; Lambert Pharmacal, Listerine and Listerine tooth paste; Lightolier Company, manufacturers of electric lighting fixtures and lamps.

In these and 700 other manufactories, large and small, are produced over 5,000 different articles of merchandise.

There are reasons for Jersey City's industrial strength. Write Chamber of Commerce for Industrial Survey.

There are reasons for Jersey City's growth in population; chiefly its Heights residential sections, considerably removed from industrial zones; also rapid transit to New York.

Supreme Court to Pass on This Question: Do Persons Who Buy Liquor Break Law?

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—The United States Supreme court will hear arguments tomorrow on what some regard the most vital wet and dry question that has arisen since the court upheld the constitutionality of the Volstead act. That question is: "May a citizen be punished for buying bootleg liquor?"

James E. Farrar of Boston, Mass., defendant in the test case, was accused of purchasing liquor without a permit and was indicted, but Judge Morson of the federal District court of Massachusetts quashed the indictment. The Supreme court was called upon by the government to review the Morson decision. Chief Justice Hughes on April 15 announced that it would do so and set down the arguments for tomorrow.

Two Cases Are Up.

Prior to consideration of the Farrar case the court will hear arguments on the Norris case from Philadelphia in which the lower court held that the purchase of liquor was no offense and that the transportation incident to delivery of the liquor did not render the purchaser liable for conspiracy.

Attorneys for the department of justice, which is anxious to determine once and for all the liquor buying issue, will argue in both cases that the purchaser is guilty, presenting the proposition that the one purpose of the Volstead act is to stop the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage. They will contend that under section 3, providing that all provisions of the act "shall be liberally construed," purchase may logically be held to be unlawful.

The far reaching effect such a ruling could have is obvious, for it would make many thousands if not millions of patrons of bootleggers equally liable to fine and imprisonment with the bootleggers themselves.

Why congress failed clearly to outlaw the purchase and use of bootleg liquor when it passed the Volstead act is a controversial question.

Some drys contend that the sponsors of the act did intend to prevent the purchase of liquor with the clause that "no one shall . . . purchase . . . any liquor without first obtaining a permit from the commissioners to do so," and the attorney general will present this argument. Other drys believed when the eighteenth amendment and Volstead act were passed, and still believe, that if the law forbids a man to make, sell, transport, or possess liquor its purchase and use would automatically cease. Their slogan is "abolish the traffic and drinking will stop.'

Wets Accuse Drys.

The wets, on the contrary, declare that the drys deliberately ducked the purchase and use questions and omitted them from the act because they feared otherwise it would go so far it would fall of its own weight.

Partisans on both sides have pointed out the fact that were the purchase of liquor unlawful it would be much more difficult to secure evidence as buyers would be reluctant to render themselves liable by testifying against bootleggers. Further, they say dry agents who buy and drink liquor to obtain evidence would be in the incongruous position of violating the law in its enforcement.

Agitation for the prosecution of liquor buyers originated last October when Senator Morris Sheppard [Dem., Texas], introduced a bill to amend the Volstead act to specifically make the buyer guilty by inserting the word "purchase." Immediately the contention was made by some lawyers that the bill was unnecessary as buyers could be prosecuted under the present act. Senator Sheppard thereupon asked the attorney general to carry a test case before the Supreme court and meanwhile, his bill is being held in abeyance.

Brief Filed by U. S.

On several occasions the department of justice sought to find a case in the lower courts in which the purchase clause was clearly at issue and finally selected the Farrar and Norris cases as best suited. On April 8 it filed a brief in the Farrar case covering what purports to be consideration of both sides of the liquor purchase question.

Summarizing its argument that the buyer is guilty the brief stated:

"The question whether it is an offense under the national prohibition act to purchase liquor except as authorized in that act should be viewed in the light of the ultimate aim and purpose of the act, which is to prevent the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage.

Section of Law Quoted.

"The purchase of liquor for a purpose not authorized by the act comes within the terms of the prohibition of section 6 that 'no one shall . . . purchase . . . any liquor without first obtaining a permit from the commissioners so to do.' To hold that that provision applies only to authorized purchases of liquor would give the statute the effect of making the purchase of liquor without a permit an offense if the liquor was purchased for a lawful purpose, but not an offense if the liquor was purchased for a proscribed purpose ,such as for use as a beverage.

"Such a construction would appear to run counter to the provision of section 3 that 'all the provisions of this act shall be liberally construed, to the end that the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage may be prevented.'"

EQUALITY NOT IN THE TREATY.

The treaty which Mr. Stimson brings home from London is termed, as to the United States and Great Britain, one of naval parity. Any American advocate of it who thus describes it and means thereby an equality in condition or rank is doing one of two things. He is deceiving himself, which is foolish, or he is deceiving other Americans, which is trickery. If it is trickery it must have a purpose. It may be to have nationally minded Americans accept without alarm a treaty intended to placate alien minded Americans, internationalists, and pacifists, or, even worse, to satisfy Europeans with whom such treaty advocates wish to retain pleasant relations.

There is no honesty in the word parity in connection with the treaty. Under it the United States cannot have equality in sea power with Great Britain. Advocates of the treaty may say that it will not seriously injure the security of the United States within the period it covers and that at the present time it will do international good by defining naval conditions for the next five years. That may or may not be so. It will depend upon events which are not now within knowledge. But to say that the treaty puts the United States and Great Britain upon equal keels is dishonest to begin with. The United States could not have equality with Great Britain under this treaty if it had every ton allowed it under the agreement.

PROTECTED CONGRESSIONAL PINTS.

In the files of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, raided by the senate lobby committee on a prowling expedition, a list of house members was found. The inquisitors had hunted for something which might be used to make the association officials unhappy when they appeared before the committee. Henry H. Curran, president of the organization, was in the chair when Senator Blaine, the only wet among the investigators, discovered that this list was among the lifted documents. He discovered also that it was fruity. It was a report on congressmen who liked and drank their liquor and who then acquired prohibition merit by voting dry.

Mr. Blaine thought it was pertinent to the subject matter of the inquiry that these names should be put in the record and thus made known to the public. Everything else pertinent or impertinent to the opposition has been going in, with committee raptures if it were matter which might be embarrassing, because of its confidential nature, to members of the association, but this interesting list of congressional tipplers was held to be taboo. Senator Walsh, speaking for Senator Caraway and Senator Robinson, said it was agreed that the report on drinking habits was very remote from the purposes of the committee, and, although it might be interesting, it should not be made public because it would cause embarrassment "to a lot of people."

To the wrong lot, the people concerned being gentlemen who vote other citizens dry and themselves call in the capital bootleggers. Some of the statesmen on the list have been made known by leaking trunks, by indictments and otherwise, but most of them are concealed from public knowledge in the recommendations of the Anti-Saloon league.

The Conscript Fathers will protect their own and their associates in the house of representatives. Their rascals are secure. Congress as a speakeasy has congressional protection. Its scofflaws are wired in perfectly.

POUNDING THE PAVEMENTS.

Any one who drives about the city or on the state's highways must be impressed with the damage done to the roads by heavy vehicles. Perhaps the most striking evidence is to be found along the boulevards on which the old two decker buses operate. Pavements which otherwise have stood up well under traffic have given way near the curb where the buses run. The deep indentations made by the bus tires leave no doubt of the cause. The weight of the buses alone presents a serious problem to highway engineers, but when that weight is carried on hard tires the problem of laying a road strong enough to withstand the pounding cannot be solved without adding greatly to the cost of road building.

What is true of buses is, of course, equally true of heavy trucks on hard tires. A law enacted by the last legislature requires pneumatic tires for buses, but, so far as we can learn, the law was not drawn to apply to trucks also. Though all buses must be equipped with pneumatic tires by next year, trucks can continue to pound the pavements into dust.

There might be some excuse for permitting hard tires on trucks if trucks paid a large part of the cost of highway construction, if pneumatic tires for trucks were unduly expensive or if they interfered with truck operation. None of these conditions is a fact today. As matters stand, either new pavements must be built to withstand the excessive pounding of heavy vehicles, which entails great expense and therefore limits the amount of paving which can be done with a given amount of money, or pavements must be laid under existing specifications in the assurance that their life will be brief.

We suggest that by state law and municipal ordinance all vehicles be required to operate on pneumatic tires after a reasonable time has elapsed for making the change. The same result might be achieved by refusal to issue licenses, state or city, for any previously unregistered heavy vehicle operating on hard tires. The effect of such a regulation would be to require all new equipment to operate on pneumatic tires. Within a few years all the hard tired trucks will have outlived their usefulness.

AN OFFICEHOLDERS' LAW.

Gov. Kohler of Wisconsin is on trial, charged with having violated the law of Wisconsin which limits the campaign expenditures of a candidate for the governorship to $4,000.

While nothing should be said at this time regarding his guilt or innocence, a matter for the jury to decide on the basis of the evidence, the trial does serve to call attention again to the Wisconsin law which is being invoked. The law was enacted on the assumption it would serve as a safeguard of democracy. It was intended to prevent a wealthy man or the candidate of the rich from purchasing the right to occupy the governor's chair. There is something to be said for limiting expenditures, but it is absurd to limit them, as the Wisconsin law does, to $4,000. More than 1,100,000 votes were cast in Wisconsin in the last presidential election. To send only one first class letter to each of those voters would cost $22,000 for postage alone. Most candidates travel about the state in the course of the canvass. Any one who knows the costs of travel and rental of halls will agree that $4,000 cannot begin to pay the costs of a candidate and his suite on such a tour.

The effect of the limitation is to give an enormous advantage to men in office who seek reelection. They have a political machine, supported by patronage and maintained by jobholders. When the state pays salaries to jobholders it is also paying the election expenses of the men in office. Parity is not achieved by limiting expenditures to an absurdly small sum. In the attempt to prevent the misuse of great wealth in elections the law as now written encourages the creation of a tyranny of officeholders. If the trial of Gov. Kohler serves no other purpose it should call attention to the assault upon republican institutions implicit in the Wisconsin corrupt practices law.

ARBITRARY LAWS FOR RADIO.

Legislation for the regulation of radio seems to be directed by a theory of leveling regardless of consequences. As a domain of law it is new and uncharted, although the air has been explored and used under conditions not dissimilar to those which attended the discovery and use of new lands; but such precedents have little weight with congressmen who are formulating the laws of the air.

The allocation of facilities proposed in the latest bill, that prepared by Senators Couzens and Dill of the interstate commerce committee of the senate, divides 25 per cent equally among the states and another 25 per cent according to their areas and 50 per cent according to population. In this distribution the only factor which would have a real relation to broadcasting would be that of population.

It is only metropolitan areas which can be expected to produce broadcasting which will satisfy the best and most general popular requirements. A large investment is needed and the program costs are high. The activities and abilities which make radio entertainment interesting, artistic and informative are metropolitan. This is the area in which the radio stream has its origin and if some of its channels of distribution are closed by act of congress it will cease to be available.

If state lines were limits of radio reception a leveling program which asserted doctrinaire equalities might have a semblance of equity, but state lines are lost in the range of high power broadcasting. An arbitrary allocation of facilities to Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming, and Montana on a basis of state sovereignty and area will not promote satisfactory radio programs in those states, but will, by the limitations imposed on successful stations in metropolitan areas, produce a real loss to the radio user.

The same reality will govern in the central states and in the east. An equalizing theory applied in Washington to the radio law cannot change the fact that Chicago and New York are the principal sources of radio service, each in its great area operating regardless of the state lines to which the interstate commerce committee seeks to give a value. This doctrine of territorial equalitarianism, of equal rights for states and for areas measured by square miles, has no reality of equality at all, as radio owners would soon discover in the changed quality of what they received.

Editorial of the Day

"LONG WAGES."

[Grand Rapids (Mich.) Press.]

Senator Couzens' suggestion of a yearly salary basis—"long wages"—for workers in place of the present hourly wage scale so prevalent in most manufacturing business will be called radical, as, in fact, it is. It would force a complete readjustment of methods of production and competition in many industries.

But the suggestion is made, not for governmental action to force its effect, but to industry itself. Mr. Couzens believes many industries could adjust themselves to such a basis, or to guaranteed employment, without loss, and he cites in the April issue of Survey the case of the Dennison Manufacturing company in Framingham, Mass.

The president of this company, seeking to insure his employés a stable income, put $150,000 in a reserve fund and provided that every time a department laid off a man he was to be paid 60 per cent of his wage. Department heads and superintendents were immediately found to be stabilizing their part of the industry to avoid this extra overhead charge as much as possible, with the result that in eight years the total sum used from the reserve fund has been less than one week's pay roll.

That undoubtedly is an unusual case of a business largely controlling its own demand and supply conditions, as contrasted to those in which it is difficult to estimate future requirements and which are severely and immediately affected by a number of market conditions. Not as a revolutionary proposal for immediate application to all business, but as an ideal toward which individual industries ought to be working, Mr. Couzens' plan of "long wages" and reasonable assurance of a steady job deserves serious consideration.

DUTIES OF SCHOOL NURSE.

ONE of the three duties of the school nurse is treatment of minor conditions, such as mild skin disorders, some of which are communicable and some not. In the latter groups are the old, neglected, heavy scabbed sores, particularly of the legs, to which children are so subject. The nurse is able to heal these old sores promptly. She applies a wet dressing to soften the thick, heavy scab and then removes it. It may be necessary to repeat this a few times to accomplish this result. The treatment she uses is proper for all sores that heal under scabs.

A scab is composed of the dried ooze from the wound plus dead cells and all thrown off epithelium. Oozing washes wounds free from bacteria and dirt. The oozing material is somewhat bactericidal as well as mechanically cleansing. The outward flow prevents bacteria from traveling inward. That which coagulates in the wound plugs up blood and lymph vessels.

There is very little danger of infection from a scab. The dried material is not good culture material for bacteria. In addition, the surface of a healing wound becomes almost immune to infection. Our forefathers learned from experience that infected wounds would not scab well and that the presence of a good scab meant that the wound was not infected and could not be, or at least not readily. We know that a good scab not only is proof that a wound is not infected, and is doing well, but that it protects the wound against both infection and injury.

But even a good thing can be overdone. A heavy scab prevents healing. The injury it does and the hindrance to healing is mechanical. It acts as a foreign body, like a cinder in the eye or a pebble in a shoe. It is good policy to remove the heavy scabs. This can be done with plain water, boiled water, soap and water, or boric acid solution. Since there is practically no danger of infection there is no particular reason for adding an antiseptic to the water.

The process of removal is one of soaking and a convenient method is to apply a wet dressing, to cover with old silk, and to hold this with a bandage. Prolonged soaking in a pan of warm water is equally effective but more wasteful of time. A scab re-forms rather quickly, and when it does the process is to be repeated. As a rule, soaking and dressing once a day is enough. This provides covering enough for the young skin as it grows from the wound edge over the surface and removes the covering when it becomes too heavy, stiff, and harsh. To keep the wet dressing on continuously is to water-soak the wound and to wash away the young cells as rapidly as they form and thus to prevent healing.

TREATMENT FOR GOITER.

Mrs. R. H. writes: Is there any cure for a goiter?

REPLY.

Yes. The nature of the curative treatment depends on the kind of goiter and the amount of intoxication.

IN POSITION TO RESIST CLAIMS.

Chicago, April 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.] — A private paving concern paved the alley in the rear of my property. I had no written or verbal agreement. Notified the company by registered mail before the work started that I did not want the alley paved and would not pay. What procedure should be taken? A. D.

The Supreme court held in Cronin vs. Tage, 281 Ill. 336, that the property adjoining a street or alley is not subject to a mechanic's lien for paving if the work is not connected with an improvement within the lot boundaries.

The owner might be held on an implied promise, depending on all the facts tending to support or rebut the implication of such a promise. If the owner serves written notice before the work is done that he is not undertaking to pay, he would ordinarily be in a position to resist any claim that there was an implied agreement to pay. If no such notice is served, a court or jury will naturally be tempted to give all possible benefit of the doubt to the paving concern.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW AN ALIEN.

Chicago, April 24.—[Friend of the People.]—I am a naturalized American citizen. My son, who is 20 years of age, is now in Europe on a visit, where he intends to marry. Can I have the girl brought to America without waiting for the quota restrictions? G. W. A.

There is no provision in the immigration laws whereby a father-in-law may bring his daughter-in-law into the United States without her being subject to the quota restrictions.

The son in this case, if he is an American citizen, should execute form 633, after the marriage, before an American consul to have his wife enter the United States as a non-quota immigrant. S. D. SMITH,
District Director of Immigration.

INCOMPETENT'S SHARE.

Chicago, April 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A widower dies leaving a will dividing his property among his three daughters. One of the daughters is in the state hospital for the insane. Does she get her share or does the state take it? V. R.

Application should be made to the Probate court to appoint a conservator to receive the money for her.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. — Ed.

This Is Going to Be a Busy Week—

because April ends the middle of the week (three rousing cheers) and in comes merry little May. And it's always quite lively around the 1st of May. Everybody thinks he has to move; it's a law or a habit or something. Anyhow, on the 1st of May everybody moves. In the good old days a gal used to tell her ma to wake and call me early, call me early, mother dear, because she was going to be queen of the May, mother, she was to be queen of the May, and all the village lads and lassies would dance around the Maypole. Mother can't call daughter early nowadays because she doesn't get home from the night club until 7 or 8 in the morning, and if mother called her she'd get such a bawling out she wouldn't forget it for three months.

Nowadays all that mother calls is the moving van and it comes when it gets good and ready, and then the rugs, beds, parlor lamp, radio, and the rest of the things the family owns on installment go into the van and the family trek off to the new home. And the first night they're in they sit down and make awful moans because they moved and each accuses the other of being the one responsible. Father is usually the goat, but peace finally comes when they all agree never to move again. And they won't. Not until next May 1st.

AT THE VIVARIUM.

The spring has scaled these barricades and now
Unlocks the pools and tips the graying grass,
Green whorls are in the barest trees, somehow
Winter withdraws that warmer days may pass.
The lone, gaunt timber wolf dreams of the north,
And atavistic, nose in air, howls piteously.
The long pronged moose laboriously comes forth,
Pacing his narrow cell and longing to be free.
The buffalo shaggy, blunt, morose,
Lifts his dull orbs to note the bluer skies,
Sniffs the bland air, and from his wired in close
Dreams with the spring and shakes his heavy thighs.
With easy grace and poise the red deer, alert,
Soft stepping nips the early buds and rubs
His newly sprouting horns. The black squirrel pert,
Agile and smart, in sensible furs. In tubs
Of icy water wallows the polar bear. The grizzly king
Sits upright munching his welcome bread.
These wild things, too, have sensed return of spring,
Knowing another winter's with the dead.

CLARENCE P. MILLIGAN.

THERE WILL BE a partial eclipse of the sun for a couple of hours this afternoon, but do not pull any rough stuff, you gunmen and hi-jackers, for please notice that the darkness will be only partial and we will still be able to see you hiding behind those shotguns, you little rascals.

Ah, Under Their Bullet Proof Vests Beat Hearts of Gold.

Anyhow, while we admit that there is occasionally a teeny bit of crime in Chicago, may we not call the attention of our envious rival cities to the great consideration and kindness shown by Chicago bandits to their victims? A real estate agent was frisked the other night of seventy-five bucks, watch, ring, and several other little souvenirs; he told the collectors he felt faint and would like a glass of water. The kind-hearted robbers immediately got him a glass of water. We wish the real estate agent had told the bandits what he wanted Santa Claus to bring him next Christmas, because the bandits, being such little gentlemen, would probably have seen to it that come Christmas the presents were promptly delivered.

AND JUST as the Labor government of Great Britain winds up the naval peace parley with more or less satisfaction, it is face to face with a war in India. But labor governments do not like to fight wars; that's a job for imperialists. Mr. MacDonald probably feels very peeved towards Mr. Gandhi for not doing his act when the belligerent Stanley Baldwin was in power.

YES, BUT WHAT DID HE SAY?

[From Yesterday's Trib.]

Threatened at first with death and various kinds of torture, he was beaten repeatedly, he said, while the two men drank, most of the night. Finally he worked with his bonds, he said, and making a sudden leap dived through a window. The men were in such a condition that they did not pursue him, he said.

AND, OF COURSE, since there's going to be a new political party to displace the old parties it will have to have a name. And we haven't named the new planet yet or the last baby camel (or was it a camel?) at the Lincoln park zoo. Life is just one name after another.

It Is Most Embarrassing!

The motor boat show has drawn our attention away from automobiles and riveted it on motor boats. We are now able to drive in a manner that delights us, but we are uncertain just what to say when we meet a lady who is just out in the traffic for the first time and who is wabbling her car all over the place. Of course to a man under similar circumstances we have learned to yell, "You poor simp, wyinell dontja learn to drive?" But to a lady—now just what to say to a lady when she has the whole street to maneuver in but tries her best to run us down?

ABOUT 30 per cent of all passports granted in 1929, says World's Work, were issued to citizens of New York. Well, goodness, New Yorkers have to go somewhere, don't they? And as they don't know there is any place in America outside New York City, there's nowhere for them to go except abroad.

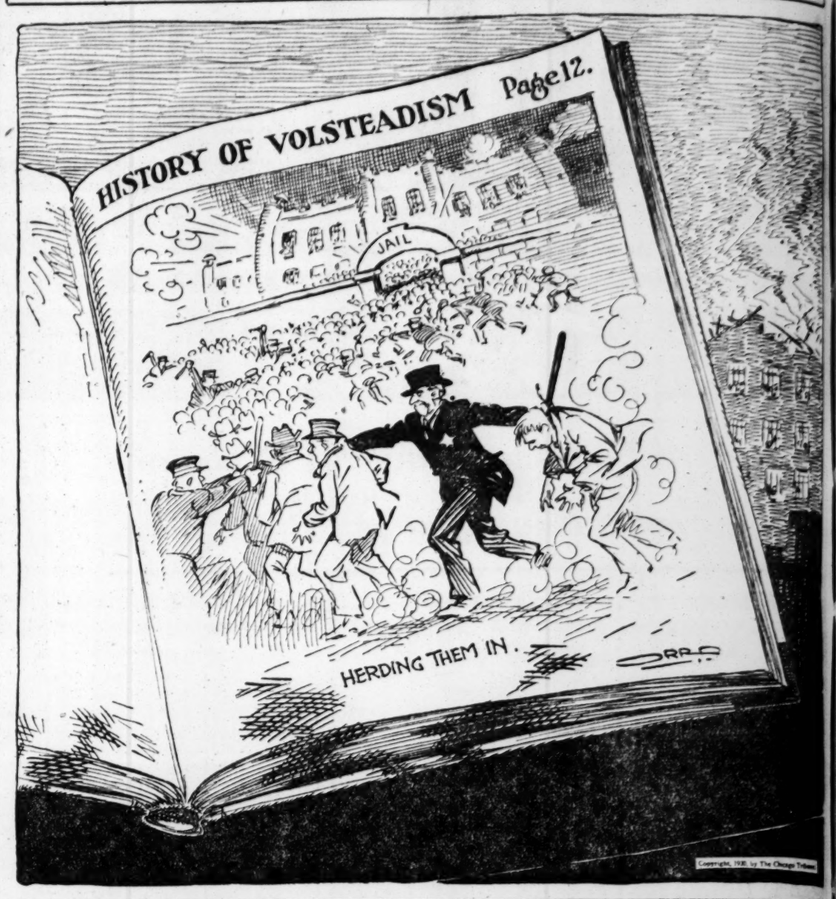
PREPAID.

I yield it proudly—this small gift—
I love you. Oh, you may not want my lips
Or any of the human me I lift
So cheaply to your mood—but, course slips
The heart so soon. The runner toward the sun
Is left abandoned to a starless dark.
And should you, chancing, come to such a one,
What words might prove the candle or the spark
For your dear, blundering feet. That you recall
One thought you splendid—fine—and thus behold
Yourself as still unbeaten . . . that is all
My hovering tenderness bides to enfold.
Demanding hands may cling and clinging dull
But love, itself, is strong—and beautiful.

JUDY SHEA.

HEY! Hurry up and get out of bed! You're an hour late to work right now! Don't be silly; we went on daylight saving schedule yesterday and you forgot to set the clock ahead. Oh, but won't you get kingdom come when you land in the office this morning. Tck! Tck! Tck! R. H. L.

PROHIBITION



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 28, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of War Stanton announced: "J. Wilkes Booth and Harrold were chased from a swamp in St. Mary's county, Maryland, to the Rappahannock by Col. Baker's force. The barn in which they took refuge was fired. Booth was shot through the head, lingering about three hours. Harrold was captured. Booth's body and Harrold are now here."

WASHINGTON.—Further details of the killing of J. Wilkes Booth, the murderer of President Lincoln, and capture of Harrold, his accomplice, have been made public. A squadron of the 16th New York cavalry traced the men to a barn near Fredericksburg, Va., and demanded their surrender. Harrold was in favor of giving himself up, but Booth, calling him a coward, refused to do so. Then the barn was set on fire and Harrold presented himself and was handcuffed. Booth fired on the soldiers. After the barn had been burning three-quarters of an hour and the roof was about to fall in, Booth made a demonstration as if to break through the guard. To prevent this, Sergt. Boston Corbett fired, intending to hit Booth so as to cripple him. The ball, however, struck too high, and entered Booth's head. The report that Booth attempted to shoot himself while in the barn is incorrect, although in his parley with his besiegers he indicated he would never be taken alive. Boston Corbett, who killed Booth, is said to be a man of deep religious feeling who has lately fervently prayed that the President's assassin be brought to justice. Corbett was offered $1,000 for the cavalry pistol with which he killed Booth.

WASHINGTON.—Maj. Gen. Halleck announced that he had ordered Gens. Meade, Sheridan, and Wright to pay no regard to any truce agreement made by Sherman with Gen. Joseph Johnston and to push on in an attempt to cut off Johnston's retreat, regardless of orders from any one except Gen. Grant.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 28, 1900.

CHICAGO.—John W. Gates, chairman of the American Steel and Wire company, and John Lambert, its president, are wanted in New York by stockholders of the company, and summons have been issued there citing them to appear to answer charges made under a section of the penal code entitled, "Misconduct of officers and employés of corporations." The first complainant in the case is Washington Seligman. The Seligmans, who are heavy owners of stock, have been known for ten days to be intensely displeased at the action of Mr. Gates in closing twelve wire mills and the coincident break in stocks, both common and preferred.

GALENA, Ill. — Eulogies for past greatness and cheers for present heroism mingled in impressive unison today as the people of Galena celebrated the 78th anniversary of the birth of their townsman, Gen. Grant. His integrity as a warrior, a statesman, and a plain townsman was extolled by Gov. Theodore Roosevelt of New York, who spoke before 1,200 persons.

LOS ANGELES.—Mrs. Susan Winans, one of the historic characters of the nation, died at the residence of her daughter here. She was born 88 years ago in the stockade at Fort Dearborn, now Chicago, and had the distinction of being the first white child born in Chicago. She was also the last survivor of the Fort Dearborn massacre by Pottawattomie Indians. She was six months old at the time of the massacre.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 28, 1920.

NEWARK, N. J.—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood was leading Hiram Johnson of California by 659 votes in returns from approximately nine-tenths of the state in the Republican preferential primaries early this morning.

AGUA PRIETA, Sonora. — Rebel troops are preparing to march on Mexico City from the state of Guerrero, Gen. F. Elias Calles, commander-in-chief of the "Liberal Constitutionalist" army, announced here. It was said that more than 50,000 soldiers are now in revolt.

TOWARD A NEW IMMIGRATION POLICY.

Chicago, April 23.—I wish to express my hearty approval of the article in this morning's TRIBUNE, "No Need for Immigration." The employment situation in the United States, according to current reports, is much worse than it has ever been in Great Britain, and such a measure does promise relief.

President Hoover has long maintained the position that the immigration laws should be revised so as better to conform with economic conditions and that the quota provisions should be abandoned. Under the TRIBUNE'S proposal economic conditions would be relieved and the quota would become unnecessary. It would be interesting to try total restriction of immigration as an experiment for the duration of two or three years.

Perhaps there are some parts of the United States where foreign immigration is desirable, but that it is a necessity remains to be proved. If it should be desirable within a few years to lift such a restriction, assuming it is made, a new system might be provided. Immigration could be permitted only to the states or regions requiring foreign labor or foreign capital. The prospective immigrant could make application at a foreign consular office for a five year permit to reside in a certain community or locality in the United States. Upon the approval of local or regional authorities his request could be granted. At the completion of the five years he could be naturalized and permitted to exercise his vocation in other parts of the United States under the same terms as are permitted to other American citizens. In order to guard against abuse of the law by local authorities foreign immigration might be permanently prohibited to states having a population density of fifty or more to the square mile, according to the 1930 census. Such a provision, however, would make it desirable to do away with Ellis island except as a transfer point for immigrants, who could then be permitted to land only at points south of Norfolk on the Atlantic and ports along the gulf and the Pacific.

I am sure a revision of the immigration laws, with more consideration to the present unemployment situation and to the economic needs of the country, would not only benefit the American people but it would, in the end, prove of greater benefit to the immigrants who are admitted than the laws at present in force. LESTER CONDIT.

TRANSFERS.

Chicago, April 23.—Today I boarded a Clark street surface car at Clark and Washington streets and after paying my fare I discovered that it was not a through car, as I had supposed, but its route terminated at Dewey and Clark. At this junction there were quite a few passengers who, like myself, had evidently mistaken this car for a through car and besieged the conductor for transfers, without avail.

While it is customary under the existing terms regarding transfers to issue them only at time fare is paid, there are occasionally conductors who have common sense enough to give a passenger a transfer if he is entitled to it, regardless of whether he obtains it when fare is paid or not.

The street car company is always willing to issue transfers at time fare is paid, whether recipient intends to use it, give it away or throw it to the four winds.

The reason that the conductors give for enforcing this rule is that "it is orders" and they are scared of losing their jobs if they do not comply with it.

I am wondering what the brains of the street car company think they accomplish by this policy. In my estimation it creates an antagonistic feeling from the public, who will form a habit of obtaining transfers whether they intend to use them or not. Thereby the company creates not only an ill will but also encourages the waste involved in distributing transfers that will not be used by the original passengers. JOSEPH T. CLARK.

PAINT ON A POLICEMAN'S PANTS.

Chicago, April 24.—Last Monday night, long after every one had retired and all was quiet, my wife and I were awakened by a thundering noise which shook the cottage. I jumped up and upon entering the dining room was confronted by a plain clothes man, who immediately showed his badge (otherwise a chair would have decorated his neck), stating that he had been following a burglar down the alley whom he suspected of entering our house through the open bathroom window. I had just finished painting my bathroom and he consequently decorated his new trousers with white lead paint, leaving nothing on the window sill.

Now I would like to know why he could not just as well have entered the house by the front door, which would gladly have been opened by us after knowing his mission. The burglar could not have escaped from the bathroom, had he been there, without being seen by the officers in the squad car, which was parked nearby. A scare like that will not easily be forgotten by my wife nor by myself either. HARRY B. MONG.

THE FUTURE OF MEDICINE.

Chicago, April 18.—The editorial this morning, "Harvest Time in Williamson," is so logical, so straight to the point I wish it might be universally read and appreciated. The underlying principles apply equally well to the medical practice problem now before the public.

Preventive medicine is based on facts of physiology, sanitation and economics. If the medical profession does not take the lead in this field, the next best groups, sanitary engineers, social workers, and personnel managers, will do so. This will leave the medical profession dealing chiefly as in the past with illness rather than with maintenance of health. MONG.

STREET LIGHTS.

Chicago, April 22.—Why are the street lights turned out at night for several blocks in a stretch in sections all over the city? The writer is a resident of Woodlawn; last night at 10 o'clock the lights were extinguished in the blocks east and west of our street. This same happening has occurred previously. It is not a case of bulbs being burned out; it looks like a racket of some kind is in progress. OWL.

SAYS DRY LEAGUE DID NOT REPORT VOLSTEAD FUND

Tinkham Charges 1920 Violation of Law.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—New evidence seeking to back up his charges that the Anti-Saloon league is guilty of "obvious and flagrant violations" of the federal corrupt practices act was forwarded to Chairman T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] of the senate lobby investigation committee today by Representative George Holden Tinkham [Rep., Mass.].

Despite Supt. F. Scott McBride's denial that the league paid the campaign expenses of Andrew J. Volstead in the November (1920) election, Representative Tinkham declared that "this fact is a matter of record" which, he says, may be found in a congressional subcommittee hearing on a department of justice appropriation bill.

"Mr. McBride admits that the national organization paid 'for services and expenses of regular league workers, and included the cost of literature, postage, telephone, and telegraph.'" Tinkham's letter asserted. "Mr. Volstead, in an Associated Press dispatch dated April 16, 1930, at St. Paul, is reported as admitting that the Anti-Saloon league had sent speakers into his district. All such expenditures certainly constitute campaign expenses.

Laid to Subsidiary League.

"The Minnesota Anti-Saloon league, a subsidiary of the Anti-Saloon League of America, made no return under the corrupt practices act for expenditures in this campaign, notwithstanding that the usual practice of the league, I understand, has been to have the state subsidiaries bear the major portion of the money expended for local candidates.

"This was not the only evasion of the corrupt practices act. No return whatever was made by the National league nor by any of its subsidiaries of campaign expenses for Andrew J. Volstead or for any other candidate prior to 1920, although the act was passed in 1912 and although the records of the league as submitted by me to your committee disclose that immense sums were expended by the league."

Calls It "Purely Political."

"What Mr. McBride terms educational work is work to educate voters to vote for the candidates of the league, a work that is purely political in character," Mr. Tinkham's letter declared, adding that between 1920 and 1925 the league made returns under the act of only $15,136 in receipts and $12,520 in expenditures, and between 1927 and 1929 only $98,332 in receipts and $89,791 in expenditures, although Wayne B. Wheeler in 1926 was quoted as saying the league was spending $2,500,000 a year."

Mr. Tinkham wants the Caraway committee to investigate his charge that the Anti-Saloon League does not comply with the federal corrupt practices act.

The Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, through its Clipsheet, issued today, pointed with derision at the testimony of Henry Curran, head of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, before the lobby committee.

"Eighty-four per cent of the association's income is contributed by citizens of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Illinois," said the article. "It appears, therefore, that a few men, representing a small section of the population of our states, are financing an effort to change the constitution."

Churchmen Taunt Tribune.

The Methodist board also hurled a taunt at THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in the following comment upon the Illinois primary:

"THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is reported to have endorsed the candidacy of Mr. Stephen A. Day and Mr. Edward J. Hargrave for congress; also of Col. Ashbel V. Smith, Ernest L. Kreamer, Harry L. Brin and James C. Moreland because of their wet declarations. THE TRIBUNE is the leading journalistic defender of the liquor traffic. Mr. Day, Mr. Hargrave, Mr. Smith, Mr. Kreamer, Mr. Brin and Mr. Moreland were 'also rans.' Mrs. McCormick, by taking a dry position, managed to survive THE TRIBUNE'S endorsement."

Ontario Rum Control Chief on Water Wagon in U. S.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 27.—[Special.]—"A majority of the people to whom I talked in Washington seemed to feel that prohibition was a mistake, although I did meet a few who were stanch drys," said Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the Ontario liquor control board, who came here, accompanied by his wife, after testifying before the house judiciary committee at Washington on the results achieved by the Ontario system of liquor control.

"I hate Mr. Buttinskie," said Sir Henry. "I believe that we Canadians should mind our own business. I should never have come here had not your government requested it."

Refuses to Drink While Here.

Sir Henry said he had not accepted any liquor while in the United States for two reasons.

"First, I believe that visitors should not break the laws of the country in which they are guests. The second reason is that, judging from what one reads in the papers, it would hardly be safe to drink liquor here."

Sir Henry did not predict repeal of the 18th amendment in the near future. "Because of the construction of your laws, I believe that it will take some time," he said.

Problem Older Than Civilization.

The drinking of liquor was referred to several times by Sir Henry as a "Biblical sin." He pointed out that "curing a Biblical sin takes a long time—the problem is older than civilization.

"Prohibition was beneficial to us in Ontario during the war, when people were willing to make sacrifices, and when they had no time to think of drinking," he continued. "However, we did not believe that it would be successful as a peace time institution."

Sir Henry said conditions in the United States now are analogous to those existing in Canada when the prohibition law was repealed.

"We felt it necessary to act when we saw bootleg millionaires thriving, poisonous liquor coming in from the states, and flasks being flaunted by young people."

S MORROW WET OR DRY? VOTERS AWAIT ANSWER

ew Jersey Primary Only Seven Weeks Off.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Interest is turning to the New ey political situation with the pected return of Dwight W. Morw on Tuesday from the London val conference.

As an announced candidate for the publican senatorial nomination at the New Jersey primaries on June 17, r. Morrow must declare himself soon the prohibition issue.

Word from the Leviathan, on which is returning with the other Amern delegates to the naval conference, that he intends to hold political conrences in New Jersey on Tuesday d will visit Washington to see Presnt Hoover on Wednesday.

He May Favor Modification.

Mr. Morrow's unwillingness thus far disclose his attitude on prohibition s aroused speculation as to whether will first discuss the question with e President.

There have been reports that Mr. rrow is prepared to announce himself for modification of prohibition ve as to permit the states to regue the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor. New Jersey Reblican leaders, most of whom are t and believe that no one but a et can be elected United States senor in that state, think that he may able to hit upon a combination modification and law enforcement program ich will not be inconsistent with the sition taken by Mr. Hoover. The w Jersey drys insist that he cannot do so without breaking with the dministration.

Will He Be in Treaty Fight?

The first matter which Mr. Morrow ust take up with the President is ether he should at once resign the mbassadorship to Mexico in order at he may take part in the fight ver ratification of the London treaty a member of the senate. Senator vid Baird Jr., who was given a mporary appointment by Gov. Larn to fill the Edge vacancy, will reign as soon as he is informed that r. Morrow is ready to take the seat. ov. Larson then will appoint Mr. rrow. It is thought likely that the esident will be anxious to have Mr. rrow appointed by the time the nate fight commences.

Mr. Morrow may not announce his rohibition stand immediately but with e primary only a little more than ven weeks distant he will be obliged make known his platform without uch delay.

Opponent Now for Modification.

An indication of how the politicians ew sentiment in New Jersey is seen the statement issued during the last eek by former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, who will be Mr. Morrow's opponent for the Republican enatorial nomination. Mr Frelinghuysen was a dry during his six years the senate but now has come out r modification of prohibition laws.

He went down to defeat in 1926 at the hands of Edward I. Edwards, Democrat, who, as governor, had boasted he would make New Jersey as wet as the Atlantic ocean." Senator Edwards in turn was defeated in 928 by Senator Hamilton F. Kean, an a wet, the heavy Hoover vote helping to make possible Republican success.

Democrat Sure to Be Wet.

Alexander Simpson, who was the prosecutor in the Hall-Mills murder case, is the only Democratic candidate thus far. He is wet and has the support of the Hague organization. Former Senator Edwards has indicated willingness to support a candidate against Mr. Simpson, but none has as yet appeared.

With the Democratic nominee certain to be a wet, whether Mr. Simpson or some one else, the wet Republican leaders insist that Mr. Morrow even if nominated will be defeated in November unless he espouses some sort of modification program. The Rev. James K. Shields, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of New York and the Rev. F. Scott McBride's predecessor as superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of Illinois, has issued a denunciation of Mr. Frelinghuysen and a warning to Mr. Morrow that unless he supports prohibition the drys will put a third candidate in the field at the primaries. Mr. Shields is unwilling to admit that a dry cannot be elected in New Jersey.

Explains Loss of Faith in Law.

Former Senator Frelinghuysen in declaring for modification said that he voted for the 18th amendment as a member of the senate because he thought "it would destroy the corrupt and debauching power of liquor interests and work social economic and moral benefits." He said he voted for the Volstead act because it seemed his duty to support legislation to make the amendment effective.

"Ten years of experience and study have modified my views," he said recently. "While the law has destroyed the open saloon, it has developed new and grave evils with which the public is familiar.

"The present law has encountered the obstacle inherent in our democratic form of government—that it is difficult, if not impossible to enforce a law making crimes of acts which large numbers of the people regard as moral and reasonable privileges of citizenship.

"I have therefore concluded that the policy of prohibition must be modified. Public sentiment has not yet crytallized in favor of any specific plan of modification."

Mr. Frelinghuysen said he would support "all reasonable measures for the enforcement of law as long as the 18th amendment and the Volstead law are in effect."

Lay Machine Gun Killing to New Jersey Beer War

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—A beer war in northern New Jersey is blamed for the killing early today of Michael Redden, alias Big Mike, described by the police as bodyguard for Johnny Jones, owner of the Signaciardens roadhouse near Paterson, N. J. As Redden alighted from an automobile near the roadhouse, another car came up and an occupant shouted to Redden. As Redden turned he was sprayed with bullets from a machine gun. The slayer sped away.

MAKE WALKING A PLEASURE

Does your "astragalus" feel low?

THE "astragalus" is the keystone bone of your foot arch. Unless you can get your fingers under it (as shown) you probably have flat feet.

Physical Culture Shoes are designed to raise the "astragalus" to its proper position if it is low, and to keep it where it belongs if it happens to be all right.

If you wear Physical Culture Shoes you'll be shod smartly and walk comfortably, because your arch will then take up the racking vibration that comes to the body when the "astragalus" feels low.

U. S. INCOME TAX PAID BY ILLINOIS SHOWS INCREASE

Michigan, Wisconsin and Indiana Slump.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Illinois showed an increase in federal tax payments during the first nine months of the fiscal year 1930.

Iowa also showed an increase, but Michigan, Indiana, and Wisconsin tax payments fell off. For the entire country tax collections increased, the total for nine months ending on March 31, being $2,277,453,096 as compared with $2,137,178,647 in the corresponding period of the previous year.

Of the total for nine months of the present year $1,812,682,396 was from income taxes compared with $1,689,165,158 last year, while $464,770,699 was from miscellaneous taxes compared with $448,103,488 last year.

Payments for 9 Months.

Illinois tax payments for nine months of the present fiscal year amounted to $187,743,426 as against $171,047,023 in the same period last year. Income taxes amounted to $168,965,659, of which $92,028,952 was from corporation taxes and $76,936,706 from individual income taxes.

Last year the income tax total was $155,341,505, divided into $88,975,856 for corporation taxes and $66,365,648 for individual income taxes. Miscellaneous taxes paid in Illinois amounted to $16,777,767, as against $15,705,817 last year.

Iowa tax payments of all kinds amounted to $10,420,638 for nine months of this year compared with $9,793,491 for the same period last year.

Drops of $8,800,000.

Michigan tax payments slumped from a total of $113,767,495 in nine months of last year to $104,956,807 for the same period this year. Income tax payments dropped from $104,560,414 to $97,237,981 and miscellaneous taxes from $9,207,081 to $7,718,826.

Indiana tax payments decreased from $21,363,516 to $20,311,229. Income taxes fell off from $19,407,709 to $17,912,266, while miscellaneous taxes increased from $1,955,806 to $2,398,963.

In Wisconsin tax payments decreased from $29,515,047 to $27,119,947. Income taxes dropped from $28,183,040 to $26,053,338 and miscellaneous taxes from $1,322,006 to $1,066,708.

TRACE FORMER OWNERS OF TWO BLUE DIAMONDS

Information was requested by police yesterday concerning the former ownership of a five carat diamond set in a white gold ring and a three carat diamond in a platinum stickpin. The gems were found on Saturday sewed into the overcoat of Joseph Blue, ex-convict, who was killed on April 16 by machine gunners. Coroner Bundeson was told the ring and the pin were loaned to Blue by Edward McNaughton, alias McMeelis, of the Surf hotel.

McNaughton said the ring and pin were pawned to him three years ago in Vancouver, B. C., where he had a gambling house and café, by a gambler named Harry Miskey. He placed a value of $9,000 on the ring and pin.

The ring had the name "Peacock" on the inside of the band. Police of the pawnshop detail, who were asked by Dr. Bundesen to investigate the statements of McNaughton, said they went to Peacock's jewelry house and were told the ring is worth between $2,500 and $2,800 and the pin $1,800. Records of Peacock's are to be searched for the sales of those particular stones and a report was promised to the police by Wednesday.

ILLINOIS ACADEMY OF SCIENCE TO CONVENE FRIDAY AT URBANA

Urbana, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—Scientists from all sections of the country are expected to arrive on the University of Illinois campus Friday to attend the twenty-third annual two day meeting of the Illinois Academy of Science which opens that morning and continues through Saturday.

This year's meeting will be held in conjunction with the quarter centennial celebration of the Illinois state geological survey. General sessions will be held Friday and Saturday morning in addition to seven sectional meetings.

Scores of scientific problems will be discussed by outstanding scientists during the two day meeting. Dr. David Kinley, president of the University of Illinois, will welcome the delegates at the general session Friday morning. Responses will be made by Dr. M. M. Leighton, president of the Illinois Academy of Science and chief of the Illinois state geological survey.

SURVEY REPORT HAS OPTIMISTIC OUTLOOK AHEAD

Summary Out on Eve of Chamber Session.

Iron and Steel Conservative.

"Iron and steel industries: For the first quarter of 1930 production of furnaces and mills has kept closely in line with current demands. April orders for construction steel for the first 3 weeks of April approximate 75,000 tons, a higher rate than any previous similar period this year.

"Automobiles: In the first quarter of 1930 the total production of passenger cars and trucks in the United States and Canada totaled 1,045,000, compared with the record figure of 1,546,000 in 1929. The 1930 production was larger than 1928 of 1927. The rate of activity thus far in April has been slightly larger than in March. Demand appears good for some of the lower priced cars, fair for some of the higher priced cars, and slow for many of the medium priced cars. Export business continued subnormal.

"Retail and wholesale trade: Retail trade conditions are complicated and confused. An index for the first quarter of the year, based on larger store returns, compares favorably in volume of turnover with a year ago, although dollar values show about 6 per cent less. Reports generally agree that marchants' stocks are relatively low and that current orders by retailers for replenishment are large in number but average smaller in value. Generally, wholesale reports confirm retail purchases of smaller average amount and increasing numbers.

"Foreign trade: Exports and imports for March show the same noticeable falling off in total values, as compared with March, 1929, being 24 per cent less on exports and 22 per cent less on imports. Some allowance should be made for the lower commodity prices and also for the fact that 1929 was an exceptionally active year."

TRADE LEADERS START EAST FOR C. OF C. MEETING

Good Will Party Is Home from Southwest.

Three groups of manufacturers and other business leaders of Chicago and Illinois departed yesterday for Washington on the Capitol limited to attend the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce there tomorrow. Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, hurried back from the good will tour he led into six states of the southwest in order to leave yesterday with the delegations.

In addition to the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Illinois Manufacturers' association, and the Illinois Chamber of Commerce sent representatives. William R. Dawes, W. Rufus Abbott, Lieut. Gov. Fred Sterling, and State Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet were in the party. Theodore Gerlach, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, headed that group.

Good Will Party Home.

Members of the good will tour through the southwest reached the city in the wake of Col. Randolph early yesterday morning, declaring the journey to fourteen cities in six states had accomplished a world of good in correcting erroneous impressions of the real character of Chicago. They visited Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Missouri, over a period of fourteen days.

Get Aid for Fair.

Robert C. McManus, secretary of the tour, was enthusiastic on arrival yesterday about the amount of good accomplished not only for the city's business interests at present, but for the prospects for the World's Fair in 1933. Support of the chambers of commerce in the various cities visited was enlisted for the fair, and the governors of four states—Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Kansas—were enrolled among its active supporters.

Policeman Shot at Home; Wife Calls It Accident

Shot in the right ankle, Policeman William Duffy, 33 years old, attached to the Brighton Park district, was taken from his home, 3956 South Western avenue, to the Auburn Park hospital last night. His wife, Mary, told Lieut. Frank Stevens at Brighton Park station that the shooting was accidental.

WOMAN, 21, ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Mrs. Gertrude Hanover, 21, who had recently undergone an operation and was facing another, attempted to commit suicide by swallowing poison yesterday at her home, 1721 Girard street. She was taken to the Belmont hospital in a serious condition.

PAY ROLL QUIZ IN WEST PARKS OPENS TODAY

Inquiry into charges that the pay rolls of the west park commission are packed with pay rollers of the city hall faction will open at 3 p. m. today at the commission's rooms in Garfield park. State Representative David E. Shanahan is chairman of the special investigating committee appointed by Gov. Emmerson following charges filed by James J. Cullen, a member of the commission.

Other members of the investigating committee are Attorney Rush C. Butler, George Woodruff, banker, and Attorney James J. Barbour. Mr. Cullen has announced that he has requested Ald. Arthur F. Albert to represent him at the hearings. President W. R. James of the commission declared yesterday that he favors having the hearings open to the public.

Mary's Mother Changed to "Selected" Milk

because of an impromptu play party

Mary is a fussy eater—and mother always has had to coax and plead to have her drink each day the four glasses of milk that are so important for her health and development.

The other day Mary came home with shining eyes, telling about a party with the two neighbor children next door . . . and "Oh, mother, they have the most wunnerful milk!"

Mary has this "wunnerful" milk every meal now (Mother found out, of course, that it was "Selected")—and how she enjoys it! "Selected" is better liked by children because of its "Sweet Natural Taste"—and the taste is just the natural result of greater care that covers every detail of production.

"Selected" is produced on 105 picked farms . . . with healthy herds . . . modern facilities for stabling and milking the cows and cooling the milk. Borden's pays a liberal premium for this extra care and vigilance. Special bottling, a double cap, and speedy delivery bring you "Selected" with the "Sweet Natural Taste" fully protected.

The first of the month is a good time to change to "Selected." Here's a coupon for your convenience.

Costs only 3 cents more a quart to enjoy this special drinking milk

GRAND TRUNK

He turned his back on Hollywood's Grim Warning

. . . and committed the SIN that has ruined many famous stars

YOUNG, HANDSOME, debonair—he laughed at life and won his way into the hearts of millions. Those who saw him on the screen never forgot the artistry of his fine acting; his dark, romantic good looks.

"Another Ramon Novarro," the critics said. "As talented as Richard Barthelmess." One triumph followed another. Stardom was just one step ahead.

And then he fell into the trap that spells disaster to all Hollywood stars.

Experienced players cautioned him—but he turned his back upon their advice. Other stars had made the same mistake—and wrecked their golden chances. Roscoe Arbuckle, Mary Miles Minter, Valentino, Barbara La Marr. But he laughed at the grim warnings. The critics praised his work. He had money—friends. Adored by countless women. Admired by men. Why should he worry?

The One Unpardonable Sin

And then came the crash! Even he was not all-powerful. There were no more contracts offered to him. No more parts. No more friends. He had dared to defy the iron code of Hollywood. He had committed the one unpardonable sin of filmdom.

Today he is once more at the bottom—struggling for a foothold and a chance to win the success that he once enjoyed. Will he make a comeback? What one dangerous misstep has ruined many famous stars? Who is this man who scorned the opinion of all Hollywood? The fascinating true story of his career is told for you by William H. McKegg in the June issue of Picture Play Magazine. Don't miss it!

Guarded secrets of Hollywood

Is Ruth Chatterton a snob? Hollywood says that she is. But this brilliant "first lady of the screen" continues to live in her own unique way. "Chatterton—as She Is" by Margaret Reid tells the true facts behind this star's life.

With only $50 in his pocket—Neil Hamilton set out to win fame on the screen. "I Stop to Look Back" is the title of his thrilling autobiography.

Inez Sabastian continues her thrilling novel "The Movie Racket." Interviews, photographs and reviews. Get the big June issue of Picture Play Magazine today.

Follow These Simple Rules

1—Every week-day for 48 consecutive days, (not including Sundays) the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a "Game of Counties" picture. Each picture will represent a County in one of these five States: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. You are invited to name the Counties.

2—The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named and neatest complete sets of pictures in accordance with these rules. See prize list at right.

NOTE—You do not necessarily have to mail each of the 48 pictures separately to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank the highest.

3—This offer is open to everyone—men, women, boys and girls, except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

4—Pictures are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do not send in each picture separately. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set of 48. Then send them to "Counties," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Ill. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Picture No. 48 has been printed.

5—Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Dept. Contestants may submit as many sets of pictures as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize. Accuracy will count. Neatness will count.

6—You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the pictures and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

7—Judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

DRIVER'S LICENSE LAW IS URGED TO CUT AUTO TOLL

Safety Council Asks Legislative Act.

A state-wide campaign for passage of a drivers' license law and development of a uniform traffic regulating system are proposed as the first steps in a concerted campaign for safety on public highways by the Chicago safety council in a report issued yesterday.

The report recommends expenditure of $20,000 for an educational safety campaign and urges motor clubs and the Association of Commerce to join in calling a conference with downstate groups to consider presentation of a drivers' license law at the next legislative session.

32 Codes in Chicago.

It was pointed out that much of the opposition to the last drivers' license law developed downstate and that active coöperation of civic leaders outside Chicago is requisite to passage of the bill. Capt. Frank Matchett, commander of the traffic division of the Chicago police department, informed the committee that 32 different traffic codes are effective in the city, making imperative an attempt to unify traffic laws.

The committee recommends a safety contest among drivers of commercial vehicles and urges continuance of the plan of distributing efficiency cards to careful drivers already enlisted in the Waterfleet safety contest sponsored by the safety council. Coöperation with the board of education and parochial schools is recommended.

Four Deaths in Day.

Four deaths yesterday increased the county motor toll this year to 287. The victims:

Joseph Gursky, 74 years old, a teamster of 608 New York avenue, Whiting, Ind., fatally hurt, and his son-in-law, Joseph Klarkowski, was critically hurt when, as they crossed the street in front of Klarkowski's home, 3306 Archer avenue, both were knocked down by a hit and run motorist. Gursky died in the People's hospital. Klarkowski, suffering a fractured arm and a possible skull fracture, was taken to Mercy hospital.

John O'Donnell, 40 years old, a steamfitter, of 4910 Kamerling avenue. Struck by a taxicab Saturday night at Cicero and Belden avenues, he incurred injuries resulting in his death early yesterday in the Keystone hospital, to which he was taken by the driver, John Repka, 7306 Addison street.

Peter Walker, 9 years old, 1919 Maud avenue. Struck by a northbound sedan as he crossed the street at 2134 Southport avenue, he was knocked in the path of a truck, the driver of which did not stop. The boy was taken to Alexian Brothers' hospital, where he died. Hudson avenue police arrested the owner of the sedan, L. Lamprecht of Mount Prospect, who claimed another man was driving his car at the time.

Unidentified woman, hatless, gray haired, and about 60 years old. Struck and killed last night by an automobile at Sheridan road and Balmoral avenue. Ernest McFadden, 32 years old, 1435 Lunt avenue, the driver, was taken into custody by the Summerdale police.

TWO SHIPS BREAK ICE JAM AT SOO; DOZEN OTHERS HUNT A PATH

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 27.—(AP)—Two ships today crashed away from an ice locked fleet of fourteen vessels in Whitefish bay and headed for the open waters of Lake Superior in the annual spring race to be first to open lake shipping.

The Assiniboia and the Keewatin, passenger and packet ships, broke through the ice barrier this afternoon and headed their prows for Superior ports. The Assiniboia led by three hours.

For a week a steadily increasing number of ships has been held here by ice floes. Several attempts to crash the blockade were futile. A change of wind today gave the masters of the Assiniboia and the Keewatin a promise of good weather. Trailing the venturesome boats, a line of twelve other ships cautiously poked their snouts among ice floes as they hunted free paths to Lake Superior.

Grand Jury Gets Ballots in Evanston Movie Vote Today

In response to a subpoena duces tecum, Edward W. Bell, city clerk of Evanston, will bring before the grand jury this morning the ballots cast on the Sunday movie referendum in the fourth precinct of the Fourth ward of Evanston at the election of April 1. In that precinct no totals were listed on the poll books, the count having been certified by affidavit of the judges. Bell made a trip before the grand jury three weeks ago with the petition on which the referendum was called.

HOLD PARK COP WHO SHOT YOUTH RIDING IN AUTO

Patrolman Thomas Chapman of the West Parks police, was in a cell at the Des Plaines Street station last night while an inquiry was in progress concerning the shooting to death of Salvatore Declanni, 19 years old, 834 South Oakley boulevard, on Saturday night at Washington boulevard and Ogden avenue.

Six young companions of Declanni said they all were bound for a wedding when Chapman fired into their car when the light turned red as they drove past.

President William R. James of the west parks board, and Chief William Schramm of the parks' police, said no formal charges would be placed against Chapman pending completion of the investigation and the holding of an inquest today.

Chapman said he blew his traffic whistle as the car containing Declanni and the others drove past, then fired.

HOBOS OF WORLD PICK VIENNA FOR SUMMER MEET

But Bums Desert Calling for Bourgeois Fleshpots.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, April 27.—With perhaps a forethought about the sturdy quality of its beer, the beauty of its blonde women, the frivolity of its inhabitants in general, or just the genial atmosphere of its ten thousand cafés, where you can flit the whole day away behind a five cent drink, the bums, vagabonds, loafers and their spiritual brothers of Europe have picked Vienna as the scene of their International Vagabond congress to be held in August, when the rest of the busy world is at work with the harvest.

Permission was granted them yesterday by the Vienna police to stretch their legs on the greens of the Prater, the biggest municipal park in all Europe, for as long as the convention lasts.

Few True to Calling.

A year ago it was held at Duesseldorf, but developed, it seems, into an abhorrently respectable gathering. Most of the boys had left the highways and byways of Europe and had taken to fat, bourgeois jobs, with homes and wives and children and radios. Now they returned to swap stories with the few who had remained true to the calling. And outside a speech on "How to Hook a Freight Train Without It Hooking You," the program was very serious indeed, ending, it was reported, with a scholarly address on "The Relation of the Vagabond to Society" by the German "vagabond" poet, Heinrich Lersch.

Maxim Gorki, Knut Hamsun and Hermann Hesse were among the members to have been present, but they excused themselves from the meeting, perhaps at the request of their respectable publishers.

As soon as the bums are out of town, Vienna will be host to another world congress which promises fireworks of a different kind.

Sex Congress to Meet.

From Sept. 13 to 20, the fourth congress of the World League for Sexual Reform will hold its meetings right under the front window of Dr. Freud. Puritanism never having flourished here, there will be no damper on the range of subjects coming up for discussion.

Though the program is as yet incomplete, among those who will address the congress are Margaret Sanger of New York, who will, of course, talk on birth control.

Dr. Freud, withdrawn from the outer world, and disillusioned by the spectacle of modern life, will not be on the program. His latest book pronouncing religion an illusion, civilization the cause of our discomfort, and mankind in danger of extirpating itself, is all he has to say right now.

Freud's Daughter to Speak.

His daughter, Anna Freud, probably will take his place, however. She is scheduled to talk on "Sexual Soul Life." Prof. Paschke Osersky of the University of Kiev will lecture on "Sex and Law"; Dr. Joseph Friedjung of Vienna on "The Right of the Child"; Dr. Wittels of New York on "Sexual Distress," and so on to some one not yet chosen who will explain the work of Dr. Eugene Steinach, the Viennese scientist, who by a manipulation of glands, claims he can change the sex of animals and who is now working on human beings, not with the idea of changing their sex, of course, but of prolonging their life beyond the Psalmist's four score years and ten.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: That Motherly Instinct

Wm. Simmons and John Powell Score Radio Hit

Goodman Theater Players Offer Program.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

John Powell, pianist, and William Simmons, baritone, were the soloists on the New York concert through W-G-N, 8:15 to 9:15. Mr. Simmons is the better known of the two in radio, and he met all expectations by singing songs of the robust and animated type in an excellent manner. Mr. Powell went beyond expectations, perhaps, in his work at the piano. Chopin's impromptu in F sharp was very enjoyable. The scherzo movement from MacDonald's concerto in F minor was one of those splendid things too seldom heard in radio. Of a popular character was his closing group of American folk tunes such as the "Arkansas Traveler."

A group of the Goodman theater players appeared at W-G-N, 5:30 to 6:30, and presented scenes from their extensive repertory.

Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado" in a modernized and condensed version was presented by the W-G-N staff, 7:30 to 8. The musical portion was true to the original, but the dialogue emanated from the imagination of Frank Dahm.

A French comic opera entitled "La Poupee" was performed in English on the chain program through KYW, 8:15 to 8:45. It was reminiscent of a number of familiar light operettas.

PROTESTS CUT IN HOSPITAL BEDS FOR VETS HERE

A protest against the order of Maj. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the Veterans' bureau, to reduce the capacity of the Great Lakes hospital from 650 to 450 beds was sent to Washington yesterday by N. O. Isaacson, state commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

"The action on the part of Gen. Hines, which follows in the wake of our campaign to procure additional hospital beds for the Chicago area, again leaves us with a shortage of beds in this territory," Isaacson said. "In Chicago hundreds of disabled veterans who have been authorized for hospitalization by the veterans' bureau cannot be hospitalized on account of a lack of bed space. Every hospital in this area is taxed to capacity, and there is, in addition, a waiting list of 250 men in need of hospitalization."

ADELE RITCHIE DEATH INQUIRY TO BE REOPENED

Laguna Beach, Cal., April 27.—(AP)—With the bodies of Mrs. Adele Ritchie Post and Mrs. Doris Murray Palmer lying in state here, authorities prepared today to repoen their investigation of the deaths of the two women in Mrs. Palmer's luxurious beach home.

Announcement that the case would be reopened was made after Moresby White, attorney for Mrs. Post, who committed suicide last Thursday after slaying her friend, Mrs. Palmer, said he had found a letter written by Mrs. Post indicating the women had planned a suicide pact.

A coroner's jury decided Friday that Mrs. Post, 56, one time musical comedy favorite of the nation, was jealous of her 32 year old companion's social succes in the Laguna art colony and murdered her in a fit of anger. Remorse then was held to have seized the older woman, prompting her to commit suicide.

Father and Son Seized on Embezzlement Charge

William Norwell Reynolds, 69 years old, and his son, William Ross Reynolds, 43 years old, indicted in Chicago last December on charges of embezzlement, were taken into custody at Kansas City yesterday, according to a dispatch from that city. Besides the two Reynolds, another son, C. Doyle Reynolds, and three other former officials of a defunct bond and mortgage company were named in the indictments. At that time assistant state's attorneys charged that more than $400,000 was involved.

Fires 4 Shots at Wife; She Faints; He Kills Self

Fred Nagle, 45 years old, a laundry driver, lay in ambush last night in his back yard at 6812 Yale avenue and fired four shots at his wife, Katherine, when she came to the door. At the fourth shot Mrs. Nagle fell and Nagle turned the gun on himself, firing a shot into his temple, which killed him almost instantly. Mrs. Nagle arose unhurt, having fainted in fright.

Finland's Agrarian Party Votes to Keep Dry Plank

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, April 27.—As a result of certain members of the Agrarian party having publicly opposed prohibition, a party meeting today discussed the situation, declaring it desirable that the agrarian diet, group observe a homogeneous attitude and resolved by 115 votes against 44 to maintain the former prohibition platform.

FIRE DESTROYS BUILDING.

Fire started by spontaneous combustion yesterday destroyed an untenanted two story frame building at 1237 North Ashland avenue.

ROLNICK QUITS AS TAX EXPERT FOR ILLINOIS

Attorney Joseph Rolnick, who for 13 years has been an inheritance tax law expert for the attorney general's office, announced his resignation yesterday as an assistant to Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom. He will go into private practice with offices in the Foreman National Bank building. A sketch of Attorney Rolnick's career, issued by the attorney general's office, said of him:

JOSEPH ROLNICK. [Dubois Photo.]

"The number of inheritance tax cases tried by Mr. Rolnick runs in the thousands and the inheritance tax collected by the state in those cases amounts to many millions of dollars. During his thirteen years of service to the state he has handled many important inheritance tax cases before the Supreme court, as well as in the lower courts. Among the estates he had charge of were those of Marshall Field, Potter Palmer, Levi X. Leiter, Hattie Pullman, James B. Forgan, John G. Shedd, James Deering, James Patten, John R. Thompson, Levy Mayer, Gussie Rothschild, John J. Mitchell, Albert Loeb, and many other prominent Chicagoans."

Harry E. Edell, President of Improvement Group, Dies

Harry E. Edell, president of the North Irving Park Improvement association, a leader in Ald. Thomas J. Bowler's organization in the 41st ward and a resident of the northwest side for thirty years, died suddenly of a heart attack early yesterday at his home, 4576 Elston avenue. He was 60 years old. His widow, Anna, survives him. The funeral has been tentatively set for Wednesday morning.

Sonntag, Indiana Banker, Formerly of Chicago, Dies

Evansville, Ind., April 27.—[Special.]—John H. Sonntag, 64 years old, vice precident of the American Trust and Savings bank here, died this morning in Ann Arbor, Mich., hospital following an operation. He started his business career as cashier of the Old Merchants National bank here. For a time he was connected with a bond company of Chicago. He returned to Evansville eight years ago.

Seize Suspect in Police Slaying of 2 Years Ago

A suspect believed to be Steve (Red) Cygan, wanted for the murder of Sergt. John Chiska of the Cragin police station, was arrested by the police last night and was being held at the Cragin station for investigation. The prisoner said he was Stanley Wandersky, 27 years old, alias Al Schultz. Chiska was shot to death in a battle with three bandits in 1928 when he interrupted a robbery of a jewelry store.

Charles Clapham, 50 years old, a civil engineer, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself in the head in his room at 6745 Ridgeland avenue. Thomas McGeahan, a friend living in the same building, told the police that Clapham had been despondent over ill health.

ILLINOIS WOMEN WILL UNITE TO FIGHT DRY LAW

Organization of Illinois women who favor repeal of the eighteenth amendment will be started as soon as the choice of a leader can be made, it was learned yesterday. The society will be the state branch of the Woman's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, which has just concluded its first national convention in Cleveland.

Mrs. Leslie Wheeler of Lake Forest, one of four Illinois delegates attending the convention, and named by Mrs. Charles Sabin, president and organizer of the association, as a member of the national executive committee, said that conferences preliminary to such organization in Illinois would be held within a short time. Mrs. Alice C. McCormick, Mrs. Charles Cushing and Mrs. John Andrew King were the other three state representatives at Cleveland.

GEN. BARNETT OF MARINES DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. George Barnett, commandant of the marine corps from 1914 to 1920, died here late today of pneumonia.

The general, who retired in 1923, had been in ill health for some time. He died at the navy hospital.

He was 70 years of age and had served with the marines since 1881, when he graduated from the naval academy. He saw service at virtually every post held by the marines in this country, and in the Philippines, Samoa, Cuba, Porto Rico, and Peking.

He spent eighteen years on ships at sea or in foreign posts.

NO LYNCHINGS IN 43 STATES, RECORD FOR 1929

New York, April 27.—(AP)—A clean record for 43 states was shown in the eighth annual honor roll of states free from lynching made public today by the commission on race relations of the Federal Council of Churches. Although this number was the same as for 1928, there were only ten lynchings last year as against eleven the year before.

Mob executions last year were listed as follows: Florida, four; Kentucky, Tennessee, and Mississippi, one each, and Texas, three. Seven of the victims were Negroes and three were white.

The honor roll showed only five states — Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, and Vermont—that have never had a record of a lynching.

Two Gunmen Leap on Auto and Rob Realty Dealer

Two gunmen last night leaped on the running board of an automobile driven by Jacob Vitz, a realty dealer, 4312 Washington boulevard, in front of 4100 Washington boulevard, and robbed him of $140 in cash, two diamond rings, one diamond stud, and a wrist watch, all valued at $452.

JAY C. CAIRNS, ADVERTISING WRITER, DIES

Jay C. Cairns, 45 years old, a former Chicago newspaper man and advertising writer, died on Saturday night at his home at 608 West McKinley avenue, Libertyville, after an illness of a year. His death was caused by an injury received a year ago when he fell in his home, fracturing a vertebra.

Mr. Cairns was a reporter twenty years ago on the Inter Ocean and Record-Herald, and for a time was the Washington correspondent of the latter paper. He retired from newspaper work about fifteen years ago to join the old Nichols-Finn advertising agency. For a time he was employed by the McJunkin Advertising company, but for several years had been engaged in the real estate business as sales manager of the Lake County Land association in Libertyville.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Cairns; one daughter, Mary Louise, and his mother, Mrs. Nellie Cairns. His father, the late Maj. John J. Cairns, a Spanish-American war veteran, was formerly advertising passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, and Pacific railroad. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the residence, with burial at Libertyville.

SURGEONS FIGHT NEW LAW TO END GERMAN DUELS

Say Fist Is More Deadly than the Rapier.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 27.—The blows of Max Schmeling of Germany and Jack Sharkey of Boston, Mass., probably the two most outstanding contenders for the world's heavyweight boxing title, are more dangerous than rapiers, in the opinion of German college surgeons. They assert that "the gloved fist is a much deadlier weapon than that used by students in their duels."

University students themselves, and most graduate members of the students' fighting corps, are greatly disturbed by the government's renewed determination to abolish these duels and to inflict more severe penalties on those participating. An overwhelming majority of young Germans nowadays are said to prefer sports and regard duels as "silly," but still there are many who engage in secret fights in cellars and emerge proudly with slashed faces.

"Sport" Not "Combat."

The surgeons are campaigning against the new bill, which brands those participating in fatal duels as criminals, not heroes. They declare that rapiers are not deadly if the fighters are bandaged and the usual precautionary measures are taken.

Duels, they argue, are "sport fights," not "combats." They claim that rapier injuries are less dangerous than those from the fist in boxing and base their argument on the comparison of the number of deaths and lasting injuries. Deaths from duels are generally indirect, caused by blood poisoning or after hemorrhages, while deaths from boxing are generally direct, due to shock and fractured skulls, the surgeons declare.

The law makers are warned by the doctors that they must prohibit boxing simultaneously with duelling, or else be open to the reproach of taking special legislation against the students.

"All Sports Are Dangerous."

"Boxing is just as much of a duel as fighting with rapiers," the doctors declare. "But no government wishes to make itself ridiculous by prohibiting boxing, since every manly sport is linked with danger. This is true of mountaineering, swimming, riding and football, which are undoubtedly more dangerous than student duels."

In their final kick against boxing, the surgeons' manifesto declares that today sport is only for creating a sensation and money making, whereas no similar material benefits may be derived from student duels "whose sole aim is to test and steel courage." Student duels have long been barred in Germany by law.

SHOT IN LEG; HELD BY POLICE.

Wounded in the left leg yesterday, John Rania, 30 years old, a Negro, of 1537 Carroll avenue, told Des Plaines street police at the Bridewell hospital that he had been shot as he stepped into his back yard from an alley. He was held for investigation.

AUSTRIA PREMIER SEEKS TO SCRAP ARMY OF 30,000

Will Visit London, Paris to Get Support.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, April 27.—Having made peace with Italy in a manner to cause a great deal of worry in certain European capitals, which are not too friendly with Rome, and having brought Australia still a step nearer to the ultimate union with Germany by negotiating a new commercial treaty with Berlin, Chancellor Johann Schober left Vienna for Paris this afternoon. He plans to acquaint France and Great Britain with the new political developments, tending to give Austria the key position in the central European jig-saw puzzle.

His Task in Paris.

The chancellor will confer with Premier Andre Tardieu and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand. He will leave Paris Thursday for London for conversations with Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson.

That Paris desires certain explanations of recent events in Austria has been known for some time, and Chancellor Schober's chief task will be to convince the French that Vienna's latest flirtations with Rome and Berlin do not constitute a threat to the little entente nations and to the peace of central Europe.

France is reported to have been uneasy ever since Chancellor Schober's visit to Rome, and only the last week France made unofficial representations against the decision of Austria to construct a government highway connecting Graz, in Styria, with Klagenfurt, in Carinthia.

The French pointed out that such a road would be strategically located in case of another war between Italy and Jugo-Slavia, which the Italians could use as a short cut into Jugo-Slavian territory. It is significant that the final decision to build the road came immediately after Herr Schober's visit to Premier Mussolini.

Wants to Scrap Army.

One of the chancellor's tasks in Paris will be to explain to the French that Austria has two unofficial armies—the Schutzbund and the Fascist Heimwehr—now well tamed by the government and no longer constituting a violation of the peace treatries, which limit Austria to an army of 30,000 troops.

The chancellor will also ask France's support for abolishing the small paid army and for the substitution of a conscript force, under the system used by Switzerland. Despite its tiny size, the Austrian army is a heavy drain on the country's already precarious budget, and since the danger of the resurrection of Austrian militarism in so small a state is now out of the question Chancellor Schober is anxious to receive the allied support for changing the peace treaty's military provisions.

Census Reveals Negress in New Jersey 128 Years Old

Newark, N. J., April 27.—(AP)—Sarah Johnson, a former slave, now living with her daughter here, is longevity champion—for this section, at least. Census enumerators said the aged Negress told them she was 128 years old, and remembers being sold as a slave at Buckingham courthouse, Virginia. Although withered and bent with what she said was "rheumatiz," she said she felt "right pert 'ceptin' when I gits to ailin'."

MOSCOW CLAIMS WARSAW BOMBING ANTI-SOVIET PLOT

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, April 27. — "Horrible Provocation" is the headline in the Pravda over an article about the abortive attempt to bomb the soviet embassy in Warsaw. The Pravda believes it was an attempt by a Polish monarchist faction or a group of militarist adventurers to stir up trouble between Poland and Russia, and regards it as proof of M. Domsky's statements in connection with his warning to his fellow Poles about the existence of groups in Poland who want to attack Russia.

The same "we told you so" attitude is evident in the Komsomolsky Pravda, the young communists' paper, but it is more fiery and hints that action is needed.

Izvestia, the official organ of the soviet government, says in an editorial that the plan to industrialize the country has been an "enormous success" and crows over views expressed in the foreign press that it would be impossible to effect the plan without the aid of foreign capital. Industrializing of the country has made an "enormous stride" in the last six months, the Izvestia continues.

CRIPPLE LIFTS CAR TO SAVE PINIONED MAN

For nearly half his life, Virgil Thomas, 60 years old, had been a cripple and considered almost helpless by his friends. Having lost both legs above the knee in an accident 26 years ago, he had since hobbled around on artificial limbs with the aid of two canes.

The cripple's best friend was John Beaver, a furniture dealer residing at 4926 West Chicago avenue, who for ten years had given Thomas a home.

Yesterday the furniture dealer's brother, Fred Beaver, a mechanic of 1010 West Jackson boulevard, came over to fix Beaver's car. He was working underneath, tugging at the crank case when the jacks collapsed and the axle fell clamping Beaver's head to the floor.

Beaver called feebly for help. None was near except the crippled Thomas, who crawled under the car to save his benefactor's brother.

Years of carrying his weight with the canes had given Thomas great strength in his arms and shoulders. He raised his shoulders against the frame and with a heave lifted the axle off Beaver's head. The mechanic wriggled free. They took him to St. Anne's hospital. The doctors said he had suffered a brain concussion, but would recover.

WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO MISHAP.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 27.—[Special.]—Miss Margaret Sager, 24, of Ann Arbor, was killed and H. S. Moran, also of this place, received a broken arm in an automobile accident here early this morning.

G. K. Chesterton has said: "There is an idea that it is humiliating to run after one's hat; and when people say it is humiliating they mean that it is comic. It certainly is comic; but man is a very comic creature. And the most comic things of all are exactly the things that are most worth doing—such as making love. A man running after his hat is not half so ridiculous as a man running after a wife."

G. K. C. is a skeptic!

The season for chasing old hats is about over; the proper stunt is to chase a new hat.

And the sort of Spring hats to be found in our store are worth chasing even when blown off!

Spring hats start at $5.

This little rack has a mighty interesting story to tell you

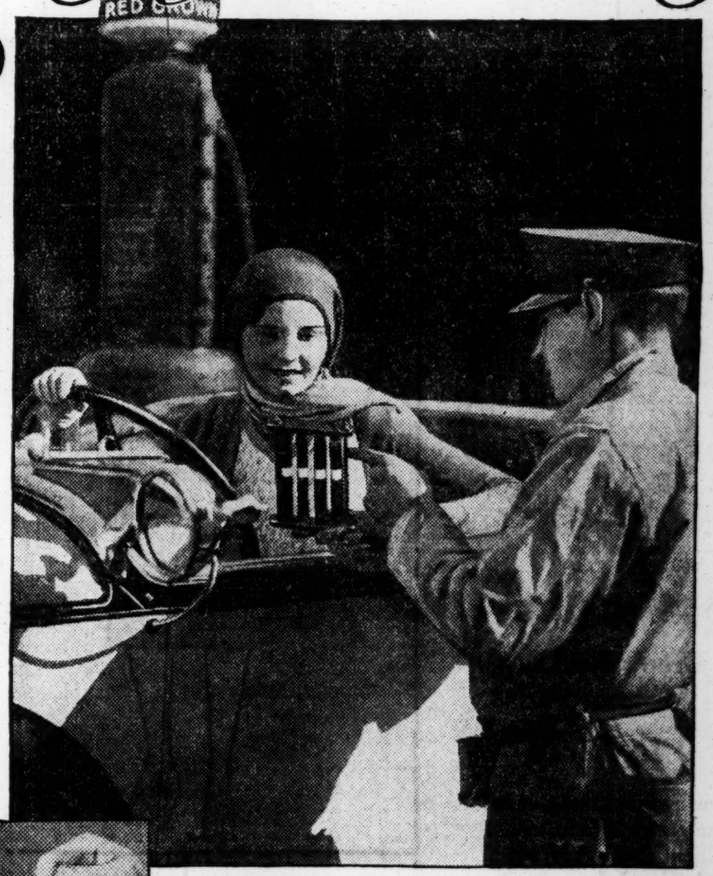
Right before your eyes is a simple demonstration proving that New Iso-Vis does not thin out. Ask to see the Ball and Bottle Test at any Standard Oil Service Station



THAT NEW ISO-VIS MOTOR OIL does not thin out in your crankcase is almost unbelievable. Yet it is a fact that now has been demonstrated by literally thousands of road tests. You can see the results of such a test at any Standard Oil Service Station.

In each of four small bottles of oil is placed a tiny metal ball. The speed with which these balls drop to the bottom of the bottles shows you the heaviness of the various oils. If an oil is thinned out, the ball falls more quickly.

This test enables you to compare New Iso-Vis that has gone more than the average mileage with fresh New Iso-Vis. You can also compare used New Iso-Vis with other kinds of used oil. New Iso-Vis is the only motor oil that will not thin out.

Because it always maintains its body, New Iso-Vis gives better protection to every moving part of your engine . . . and cuts down wear and repair bills.

Comparison tests with other oils show that New Iso-Vis makes a big reduction in carbon formation—actually 50% less than the average carbon deposited by various better-grade oils.

THIS micrometer reported no appreciable wear in an engine that was protected by New Iso-Vis on a test run of 9,000 miles. And wear on your engine is of course the final test of any oil.

This new type oil has a wider temperature range. It lubricates at higher heat than it is possible to reach in your motor—yet works effectively in cold weather.

The combination of these important qualities in New Iso-Vis results from a new system of refining. Never before has one oil rated so high on so many important points—points that are vital to the long life of the modern high compression engine. You will find this improved new motor oil at all Standard Oil service stations and dealers.

HERE, an engineer is making one of many tests proving that New Iso-Vis lessens carbon formation.

New ISO-VIS 30¢ a quart Motor Oil

The New Polarine also is produced by our new refining processes—giving it a degree of lubricating efficiency which we believe is exceeded only by the New Iso-Vis. The price is 25¢ a quart.

Probable pitchers today—Root for Cubs; Kremer for Pirates.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Guy Bush, the only Cub pitcher to register a triumph in the late world series, continues to be slightly behind in his spring training work. He proved it yesterday to some 30,000 folks by letting the mauling Pirates chase him and register a 9 to 5 victory over the champions.

GUY BUSH.

Bush was bad, but not alone in his misery. His mates tried to console him, both by their attack and their defense. At bat they were so weak in the pinches that they had fourteen runners left on the bases. And the work afield was so distressing that the 30,000 who sat through a steady drizzle wondered what had happened to Gabby Hartnett's revived arm, to Hack Wilson's skill as a fly chaser and to Dan Taylor, who had been pictured as a recruit of consequence. Briefly speaking, the titleholders spent a tough afternoon.

Succeed in Routing French.

The one worthy deed accomplished by the champs was the removal of Larry Lefty French, who seemed to be leading a charmed life. In the first five innings they filled the bases twice. Once they had two on. In another they made three hits. All this without a run. But when they filled 'em up again in the sixth and scored three times, a relief expedition was made ready, and it came in the seventh in the form of Swetonic. He stopped everybody barring Cliff Heathcote, who batted for the pitcher in the ninth and hit a homer with a mate on base.

Bush surrendered his pitching job to several other hurling mates after two had scored in the fourth. By that time the Pirates were in possession of six runs and ten hits. They also had enjoyed the spectacle of seeing Bush knocked sprawling by French in the second round. This was in violation of the unwritten law that says one pitcher never will dust off another. French, however, figured he was justified because of the manner in which Bush had tried to use Suhr's head for a ball's eye.

Pirates Score at Start.

Bush encountered considerable trouble in the first inning but yielded only one run. After Flagstead had been disposed of, Grantham walked and P. Waner singled to center. Comorosky aimed a single between Grimm and Beck, sending Grantham home and Waner to third. A wild pitch let Comorosky go to second, whereupon Bush decided to walk Suhr, filling the corners. Bush then whipped a fast ball for a third strike that Bartell didn't see, and Engle bounced gently to Beck.

McCarthy's men didn't get any runs in the opening inning but were within a couple of feet of having several. A pass to English started the session. Blair fanned and Cuyler walked. Then Wilson drove one fearfully high and also fearfully deep, but it came down just inside the right center field fence and P. Waner grabbed it. English went to third after the catch. Cuyler stole second, but the round closed a moment later when French knocked down a hard

He'll Show You

Rogers Hornsby, who led the Cubs in batting last year with a mark of .380, will be the chief of The Tribune's baseball instructors next Saturday at Wrigley field.

Hornsby Tells How to Field Hot Grounders

This is the first of a series of lessons on hitting and fielding written for The Tribune by Rogers Hornsby. He will give a personal demonstration Saturday morning at Wrigley field.

BY ROGERS HORNSBY.

What I think is of the greatest importance for a youth who thinks he wants to become a ball player is to have a real love for the game. By this I mean a desire to play it morning, noon, or night, to the exclusion of everything else. That is what I did, and I feel sure I would have been far less successful had I gone at it in a halfhearted manner. Even today, after 16 years in the majors, I still have that same desire to play all the time.

As an example of what it means for a youngster to give all time possible to baseball I can cite a few instances in my own career. When I first started to play regular games around Fort Worth, Tex., I was only eleven years old. My glove was always with me. More than once I played three full games in one day, each game with a different team. We'd play one in the morning and two in the afternoon. A strenuous program such as that undoubtedly hurried my arrival in the majors.

Last week Gabby Hartnett mentioned "centering" of the ball as one of the important things a young catcher should watch. The same holds good for any position, whether it is in the infield or outfield. What it means is to get the body directly in front of any ball coming toward you. Infielders call it "straddling" the ball.

You probably have noticed infielders assume a half crouch position, with feet well apart, when a ball is pitched to the batter. In this way they are able to spring to either side the instant the ball is hit. The first thought with the fielder is to get in front of the ball if possible. If that can't be done he will try to make the play by reaching out with his gloved hand. One handed plays always are hazardous. They look good to the spectator, but it is bad baseball to attempt them when the fielder is in such position as to make both hands available.

Playing a ground ball is something that can be mastered only by constant

TWO BOY GOLFERS START TRIBUNE CLASSES TODAY

Weager and Williams Are Their Teachers.

Two of the four school boys in THE TRIBUNE'S novice golf contest who will be given a month of free instruction in the game by four of Chicago's best teachers will begin learning the game this afternoon. The other two will start tomorrow.

These four boys won't be the only ones to benefit from the course of instruction, however, as each day THE TRIBUNE will publish an account of what these lads were taught on the preceding day. In effect it will be a complete course in lessons for the novice golfer.

Others Can Learn, Too.

It has a further advantage in that it won't be one professional's methods, but the gist of what four men who rank as first class teachers tell their pupils. Those boys who entered the contest but were unlucky in the draw can get a plentiful knowledge of golf from reading the articles, while it will be a full course of instruction to everybody who doesn't get under 100 consistently.

Herbert Brin, the 15 year old student of Crane High school, will report to Jimmy Weager at the Edgewater club this afternoon and Tom Milne, also 15 years old and a student of Lake View High school, will start his lessons from Frank Williams at Skokie. Tomorrow Howard Rich, 16 years old, from the Hyde Park High school, will begin to learn the game from Alec Cunningham at North Shore and Randal Granquist, 16 year old Lane High school lad, will start swinging a club under the tutelage of George Knox at Calumet.

To Be Given Clubs.

Each youngster will be given a set of golf clubs and be given two lessons each week for four weeks. On days when they aren't taking lessons they will be given a chance to practice at the Mid-City course without cost to them. On Saturday morning, May 24, the four will play each other in an 18 hole competition.

The month's course will be a test to see just how far a boy can progress in golf in a month. None of these boys has ever played golf, so they will start from scratch. Not only will it be a course of golf lessons to the boys and readers of THE TRIBUNE, but it will be the first test to find out how well a boy in the teen age years, when muscles are pliable, can play after only a month at the game.

Naturally, golf takes years to learn, not a month, so the scores of these boys aren't likely to be startling, even after their lessons. Yet many men have difficulty getting under 100 after years of playing and it is possible one of these boys may do it in four weeks.

LATEST MISHAP OF OLD GIBBONS MAY BE HIS LAST

"Track Drunk," Clockers Say as Sprinter Falls.

BY FRENCH LANE.

"Gibbons fell while pulling up, but didn't seem to be hurt."

The comment was made by the clockers Saturday after the 9 year old son of Peter Quince-Winnie G. galloped three-quarters of a mile in 1:15, the fastest training move of the spring over the Aurora course.

Gibbons may beat fleet sprinters before the season ends. Yet the fall at the finish of his training gallop may end his racing career.

And if Gibbons is through as a race horse it will be just another tragedy in the old gelding's life.

Has Many Mishaps.

Ever since his yearling trials back in 1922, Gibbons, one of the fastest horses in America, has met up with one mishap after another. It was a case of a big heart, an ability to run fast, but with legs beneath him which were too weak to carry him on to greatness

The silks of J. Cal Milam of Kentucky were the first Gibbons sported back in 1923 on Oct. 11 when he got to the races. He had displayed unusual speed in workouts, and when he went to the post that day at Latonia he was the even money favorite. He was beaten a head by Sizzle.

In his next start, after exceptional speed trials, Gibbons was a 3 to 5 choice and the crowd groaned as he finished out of the money.

From that day until his fall at Aurora Saturday, Gibbons has been a horse always expected to win, but which brought one disappointment after another.

Sets Track Record.

Only once in his seven years of campaigning has Gibbons delivered the great performance expected of him. That was at Hawthorne on Aug. 18, 1925, when racing in Chicago was hanging on in an attempted comeback. He faced the great sprinters of the day. He broke in front and stayed there. He ran three-quarters in 1:10 2-5, a mark which will stand for many years at Hawthorne.

A few days later at Hawthorne Gibbons cost his public the largest chunk of money it ever lost on him in one afternoon. He was dropped in with what appeared to be mediocre sprinters. He was made the prohibitive odds on favorite. But he was beaten by Postillion, a 20 to 1 shot. Herbert G. Schimp, the Chicago owner of Postillion, won $150,000 on the race. When Gibbons failed he broke the late Nick Frosley, the plunging bookmaker of that time. Nick lost $200,000 on the race.

"Track Drunk," Clockers Say.

From J. Cal Milam, Gibbons passed into the hands of Frank Croissant of Chicago in the Kentucky Cardinal Derby deal. Later he drifted into the hands of Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake's Sanola stock farm stable, since banned from the turf. Still later he turned up in the stable of Emil Denemark. Then he became the property of Mrs. L. Meripol, whose husband held the watch on him at Aurora yesterday when Gibbons trained in brilliant fashion, only to fall at the close of the rehearsal.

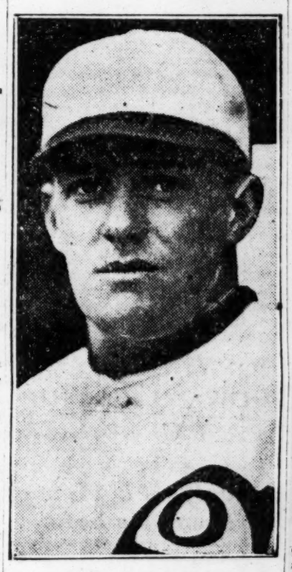
A million dollars has perhaps been lost on old Gibbons during his racing career. But his public never deserts him. If he starts often enough this season another million may go up in smoke. But when he staggered and went down Saturday the railbirds shook their heads.

"Track drunk," one of them remarked. Punch drunk they would call it if Gibbons was a box fighter.

Purple Tennis Squad Meets Maroons Today

Northwestern's tennis team opens its conference season this afternoon at Evanston in a match with the University of Chicago.

Injured



Tommy Thomas held St. Louis runless for six innings yesterday, allowing only two hits. He retired for McKain after straining his elbow, but Hal carried on.

Women's Pin Record Is Set by Chicagoan

Another Record?

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 27.—(AP)—In contrast to the high team records, what is believed to be a world low record for individual score in tournament play was set by a Miss Foley, member of a Louisville booster team, here today. She knocked down nine pins in a single game.

It was her first attempt at bowling. She went eight frames without scoring, showed marked improvement by clipping off one in the ninth frame, then wound up in a whirling finish by smacking over eight on the last roll.

Louisville, Ky., April 27.—[Special.]—Members of the Finucane bowling team of Chicago took first place today in every division of the minor events competition in the Women's International Bowling congress tournament.

Fifteen cities, including Louisville, Chicago, Piqua, O., Indianapolis, Terra Haute, Columbus, O., Akron, O., Belleville, Ill., Fort Wayne, Evansville, Springfield, Ill., Sandusky, O., St. Joseph, Mich., Detroit, and Racine, Wis., were represented in the day's competition.

Mrs. Selva Twyford hung up a new world's mark of 1,727 to take first place in the all events. Before beginning her minor games, she got off to a start of 594 in the team event Saturday night. She had games of 169, 213 and 214.

One hundred and forty-five pins was the best Mrs. Twyford could do in her first game in the doubles, but she more than made up for this poor start in her second effort by getting a count of 233, and then wound up with 191, to total 569. She continued in consistent form in the singles with scores of 183, 169, and 212—total 564.

Mrs. Helen Foell, captain of the Finucane five, and Mrs. Twyford took first place in the doubles with a score of 1,035. The former had but 466 pins. Mrs. Foell found her real form in the singles with games of 207, 200 and 186, to take the lead with a count of 593.

The former all events record for the congress was held by Mrs. Emma Jaeger of Toledo, O., with a nine game count of 1,713.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 27.—Tommy Thomas and Hal McKain were superlative stars this afternoon in as fine and unusual a ball game as you will see in a dozen seasons. The Sox won, 2 to 1.

BUD CLANCY.

Tommy's contribution was a near-perfect performance in which he held the Browns helpless for six innings, only to be retired with an injured elbow. McKain reached the heights in the eighth when, with one run in, one out and the bases full, the tying run on third and the winning run on second, he struck out Sammy Hale and Morris Badgro.

A modern baseball record was set in the game. Bud Clancy did not have a putout at first base. This never happened before in the history of the major leagues as now organized. The records show only one other instance of a first baseman playing through a regulation game with no putouts. A. B. McCauley did it in 1891 while playing for the Washington club in the old association.

Tommy Allows 2 Hits.

Thomas allowed only two hits, one by Kress in the fifth and one by Ferrell in the sixth. With a ball and two strikes on Badgro in the seventh Thomas strained his elbow. McKain went in and threw the other strike past Badgro and then fanned Kress and Schulte.

The first hit off Thomas, Kress' double, was a bona fide smack to center which was well handled on the bounce by Reynolds. Schulte followed with a fly to Moore. On the next play Tommy got a measure of revenge on Kress for breaking his hitless chain. Melillo grounded to Tommy who ran over to the third base line and tagged Kress. Gullic forced Melillo, Smith to Cissell.

Ferrell led off the sixth with the second and last hit off Thomas, a ripping single off Cissell's shins. He never got any farther, for Gray fanned, Blue flied to Reynolds, and O'Rourke flied to Moore.

As you've been told, McKain went in to strike out the side in the seventh, but things weren't so systematic in the eighth, when it looked like the goings on were destined to raise the Brownies' winning streak to six straight.

Cissell Helps Bud's Record.

In the eighth Cissell threw the game into a panic with an error. But as things turned out it was just as well, drive by Dan Taylor and threw him out.

The trials and tribulations of Bush in the second, when three Pirates scored, began with Hargreaves doubling to left. French sacrificed. Flagstead rammed the ball into the left field corner for two bases, Hargreaves scoring. Grantham smashed a double to the end of the bleacher in left center. Flagstead romping home. P. Waner flied out, and Comorosky followed with a liner straight into center. Hack first decided he'd take it on the first bounce. Then he decided he would catch it, or at least make the attempt. It eluded him for a two bagger, Grantham scoring. Suhr, after being knocked down several times by Bush, ended the session with a grounder to Beck.

The Cub second was another of blasted opportunities. The situation was so promising that McCarthy decided to employ Rogers Hornsby's bat, but even this failed. With one out, Hartnett was safe on Grantham's fumble. French threw so many bean balls at Bush that the Cub hurler was rewarded with a walk. Then English walked to fill the sacks. This was the spot into which Hornsby was thrown. He tapped meekly to French, and the inning was over.

Cubs Helpless in Third.

The champions were even more helpless in the third. The first three batters reached base, but nobody was able to sneak home. Cuyler led off with a single. Hack Wilson also singled and a pass to Taylor populated the bases. Grimm then bounced to French, and a double play followed by way of the plate. The inning ended when Engle tossed out Hartnett.

A great throw to third from deep right by Cuyler kept the Pirates from doing anything in the third, but they made up for it in the fourth with a pair of tallies which were sufficiently impressive to make Bush quit his job. Flagstead sent a homer into the left field bleacher. Next was Grantham's fly to center. Hack let it trickle through his hands, Grantham pulling up at second. A double by Comorosky let Grantham score and also relieved Bush of further responsibility. Nelson closed the inning without further excitement.

Nelson's Support Faulty.

Two Pirates scored in the sixth, but Nelson wasn't to blame for this. He struck out Flagstead and Grantham before anything happened. P. Waner singled to center, stole second and continued to third on a bad peg by Hartnett. Comorosky had made so many hits that it was figured good strategy to walk him. Then Suhr drove one to left, and D. Taylor had such difficulty capturing the ball that the runner reached third. Meanwhile, Waner and Comorosky had hiked over the plate.

The services of nine batters were needed to fetch home the three runs for the champions in the home sixth. Hartnett opened the attack with a single. Beck also hit one safely, Gabby going to third. Zack Taylor batted for Nelson and gave the ball a great ride to left, but Comorosky leaped up and speared it with his gloved hand. Gabby scored on the play. Then English singled, and so did Bell, scoring Beck. A fly ball set down Cuyler. A pass for Hack filled the bases, and when D. Taylor waked, English was forced to score. A pop foul off Grimm's bat ended the rally.

The Pirates popped up with another run in the eighth while Osborn was pitching. P. Waner punctured center with a Texas league single and dashed to third on Comorosky's one base drive to left. Wilson dashed back to the fence for Suhr's fly, and P. Waner scored after the catch. Bartell then doubled Comorosky to third, but Osborn managed to nail the next batter. The only items after this were Beck's single with two gone in the ninth and Heathcote's homer.

SPEEDBOATS TO RACE JULY 3 TO 5 AT MADISON, IND.

Officers and representatives of twenty-six yacht clubs met at the Motor Boat show on the Navy pier yesterday and selected Madison, Ind., as the site for the 24th annual Mississippi Valley Power Boat association's regatta. Strong bids for the honor of holding the three day race event, scheduled for July 3, 4, and 5, were made by representatives from Louisville and Cincinnati.

A crowd of more than 30,000 people passed through the exposition on the third day, according to Hubbard H. Erickson, manager.

Turf Kings Go After $25,000 Stake Today

Baltimore, Md., April 27.—[Special.]—The $25,000 Dixie handicap will be run tomorrow at Pimlico. It will give the older horses their first shot of the new season at big money, and the field is a strong one.

Diavolo won the fixture a year ago for the Wheatley stable, and so began what turned out to be a brilliant sequence of victories which included the Saratoga handicap, Saratoga cup, Jockey club gold cup, and Pimlico cup for earnings of $87,190.

Toro Gets Top Weight.

He finished a head in front of Victorian, now in the golden circle of $200,000 winners by his triumph in the Agua Caliente handicap of $100,000 last month. Neither of these stars will be in action tomorrow, but even without them the race promises to be bitterly contested.

Nineteen horses are named to go after the rich prize over one mile and three-sixteenths, including Toro, top weight under 126 pounds; Mike Hall, the famous gelding which made a sporting invasion of England last season and which last week moved into the silver circle of horses winning $100,000 or over; Beacon Hill, the hope of H. P. Whitney; Sandy Ford, which beat Desert Light last Wednesday at Jamaica, and A. C. Schwartz's Sortie, which is making a comeback after being retired last year when suffering from a leg ailment.

Frisius Works Well.

Jimmy Fitzsimmons is hoping that Frisius or Flag Day will make up for the absence of Diavolo and Distraction. The first named worked a mile in 1.41 since his first outing here, and is ready.

practice. The logical way is to get in front of the ball, if possible, and then always take it on the big hop. The short hop should be attempted only when you are trying to beat a speedy runner, who will beat the ball to the bag if you wait for the long bounce.

In fielding a ground ball on which you have time to get yourself in position it is well to let the gloved hand absorb most of the shock. A ball going squarely into a glove is far easier to hold. You have seen this demonstrated time and again when an infielder jumps up and stabs a drive with his mitt. If the ball lands in the middle of the glove it will stick nine times out of ten.

LARGE GALLERY WATCHES DERBY HOPES WORK OUT

Louisville, Ky., April 27.—[Special.]—Sunday morning gallops drew one of the largest galleries of the present training period. More than 2,000 were hanging on the rails or in the grand stand when Trainer Dick Vestal brought out the Three D's stable's Derby candidates, Broadway Limited and Kilkerry.

The colts broke at the three-eighths pole. Broadway Limited was wearing blinkers. Kilkerry, the big colt by Black Toney, led the Man o' War colt a good pace for one mile and an eighth in 1:56. At this juncture Kilkerry dropped out and Broadway Limited galloped out the mile and one-quarter, the Derby distance, in 2:10 2-5.

Tommy White, Ignacio Ara Fight Ten Rounds to Draw

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, April 27.—(AP)—Tommy White, American boxer, and Ignacio Ara fought 10 rounds to a draw in the Mexico City bull ring this afternoon. White excelled Ara in fighting, but the latter put up a clever defense.

Rios, Evans Meet Tonight at White City

Tonight's Card

Tommy Rios, Chicago, vs. Jimmy Evans, Seattle, 8 rounds; 152 pounds.

Edgar Norman, Norway, vs. Tuffy O'Dowd, Idaho, 8 rounds; 175 pounds.

Jimmy Gibbons, St. Paul, vs. K. O. Kitts, Youngstown, 6 rounds; heavyweights.

Rommy Kluth, Chicago vs. George Kerwin, Chicago, 6 rounds; 145 pounds.

Andy Shank, Grand Rapids, vs. Art Malay, Chicago, 4 rounds; heavyweights.

Phil Ross, Chicago, vs. Paul Schiffer, Chicago, 4 rounds; 148 pounds.

Jimmy Brock, Chicago, vs. Harry Kid Roberts, Chicago, 4 rounds; 143 pounds.

Whether Tommy Rios, the South Chicago Mexican, is only a flash as a result of his recent victory over Ted Goodrich of Atlanta, or whether he is an up and coming fighter, will be decided tonight at White City when he meets Jimmy Evans of Seattle in the top half of the double windup. The other half features Edgar Norman, pride of the Norwegians, and Tuffy O'Dowd of Idaho, who in his last fight here came from behind to beat Mickey Patrick of East Chicago.

Norman and O'Dowd will replace Baxter Calmes of Wichita and Mike Dundee of St. Paul, due to an injury suffered by the Kansan just before leaving for Chicago. Each of these two bouts will go ten rounds or less.

In his training at Barry's gymnasium, Evans has satisfied the fans that he is all that is claimed for him as a puncher. With the known tendency of Rios to go in and slug, the fight is expected to produce plenty of hard hitting.

Norman had made a reputation as a puncher, while O'Dowd came here unheralded and beat Mickey Patrick after getting away to a slow start. He took all that Patrick gave him and, as the East Chicago boy is considered as hard a hitter as Norman, it appears the latter will have a hard fight tonight.

FIGHTERS PLAN LAST DRILLS FOR STADIUM BOUTS

Fighters on Wednesday's card at the Stadium will wind up their workouts in loop gymnasiums tomorrow. Stanislaus Loayza, Chilean lightweight, was the last of the fighters to report. Loayza meets Joey Medill, Chicago challenger, in the ten round semi-windup to the Tuffy Griffith-Jack Gagnon bout. Loayza is regarded as one of the most popular members of the Mandell division.

Medill has been drilling daily at the Barry gymnasium and is considered by Art Winch, his trainer, to be in the best shape of his career. His last two starts have resulted in victories.

Griffith has been boxing with two sparring partners at the Arcade, while Gagnon has been working his work at Barry's. Gagnon and Griffith will box today.

Clancy Sets Record with No Putouts.

for if Bill hadn't booted one, Clancy wouldn't have got his name in the all time record book. Melillo opened with a grounder to Cissell, who kicked it. Gullic singled to center and Melillo went to third. Ferrell singled to right, scoring Melillo and putting Gullic on third with the tying run and none out. Manush batted for Gray and sent a foul fly to Cissell. Gullic was held on third but Ferrell went to second after the catch. Blue was given in intentional pass, filling the bases. Hale batted for O'Rourke and struck out after a three and two count. Badgro also fanned.

The Browns also had men on second and first with one out in the ninth, but Gullic popped to Smith and Kimsey ended the game with a fly to Reynolds.

Now let's go back to the calm of the early innings:

Sox Score Again.

There were no real scoring threats until one was out in the third, although the Sox got two men on in the first without getting the ball out of the infield when Clancy got on through an error and Jolley singled off Gray's glove. In the third, however, after Melillo had thrown out Cissell, Reynolds drove the ball into the far distant left field stand, for the second Sox homer of the year. Clancy popped to Melillo, but Jolley got credit for a second infield hit, a slow roller to O'Rourke. The inning ended when Kamm popped to Kress.

The Sox got their second run in the fifth. With one out, Cissell shot a double over third, paused while Reynolds fanned, and ran home when Clancy singled to center. Jolley walked, but Kamm grounded out to Kress.

Daily Fee Courses Outline Plans for Tournaments

Chicago golfers who pay for their game as they play, won't lack for tournament competition this year. In addition to the dozen or so public parks tournaments which are held annually, the Daily Fee Golf association has arranged a schedule of tournaments, which will keep the daily fee golfers busy.

The opening event will be club class championships at all of the member clubs. The qualifying round will extend through the week from May 18 to 25, 36 holes from scratch. Players will qualify in three flights, but to circumvent the "pot-hunter" who qualifies in a lower flight than he belongs in order to make sure of winning, they have devised a unique arrangement.

Instead of taking the first sixteen as the first flight, the second sixteen as the second flight and so on, the field will be divided into three equal groups after all the scores are in and graded according to total. The top sixteen in each group will qualify for the match play. Match play in these tournaments will be at 18 holes on succeeding Sundays, the final and semi-finals being 36 holes.

Amateur-professional foursome, partners to be drawn by lot, will be held on Mondays in July, starting with the qualifying round at Laramie, July 14. This is 18 holes, eight pairs to qualify. The match play rounds will be held on the following Mondays at Golfmoor, Mid-City, and Glendale.

Another amateur-professional foursome, limited to players over 40 years old, partners to be drawn by lot, will be staged at Pipe o' Peace, Aug. 25.

On Sept. 14 the playoff of club class champions will be held, open to the winners and runners-up in each club. The class A event will be held at Our Country club, class B at Hickory Hills, and class C at Cog Hill. This is 18 holes medal play.

These are the major tournaments for men, but women's and mixed events will be held on all the courses every Monday.

Ultra-Violet Ray Treatment
Under the Mercury Quartz Lamp, $1.50

This Ultra-Violet Ray Treatment, however, is only a part of our complete Scientific Treatment. For cases of "oily hair" it is sometimes used by itself. For dry, tight scalps, brittle falling hair, itching or baldness, the Ultra-Violet treatment is followed by vibratory and hand massage to loosen the scalp and increase circulation; by the gentle application of high-frequency current to electrify and tone the muscles and tissues, and whatever is found of ointments, or stimulating and nourishing mendicants. These are applied to the scalp (not the hair) and gently warmed into it by the rays from the Infra Red Lamp.

THIS COMPLETE SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT attacks the disorders of the scalp from every angle, and leaves it all aglow with increased circulation, soft, pliable, free from dryness and tightness, and a wonderful feeling of increased vitality. This complete treatment, including the Ultra-Violet Ray, is..... $3.50

PRO BASKETBALL LEAGUE TO HAVE TWO DIVISIONS

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 27.—(AP)—The American Professional Basketball league was plit into an eastern and a western division at a meeting held here today. The two divisions will play independently of each other during the season, with a play-off series at the end to determine the champion.

Either six or eight cities will be represented in each section. Fort Wayne, Chicago, Cleveland, and probably Rochester of last year's league will form the nucleus of the western division.

The conferees adopted a rookie rule calling for two rookies to be in the game at all times. Another meeting will be held in Chicago on May 24.

RED SOX, 8; YANKEES, 7.

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Nineteen hits, together with home runs by Earl Webb and Russell Scarritt, enabled the Red Sox to defeat the Yankees today, 8 to 7. Babe Ruth's second homer of the season with two on in the ninth just failed to tie the score. A quartet of Yankee pitchers was hit hard. The Yankees could do little with the offerings of Jack Russell until the eighth and ninth. Score:

ROSENBLOOM TO BOX JOHNSON AT MADISON SQUARE

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Madison Square Garden's reopening card Wednesday offers a return meeting between Maxey Rosenbloom of Harlem and Larry Johnson, Chicago Negro light heavyweight puncher, as a feature attraction. Johnson gave Rosenbloom an even battle in their first meeting, but was disqualified in the sixth round on a foul.

Amateur Boxing

Some of the leading amateur boxers will be seen Wednesday night at the Lawndale gymnasium. Chancy Crain, Golden Glove lightweight champion, will meet Earl Watson, also a Golden Glove champion, at 135 pounds. There will be eight bouts.

Becker Sounds Last Call for Wren Boxes

BY BOB BECKER.

It's time to sound the last call for bird boxes, because during these last days of April and early in May thousands of birds which will spend the summer in this section are due to make their first appearance. Even that popular favorite, the house wren, is scheduled to show up within a few days. If you want to land a pair of these merry songsters, better have nesting boxes in position by the time they arrive.

Wren nesting boxes should be approximately 5x5x7 inches. The entrance hole should be just the size of a silver quarter and placed two to six inches above the floor. Never mind about a perch before the entrance hole. One is not necessary. They look good and undoubtedly add to the attractive appearance of a bird house, but a perch is just an invitation to sparrows. They will light in front of an entrance and annoy the birds inside. So leave all perches off your wren and bluebird boxes.

A factor to keep in mind when you locate your wren nesting boxes is the direction that each should face. The recommendation is to face the boxes toward the south. The plan is to get the entrances of the nesting boxes away from the sweep of cold rains and winds. Around Chicago we get most of our cold, raw winds and rainstorms from the east and northeast. By placing boxes to the south the nesting birds will avoid the worst of these storms.

The average arrival date of the house wren is about May 2 or May 3. A warm spring brings this peppery bird into Chicagoland ahead of these dates. On the other hand, the wren does not come some years until after the 3d.

Already several of our most interesting bird neighbors have checked in ahead of the wren. For example, the mourning dove is here to broadcast his plaintive notes through the spring woods. We hear several each morning around our house. But excellent is the sad mourning dove in song recitals is the brown thrasher. This marvelous singer is literally pouring out his music these spring mornings.

EAST, WEST TIED IN COMPARISON OF TRACK MARKS

Penn and Drake Divide in 16 Events.

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Track experts, now in the midst of their annual task of comparing times and distances in the Drake and Penn relays, will have a difficult time coming to any definite conclusions this year.

A tabulation of the 17 events in which there was a basis for comparison between the two big meets which ended yesterday developed an edge for the Penn relays in eight events and in eight for the Drake relays. The other event was a standoff.

In general, the advantage in the track events lay with the boys at Philadelphia while competitors at Des Moines held the edge in the field tests.

Standoff in Century.

The standoff came in the 100 yard dash, where George Simpson, Ohio State flyer, equaled the world's listed record of 9 3-5, to win at Philadelphia, while Cy Leland of Texas Christian, was beating Claude Bracey of Rice in the same time at Des Moines.

Better times or distances were recorded in the Penn relays in the two mile, four mile, sprint medley, half mile, and distance medley relays, the broad jump, running hop, step and jump, and hammer throw. The superiority at Des Moines was registered in the one mile, quarter mile, and shuttle hurdle relays, the shot put, javelin throw, pole vault, high jump, and 120 yard high hurdles.

Hamm, Warne Stars.

The outstanding performances at each meet were provided by field event men. At Philadelphia, Ed Hamm, the Georgia Tech star, shattered the meet record in the broad jump with a leap of 25 feet 4¼ inches, at Des Moines, Tommy Warne of Northwestern broke the meet record with a leap of 13 feet 11 inches in the pole vault, and then just barely missed a new world's record at 14 feet 2 inches.

Here's how the times and distances in the two meets compare:

	PENN.	DRAKE.

GRAIN TRADE TO PROTEST POLICY OF FARM BOARD

Hold Meeting in Washington for Three Days.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Business interests of the country, particularly the grain trade, are to meet in Washington during the next three days in an effort to make it plain to the government and the politicians that the farm board is, in their opinion, forcing all other wheat handlers out of the business, which is detrimental not only to the grain trade, but all other business.

Grain men are almost a unit in saying that present methods of operation will bring heavy losses to the government. In other words, they do not like to see the government's money used in the attempt to bolster wheat prices in what they deem a hopeless task.

Practically all interests in the grain trade admit that the situation in North America is such that the best thing to do is to lower prices to a level that will make it possible to dispose of the surplus of the last two years. In case there should be a serious crop shortage the surplus would be somewhat of a Godsend to the grain trade.

Majority Bearish.

At present a majority of the grain traders are bearish, the market is said to be heavily oversold, and prices are at the lowest of the season.

May wheat in Chicago is controlled by the Grain Stabilization corporation, through its steady purchases on declines. Scattered holders have liquidated heavily, and cash interests with wheat stores at points throughout the country, especially at the leading terminal markets, are understood to be exchanging the cash grain with the Stabilization company for the May. It was officially announced early last week that the Stabilization company took 6,000,000 bu of good to high grade milling wheat from Kansas City holders at prices reported by Kansas City men to be 2@5c over the May, with 11 to 13 per cent protein. Storage to June 30 is included, and 1c bu is allowed for loading. This wheat, in connection with numerous millions in other positions, is being sold to millers, and it is said that sales have ranged as high as 500,000 bu in a day. It is also said that 5,000,000 bu or more of cash wheat was taken from Minneapolis interests in exchange for May and a considerable quantity exchanged in the same way with Omaha, and probably with other interests.

Said to Hold Control.

The Stabilization company is said to have control of the bulk of the cash wheat, having 31,000,000 bu on hand, as announced by Chairman Legge of the farm board, in addition to holdings of 19,000,000 bu of May, a total of 50,000,000 bu of cash and May. It is expected that Chicago interests who have not bought in their May at 1½@2½c discount under the July and sold the latter in turning over their hedges, will make some arrangement with the Stabilization company and give up the cash wheat. Under such conditions deliveries of cash grain on May contracts may not be large.

There were intimations late in the week that the government interest had accumulated some July, but this was not confirmed.

Rains Help Wheat Crop.

Crop conditions in the southwestern winter wheat sections have been greatly relieved by fair to heavy rains over areas where acreage is largest and where moisture was most needed. In other parts of Kansas the situation is favorable, the crop showing good average condition. It would be no surprise, however, to see private reports due next Friday lower their conditions a little. The government condition in Kansas April 1 was 78; Nebraska, 90, and Oklahoma, 73, Kansas being at a ten year average, with Nebraska 16 points above, while Oklahoma was 8 points under the average. With favorable weather for the balance of the season, it is said that a good crop can be raised in the four southwestern states, some Kansas City authorities claiming that Kansas will have fully as much as last year, when it raised 138,000,000 bu. Its latest average is 130,000,000 bu.

Seeding of spring wheat in the American and Canadian northwest is rapidly gaining completion, with a reduced acreage this side of the international line and probably little change in the area in western Canada.

Republic Steel.

May I ask you for an opinion as to the soundness as an investment of the Republic Steel corporation 6 per cent convertible preferred stock which is offered to the public by a group of financiers?—C. K. B.

Consolidation of independent steel interests in the central states by which a $350,000,000 company was formed was announced in December, 1929. This new concern, Republic Steel corporation, ranks as the third largest steel corporation in the country, being exceeded in size only by U. S. Steel and Bethlehem.

The merger was shaped by a powerful financial group headed by Cyrus S. Eaton. It is built around Republic Iron and Steel company and includes Central Alloy Steel corporation, Donner Steel Company, Inc., Bourne-Fuller company, and the Berger Manufacturing company.

Among the subsidiaries of the new corporation are Steel and Tubes, Inc., Union Drawn Steel company, and Trumbull-Cliffs Furnace company. Witherow Steel company and Interstate Iron and Steel company are among important recent acquisitions.

Under a plan dated Jan. 15, 1930, provision was made for the exchange of stocks of constituent companies for new Republic Steel corporation shares.

The activities of the new corporation include all the important steps in steel making. Large reserves of iron ore, coal and limestone are owned.

The new corporation will have outstanding a funded debt, including subsidiaries, of $58,335,880, $5,000,000 6 per cent preferred stock of subsidiaries, $60,000,000 6 per cent cumulative convertible preferred [par $100], and $1,985,212 shares of no par common. In addition, 12,073 common shares are in the treasury and 600,000 common shares are reserved for conversion of the preferred. There are also outstanding options to purchase 200,000 shares of common stock at $75 per share.

Net earnings of constituent companies and their subsidiaries for the four years ended Dec. 31, 1929, averaged $14,193,810 per annum, equal to 3.94 times the maximum annual dividend requirement on the new preferred. Earnings in 1929 were 5.55 times such requirement.

The pro forma consolidated balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1929, showed net tangible assets equivalent to more than $370 per share of the new preferred.

Tom M. Girdler, former president of Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation, is chairman of the board of Republic Steel corporation. Elmer T. McCleary, former president of Republic Iron and Steel company, is president.

The preferred stock is regarded as rather high grade. The common is medium grade and somewhat speculative at present.

Promote your Fireman!

See how automatic coal burning puts the boiler room under 100% automatic control and frees your fireman for more profitable work .. Phone West 4321

Freeing the fireman is only one of the economies of Combustioneer automatic coal burning. To this significant saving add the advantage of getting more heat from screenings than hand-firing gets from lump. Here's the automatic heat that doesn't ask a premium. Gas and oil both cost more. But Combustioneer gives heat that's just as smokeless, just as clean. And delivers this superb service for actually less than hand-firing costs. Whether you burn fifteen tons a year or fifty thousand, Combustioneer pays for itself in saving of coal and labor—in the satisfaction of clean, odorless, smokeless, automatic heat. Phone for this demonstration. We arrange it within five minutes of your office. Transportation provided free.

COMBUSTIONEER DEMONSTRATION OF Automatic COAL BURNING

COMBUSTIONEER, INC., 1801 West Madison Street, Chicago, Ill. CT-4-28-56

I am interested in reducing our fuel bill, eliminating smoke, and enjoying the convenience and economy of automatic heat and boiler control.

It seems only good business to have more information about Combustioneer. Send us more details.

Check—at all three windows of power!

YOU needn't depend on just your "feel at the wheel" to prove that it's better to have Wadhams Ethyl in your gas tank.

Every mark on your speedometer supports in cold visible figures what you so pleasurably sense in driving. Three ways:

Watch the sharp flick of the speed dial as you step to snappier get away and faster time on the steady stretches. At the "trip" opening, check the daily proof of greater mileage per fill. And under "total," read the most important record of all — thousands of miles of better, smoother, more silent motor running with vastly longer gaps between carbon cleanings and valve attention.

TRADE REVIEWS CAUTIOUS BUT MORE CHEERY

Worst Is Over, N. Y. Bank Thinks.

BY O. A. MATHER.

How is business today and what are its prospects? In the month-end reviews one may find many and different answers to these queries. In the main, however, the sentiments and outlines are more cheerful than pessimistic.

"Aside from the usual seasonal expansion in some branches of industry little tangible progress in business recovery has thus far been reported," the Guaranty Trust company, New York, says. "The general level of industrial and trade activity is still far below that of a year ago. The unemployment situation is reported more acute in some cities, though it is not yet clear that a genuine nation-wide improvement has been effected.

"The most encouraging developments are the increase in construction contracts, the greater strength of commodity prices, and the continued ease in money rates. But in the absence of more positive signs than have yet appeared no swift revival in general business can be safely predicted. The most optimistic forecast consistent with conservatism is that the worst is probably over and that coming months are likely to show a gradual and probably irregular improvement."

Continental's Viewpoint.

Business probably will not recover from the recent slump quite so quickly as it did from the depressions of 1919 and 1927, but normal production could be regained by the end of this year, according to the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, Chicago. However, profits and dividends are likely to outrun industrial production in the future.

"During the last seven years industrial production increased at an average rate of 2.4 per cent annually," the bank says. "Net profits of corporations increased more than three times as fast, or at an average rate of 8 per cent. Dividends meanwhile increased at the average annual rate of 12 per cent—over seven times as fast as production and nearly twice as fast as profits. And the average yearly increase in stock quotations versus dividends.

"The trend of profits during the next five years will undoubtedly be at a average annual increase greater than the yearly increase in production. The profits trend may equal that of the last seven years. Whether dividend policies will become more conservative is as yet anybody's guess. But in all probability nothing short of a genuine depression will bring about a reversal of the liberal policies of the last four or five years."

Most Optimistic.

Perhaps the most rosy picture is drawn by the Central Trust Company of Illinois.

"It may be said with assurance that business is even better than it seems," this Chicago bank says. "Business is not materially below average at this time and is definitely improving. The first quarter should be our worst, the second quarter showing improvement, and the last half of the year far better than the last half of 1929."

On the other hand, an analysis by J. S. Bache raises doubts as to whether depression is over and recovery begun.

"The false start which some divisions of industry made in January led to the belief that the bottom of this business depression had been reached and that business had again begun to move up," it says. "This, later on, proved not to be the case. Business, except for such temporary stimulation received in some quarters from the spring influence, has not moved away from the bottom and may in the summer have to descend somewhat farther before it reaches the natural depression from which it must and undoubtedly will make a new and real start toward substantial improvement."

Midwest Trade Data.

Data on trade in the middle west are given in the monthly review of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank. Wholesale trade showed seasonal expansion last month, with groceries gaining 12 per cent over February; hardware, 35 per cent; dry goods, 17 per cent; drugs, 14 per cent; shoes, 43 per cent, and electrical supplies, 5 per cent. But all lines except groceries showed declines from March, 1929.

Offer Skelly Stock Today; Other Issues

Financing for several large concerns, including two railroads, is being carried out today. The largest offerings are a $12,000,000 issue of Skelly Oil company 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock and a $10,000,000 issue of first mortgage and refunding 6½ per cent sinking fund bonds, series A, of the Piedmont Hydro-Electric company.

The Skelly stock will be offered at 99½ and accrued dividends by a syndicate headed by the Continental Illinois company. Included in the deal are the National City company, Harris Trust and Savings bank, Brown Brothers & Co., First National Old Colony corporation, First Detroit company and Lawrence Stern & Co. Each share of preferred stock will bear a nondetachable warrant entitling the holder to buy two shares of common stock at $42.50 a share to May 1, 1931, at $46 to May 1, 1932, and $50 a share thereafter to May 1, 1933.

To Mature in 1960.

The Piedmont offering is being made by Rancamerica-Blair corporation, Chase Securities corporation, Stone, Webster & Blodget, Inc., International Manhattan company and the Banca Commerciale Italiana Trust company. The bonds will mature April 1, 1960, and are priced at 91½ and accrued interest, to yield about 7.20 per cent.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the National City company announced that all of the $5,031,000 Chicago and North Western Railway company general mortgage 4¾ per cent bonds have been sold. The bonds, which are due Nov. 1, 1987, are not subject to redemption before maturity. They were sold at 103 per cent and accrued interest to date of delivery.

Offering of a new issue of $6,000,000 Southern Pacific company 4½ per cent equipment trust certificates, issued under the Philadelphia plan, is being made by Chase Securities and Freeman & Co. The certificates, which mature annually from May 1, 1931, to May 1, 1945, inclusive, are priced as follows: To yield 4.25 per cent for the 1931 maturity, 4.40 for 1932 maturity, and 4.50 for the remaining maturities.

General Steel Issue.

Drexel & Co. is offering 20,000 shares of General Steel Castings $6 cumulative preferred stock at $100 a share. The offering involves no new financing on the part of the company. The preferred stock without par value is convertible into common stock at the option of the holder at any time on or before July 1, 1936, at the rate of 1 1-13 shares of common stock for each share of preferred.

A $1,000,000 issue of Penn Central Light and Power company first mortgage bonds, 4½ per cent series, due 1977, is being made by a syndicate including A. C. Allyn & Co., First National Old Colony corporation, Halsey, Stuart & Co., Hill, Joiner & Co., A. B. Leach & Co., and E. H. Rollins & Sons. The price is 93½ and accrued interest, to yield about 4.85 per cent.

American Power & Light Earns $5.12 on Common

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—Net income of $19,271,484 for 1929 was reported today in the annual report of the American Power and Light company, affiliate of the Electric Bond and Share company. After preferred dividends the income was equivalet to $5.12 a share on the average number of no par shares of common stock outstanding, and compares with net income of $15,625,320, or $5.08 a share on the average number outstanding during 1928.

Estimate Youngstown Rate at 70% of Capacity

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Operations in the Youngstown steel district this week, according to unofficial estimates, will remain unchanged at 70 per cent of rated capacity. Thirty-nine of the 51 open hearth furnaces in the district will be active, an increase of one over the last week.

H. M. Byllesby Announces Rights on A and B Stock

John J. O'Brien, president of H. M. Byllesby & Co., yesterday announced a stock rights melon for holders of the company's class A and class B stock. Stockholders may subscribe to one new share for $50 for each eight shares held. May 5 and pay for it in five monthly installments to Oct. 5.

Orders 100 Drop Side Cars and 600 Containers

The Standard Steel Car company has ordered 100 drop side cars and 600 containers from the L. C. L. corporation, it is announced by William T. Hoops, president.

CHICAGO UTILITY FIRM TO SPEND $60,000,000 ON EXPANSION WORK

Expenditures of about $60,000,000 will be made by the Utilities Power and Light corporation this year in expansion of its subsidiary operating companies.

The annual report, issued last night by President Harley L. Clarke, shows a considerable upturn in gross and net earnings for 1929. Gross revenue was $52,348,686, compared with $43,240,584 in 1928. Net income was $7,617,657, equivalent after preferred dividends to $1.48 a share on the combined class B and common shares.

"During 1928 the company acquired a number of additional properties, extended its facilities for giving service to its customers, improved its operating efficiency and simplified its corporate and financial structure," Mr. Clarke says. "Consolidated gross revenue increased more than 21 per cent over 1928, while net income before depreciation and income taxes increased more than 52 per cent."

The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1929, shows current assets of $37,186,641, current liabilities of $16,858,523, surplus of $19,571,822, and total assets of $401,836,105.

Illinois Central Earnings for Quarter Are Lower

The Illinois Central railroad experienced a slump in earnings for the first quarter, as well as for March, according to its quarterly statement just issued. For the three months ended March 31 net railway operating income declined $1,936,390 from the corresponding 1929 quarter. The net railway operating income amounted to $5,357,191, while the total operating revenues for the quarter were $40,359,211. For March the railroad's net operating income was $2,071,003, a decrease of $367,442 from March a year ago, while the total March revenues were $13,871,936, which figure was $1,357,673 below March, 1929.

Field Wholesale Division Starts Moving Into Mart

Marshall Field & Co. (wholesale) today will begin moving their large stocks of merchandise to the company's new quarters in the Merchandise Mart, where four complete floors will be occupied. The Field wholesale division is scheduled to be ready for business in the mart by May 1, although a longer time probably will be necessary to effect a complete abandonment of the company's, historic building at Wells and Adams streets, where the wholesale business has been operating for nearly a half century.

Natural Gas Distribution May Cut Coal Production

BY SCRUTATOR.

Another of the reasons why the production of coal may not be as profitable as operators and miners would have it in future lies in the present trend toward the distribution of natural gas over wider areas.

DR. G. R. HOPKINS. [P. & A. Photo.]

There are some 40,000 miles of trunk lines conveying natural gas in this country now and about an equal amount of gathering lines. This mileage is increasing rather rapidly and, according to Dr. G. R. Hopkins of the United States bureau of mines, is passing by mergers into control of a few strong concerns. In his report to the American Chemical society Dr. Hopkins refers to the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey as the biggest holder of such lines.

Serve 25 States.

Twenty-five states are served by natural gas lines, with the greatest concentration in Ohio, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia. Until five years ago a line reaching more than 100 miles from well to consuming point was regarded as a considerable achievement, but we now have several longer than 500 miles and the projected one from the Panhandle fields of Texas to Chicago, which seems assured in time, will be more than 900 miles.

At the end of 1928 more than 4,300,000 homes were using natural gas for lighting, cooking, or heating. This was an increase of 10 per cent over the 1927 figure, and further progress was made in 1929. Dr. Hopkins explains that because of its cleanliness, high thermal content and convenience, natural gas will supplant coal in cooking and water heating even when its price is somewhat higher. It will replace coal for house heating when the cost is not markedly greater. It cannot compete in industrial uses with coal unless it meets the costs of the latter fuel.

Natural gas engineers have found it necessary to get their fuel to industrial consumers at a rate that averages around 23 cents a thousand cubic feet, while domestic consumers pay from 33 cents to $1.50 and average 62 cents, the figures being those of 1928. It is an almost invariable rule that major gas lines terminate in large manufacturing cities and that large users are signed to contracts before the lines are laid. The industrial use, in fact, is four times as much as the domestic.

Total production marketed in 1928, the last year for which official statistics are available, indicated the use of some billion and a half thousand feet, or at least 300 million dollars' worth, the equivalent of perhaps seventy-five million tons of coal. As bituminous coal production runs around a half billion tons annually, it can be understood that natural gas is a serious and growingly important competitor.

Convert Pipe Lines.

The intention to force growth in this business is evidenced by the conversion of some crude oil pipe lines to natural gas uses. One such leade near New York and the other to a Philadelphia suburb. It is reported they are being put into operating condition, and when this is accomplished the Atlantic coast will have natural gas service for the first time.

It is predicted that natural gas will be used extensively in chemical conversions. The argument is that raw material can be transported more cheaply through pipes than any other way and that chemical uses will tend to equalize peaks and depressions in the curve of consumption for heating only.

NATION'S TRADE LOOKS BETTER AS MAY NEARS

But Normal Stride Is Not Attained.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 27.—Speaking generally, it is possible to say that the country's trade as the end of April approaches makes a better showing than in other recent months, both absolutely and in comparison with this present month in other years.

That does not mean, however, that business activity has returned to normal. Contrast with the earlier part of the first quarter is complicated by the fact that the spring season always brings increase of activity over that of the late winter period.

Comparison with former Aprils is made somewhat less simple by the fact that, in active years, production in March has always been exceptionally large by way of preparing for the spring trade, with lighter trade in April, whereas March this year showed relaxation in the pace, even as compared with February.

On the whole, results for April have merely confirmed the belief created by Coupon bonds in denomination of $1,000 registerable as to principal and exchangeable for fully registered bonds. Interest payable May 1 and November 1.

UNITED STATES TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, Corporate Trustee.

The issuance and sale of these Bonds have been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

We are advised that these bonds are a legal investment for savings banks in the States of New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and other states.

For further information regarding the Company and this issue of Bonds, reference is made to a letter from Arthur S. Pierce, Esq., Vice-President of the Chicago and North Western Railway Company, copies of which may be obtained from the undersigned and from which the following is quoted:

"These Bonds will be issued under the General Mortgage of the Company, executed in 1897, authorizing the issuance from time to time of Bonds not to exceed $165,000,000, principal amount, bearing interest at the rate of not to exceed 5% per annum, and providing for the retirement at or before maturity of the prior liens and debentures then outstanding, and for the further improvement of the property. The Bonds are not redeemable before maturity.

The present issue of Bonds is being sold to reimburse the treasury for expenditures in the retirement of prior lien bonds, and for additions and betterments.

The General Mortgage Bonds are secured by a first lien on 5,039.39 miles of road, subject to $6,771,000 prior liens (for which Bonds of this issue are reserved). This first lien mileage includes the entire double track main line of the Company from Chicago to Council Bluffs, Iowa, its main line to Elroy, Wis., forming with the main line of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Railway Company, a main line from Chicago, to Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth; its main line through southern Minnesota and into South Dakota; the main line from Chicago to Milwaukee; and its main lines from Milwaukee to Ashland on Lake Superior and from Milwaukee through Green Bay to northern Michigan points. The General Mortgage Bonds, including those pledged, together with the prior lien debt for which General Mortgage Bonds are reserved, will be outstanding at the rate of only $30,868 per mile of road subject to the General Mortgage. The General Mortgage Bonds are also secured by a first lien on the Chicago Terminal properties of the Company.

The Chicago and North Western Railway Company has outstanding $22,395,120 of Preferred Stock and $158,444,745 of Common Stock. Dividends have been paid uninterruptedly since 1878, the present dividends being at the rate of 7% on the Preferred and 5% on the Common Stock per annum.

The gross income of the Company for the year ending December 31, 1929, applicable to the payment of interest on funded debt and other items was $29,411,516.55, while the payments of interest on funded debt and other items for that year were $13,812,460.52, leaving a balance applicable to dividends of $15,599,056.03.

Of the authorized amount of General Mortgage Bonds there will be outstanding, after the present issue, $122,965,000, of which $31,316,000 are 3½% Bonds, $30,554,000 are 4% Bonds, $3,577,000 are 4½% Bonds, $23,663,000 are 4¾% Bonds and $33,855,000 are 5% Bonds. In addition, there are pledged as part collateral for the Company's secured Bonds due in June, 1930 and 1936, $20,500,000 of 5% General Mortgage Bonds. Of the balance of the authorized amount, $6,771,000 are reserved to retire debentures due in May, 1933, $4,125,000 Bonds are unissued in the treasury of the Company, $1,200,000 Bonds are due from Trustee, and $9,439,000 Bonds are reserved or will be available under the terms and conditions provided in the Mortgage for improvements or additions, including equipment.

Application will be made in due course to list these Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange."

THE UNDERSIGNED OFFER THE ABOVE BONDS, SUBJECT TO PRIOR SALE, AT 103% AND ACCRUED INTEREST TO DATE OF DELIVERY, TO YIELD 4.60% TO MATURITY.

The above bonds are offered if, when and as issued and received by the undersigned and subject to the approval by their counsel of all legal proceedings in connection with the issue and sale thereof. Definitive bonds will be delivered against payment in New York funds for bonds allotted.

KNOW WHERE YOUR SAVINGS GO

"Wild Mary Sudik"

is the caption of a well written article found in the April issue of

"NATURAL GAS"

The story reads like romance. It covers many interesting and instructive details concerning this uncontrollable "gusher" not found in the daily press, including information of great value to investors.

We have a limited number of reprints for distribution without cost or obligation among owners and prospective owners of investment securities.

Just ask for "Natural Gas"

Conducted by GOOD HOUSEKEEPING MAGAZINE

When you buy household devices look for this Seal of Approval

Every product advertised in GOOD HOUSEKEEPING—whether or not subject to test—carries the magazine's unqualified guarantee.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING Institute is testing a product.

More than 1,750,000 progressive home-makers are waiting to know if that product will pass the test and appear on the Institute's famous "tested and approved" list.

Thousands of high-class stores await GOOD HOUSEKEEPING'S decision before they offer the product to the consumer.

The manufacturer, too, is eager—for the approval of the Institute on his appliance means that the product will go into good shops and good homes everywhere.

The GOOD HOUSEKEEPING Institute staff concludes its test. If the product has proved worthy, the Institute awards its Seal of Approval and the product goes out to find ready consumer acceptance.

If the product fails to meet the Institute's requirements, its manufacturer is told why it has been disapproved. Knowing the value in sales of the Institute's approval, he usually makes the improvements it suggests, and then resubmits the device for test and approval.

In this way GOOD HOUSEKEEPING makes sure that the women who use it as a buying guide will not be disappointed in the products advertised in its pages.

To the product that wins the Institute's Seal of Approval, the doors of the better homes of America are thrown wide open.

Many thousands of refrigerators, ranges, vacuum cleaners, toasters, meat-grinders, floor-cleaners, washers, ironers, etc., are bought each year by home-makers as a result of the endorsement of the Institute.

The satisfaction these tested products create among their users results in widespread good-will for the manufacturer—and for GOOD HOUSEKEEPING. Many women write us in this vein: "I have checked 47 articles in your Advertising Index which I buy when occasion demands. I rely on it when I purchase new products."

By ALICE CAMPBELL

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West, of Boston, on her way to Paris meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre to Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she has received, just before sailing, a letter from Frances Cushing who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam, is a lawyer, and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know that the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey puts her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the servants, and leaves Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying in the apartment as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Catherine Bender who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed too. Geoffrey escorts her back to the apartment. The door is locked but Geoffrey arouses Eduardo, who says he thought Miss West had come in long before.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner.

THE SPIDER.

The inner door opened and the milliner appeared, following a small man in black, wearing, with disregard of manners, his wide-brimmed felt hat. Catherine saw a drab and tired looking woman in the forties, who at another time would have appeared worn and spiritless with hard work. Now, however, in spite of her parchment skin and untidy hair, there was a twist to her mouth denoting gratified vanity, a general look of conscious pride. Catherine had seen that expression before and knew what it meant.

The admirer's face she could not see, but something oddly familiar in his stiff back caused her to gaze after him with sudden interest. Impossible that he could know by sight this insignificant Frenchman, and yet—

In the doorway he stopped, speaking in a low voice and with a hard, guttural accent—Belgian or Alsatian, she could not tell which. At the same time he flicked across his palm a pair of ugly, black fabric gloves.

Pair? No, strangely enough there was but a single glove. Catherine stared at it, fascinated. How odd to carry one glove! Odder still that it should so closely resemble the one she had picked up the evening before in Mme. Bender's apartment. However, it could be no more than coincidence.

"Until tomorrow night," said the owner of the glove, impassively.

"Until then," murmured the modiste, closing the door upon him.

Miss Cushing billowed into the other room, discoursing in voluble French, and Catherine could hear haggling over the price of an ancient hat which the milliner gently declared was not worth the trouble of re-making.

Instead of accompanying her friend, Catherine moved to the window and stood looking down into the court. Almost at once she saw the visitor emerge, cross the flags to a door opposite, and fumble in his pocket for a key. Then, just before entering, he turned and looked up in her direction, the fading daylight revealing his features.

Who could he be?

What she saw was an unhealthily pallid skin, a small mouth with a faint, startling moustache, and eyes, round, pale, reddish in hue, fixed in a cold, twinkling stare. At this distance she could not see the triangular mark upon the iris of one of them, but she knew beyond question that it was there.

No, she had not been mistaken. This was Jeanne's friend, the person who last night had left his glove and foot prints upon the stairs of the apartment.

Who could he be?

She did not know why she should attach so much importance to the incident, nor why during the next few days she should keep seeing in her mind's eye the white, dull skin and pale, staring eyes of the little man in the rue d'Amsterdam. Again and again the vision recurred to her, always with a sense of distrust and vague repulsion. It was a feeling to be likened only to the antipathy with which one regards certain unwholesome and unfamiliar specimens of the saurian kingdom, which may be quite harmless, but which cause one to shrink instinctively away from them.

As a matter of fact she knew now who this person was. That is to say, she was acquainted with his name and occupation. On the way out from the milliner's she had examined the printing on the glass of his door, and had read there, "A. Blom, Notaire." A notaire was probably a notary public, which fact offered a simple explanation for the man's association with Jeanne. He was, obviously, her legal adviser. Upper class servants in France invariably had their men of business, who counseled them about investing their savings to the best advantage. Jeanne, the soul of thriftiness and respectability, was sure to put aside every available sou against the time when she could no longer earn money, and it was not surprising that she should consult an expert about stocks and bonds. Very likely she had a tidy sum tucked away in safe securities, to discuss which she had no doubt invited her lawyer here the other evening after her mistress was asleep.

As Catherine turned this over in her thoughts a sudden notion struck her. Very likely the bolt had been drawn to prevent her walking in unexpectedly and finding the man here. Eduardo had meant to take it off again, but had forgotten and gone to bed. It was a plausible explanation, better than the one she had first imagined, namely: that the butler had wanted to thrust yet another annoyance upon the unwelcome guest, hoping to induce her to depart.

Her position in the household was now less positively unpleasant, and while she felt that she was still regarded as a thorn in the flesh by at least two of the staff, she fancied they had accepted her presence as inevitable and were making the best of things. She even noticed an improvement in their attitude towards her. Eduardo was not actually insolent, and Jeanne, though a little distant, was for the most part as suave as in former days. Occasionally she betrayed a slight gleam of resentment, but for this the girl was ready to make allowances.

"Poor, warped creature!" she mused, full of compassion. "It's not that she dislikes me personally. It's only that she doesn't want to share her mistress' affection with anyone. What a starved life she must have lived, to be so completely centered on one object!"

It did indeed seem that the woman had but a single consuming passion, her devoted attachment to Mme. Bender. Impossible not to admire the indefatigable care with which she surrounded her, charge, her quickness to forestall the invalid's slightest wish. If her temper was at times uncertain it was not surprising, for the strain of constant watchfulness was bound to tell on anyone's nerves. Steadfastly she refused the girl's offers of assistance, and remained hour after hour on duty, scarcely ever quitting the apartment. Sometimes in the evening she slipped out for an hour, on which occasions Eduardo took up a post in the converted dressing room adjoining Mme. Bender's bed chamber, and remained there reading the newspaper until she returned. Catherine herself would have been glad to share watches with her, but her services were firmly waved aside.

Daily she spent an hour or two with her cousin, trying to cheer her and at the same time to study her condition, but after a week she was as far as ever from coming to any definite conclusion. She was chiefly struck by the invalid's total lack of confidence in herself, her unwillingness to affirm anything positively, her attitude of cunningly waiting to take her cue from the opinions of those about her. It suggested that she was distressingly aware of blank patches in her memory which she was anxious to conceal from other eyes.

Mme. Bender's spirits varied startlingly, passing from a childish, hectic gayety to periods of moodiness impossible to lighten. At times she chattered volubly, jumping from topic to topic with utter inconsequence; then again she would sit for hours without opening her lips, sunk into herself. It was on the latter occasions that Catherine noticed the look of terror before mentioned, but every effort to fathom the cause of it met with failure.

Another thing puzzled the girl. This was the extreme readiness of Mme. Bender to agree with her maid on every subject, as though she were actually trying to curry favor in Jeanne's eyes.

Good Morning!

Louise Dresser is the jewel in this picture's crown. Her characterization of Marta, mother of the three sisters, lends the piece a beauty and distinction it could never have had without her.

While there are several other contributions of good work, the story is somewhat garrulous and unconvincing; a number of the players are badly cast and, though the scenes are laid in Italy, the characters—including Marta—speak with hardly ever the ghost of an accent.

The production opens on the wedding of Carlotta, one of the three sisters—and everybody is very, very happy. That night tragedy occurs, and Carlotta and her husband, aided by another of the three—Antonia, a singer, who has come to the fiesta with her teacher who later becomes her husband, are spirited away to safety.

Enters then Count d'Amati to wed Elena, Marta's one remaining daughter, though he is disinherited because of his action.

Comes the war and attendant sorrow for Marta and those she loves.

The action moves to New York, where Carlotta and Tony are happy and prosperous and where also come Antonia and her husband; to Rome whither Marta wanders with Elena's baby—and to a H. E. of the sort that occurs in fairy tales.

The men in the cast do well—though Tom Patricola is not well cast. June Collyer is sweet as Elena. The Misses McPhail and Compton are entirely uninteresting as the other sisters.

Louise Dresser is magnificent. Though sometimes faultily directed, she, hersel, is all the heart could desire and she sets you thinking:

"If all mothers were like Marta, how many happy homes there'd be!"

See you tomorrow.

Eager Tourists at Manila Gather More than Information

BY FORD WILKINS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, April 27.—Beautiful Malacanan palace, on the banks of the Pasig river in Manila, has its drawbacks as a residence for Gov. Gen. Dwight F. Davis, especially since the governor started liberalizing hospitality rules to favor tourists.

Shortly after his arrival Gov. Davis announced his policy of making Malacanan a showplace for tourists. Consequently every time a boat load of curious tourists comes to Manila on one of the round the world liners a goodly portion of them choose to visit the governor's mansion, which dates back to Spanish days.

But tourists will be tourists, and they do not all appreciate the pure generosity that prompted the governor to throw open the doors of his private residence for their benefit. Several knickknacks have been missed from the palace on tourist boat days, taken no doubt as souvenirs. One tourist left a Baedeker in exchange for a corner off a bust of Jose Rizal.

One day two respectable looking old ladies in sun helmets and glasses somehow got separated from the party they were in and wandered into the rooms occupied by Miss Alice Davis, the governor's daughter, and his niece, Miss Alita Davis.

The governor himself happened to see them enter the bedroom of Miss Alice, looking a little bewildered. Curious, he followed them in after a short interval and found them pawing over dresses in a closet. Not at all perturbed, one of them took a Philippine volle dress from a hanger, became enthusiastic over its merits, and asked the governor how much he wanted for it. They were under the impression that they had wandered into an exclusive shop.

When the Franconia came to port the governor invited six of his personal friends who happened to be on board to a little private dinner at Malacanan. Some of them probably talked about the invftation on shipboard, for when it came dinner time 19 guests from the Franconia showed up instead of the six that had been planned for. There was consternation in the kitchen and Filipino boys had to be sent scurrying to the butcher shop and the grocery for more "chow."

Malacanan is now being remodeled and added to. The grounds are being landscaped over again and planted with tropical flowers and foliage. It is the intention of the governor to make the old palace one of the true show places of the orient, tourists or no tourists.

Women Voters Meeting Today at Louisville, Ky.

Nearly 100 Delegates Are from Chicago.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

For the next six days the object of feminine interest throughout the nation will be the Brown Hotel at Louisville, Ky. There the informal capital of the world of politically minded women will be set up with the opening today of the annual convention of the League of Women Voters. The convention marks the close of the first decade of the league's existence.

Chicago's delegation departed last night for the convention city, led by Mrs. Ralph Treadway, president of the Illinois League of Women Voters. Nearly 100 strong, they are due to arrive in Louisville this morning in time for the initial features of the crowded schedule of activities.

These delegates include Mrs. A. A. Carpenter, Mrs. William G. Hibbard, Miss Nettie Baumann, Mrs. George Packard, Mrs. Harvey Edwards, Mrs. W. W. Ramsey, Mrs. Quincy Wright, and Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch.

Ceremonies commemorating the efforts and achievements of the pioneers of the fight for women's suffrage will be an outstanding part of the decennial program. A special tribute will be paid tomorrow night to Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, veteran worker in the cause of suffrage for women, and honorary president of the league.

Completion of the organization's honor roll, to include the names of nationally known women, carefully selected from those eminent in activities for women, will be effected at the convention. Two Illinois women, Miss Jane Addams and Miss Julia Lathrop, are among those honored with places on the roll.

Newton D. Baker, secretary of war under President Wilson, will be one of the chief speakers of the league's program. He will speak tomorrow night on the topic, "A Pledge—Human Welfare in a Modern World." Two other authorities, Walton Hamilton, professor of law at Yale, and Edward C. Lindeman, director of the New York School of Social Work, will talk on Thursday on different aspects of the same topic, "The Changing World."

Miss Belle Sherwin of Cleveland, national president of the league, will preside at the convention. Her annual address, reviewing the work of the organization and discussing the future, will be made Wednesday evening.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

What was the greatest event in your life?

The Answers.

Miss Florence Elisbury, 1380 Hyde Park boulevard, secretary—I have had a comparatively uneventful life, perhaps with nothing of more importance than that of my first proposal of marriage. It was raining very hard that evening, and it took place hastily and just before we entered a chop suey place. I answered no.

A. Wyatte, 2145 Cleveland avenue, automatic advertising devices—I suppose it was my birthday—that is, for me individually. A great time in my life was when I came to Chicago in 1912 bringing my business with me from Iowa.

Miss Auguste Oschmann, 2446 North Clark street, hair dresser—My farewell to Germany for a trip around the world, twenty-five years ago, as Chicago. The United States seemed a good place for those who were ambitious. I now am an American citizen.

H. H. Cragg, Calgary, Alberta, Canada, salesman—Seems to me I have had a humdrum life. Yet I suppose there were lots of things that were interesting. I lived in eastern Canada until twenty years ago; later at Alberta, near the Prince of Wales' ranch.

Miss Clorah E. Corzine, 648 Grace street, public school teacher—My first trip down the Mississippi to St. Louis from my home, twenty miles distant. I was ten years old. I took the "S. S. Girardeau." Especially impressive were what I then considered the big buildings of St. Louis.

THE STAGE

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

"STRICTLY DISHONORABLE," at the Adephi, has a new girl to flutter and twitter under the blandishments of its speakeasy Count [seductions guaranteed], and her name is Mary Cullinan. She has been well trained in the southern drawl, the fledgling gestures and the nursery coyness that are the tradition of the rôle, and the performances go on much as before. The difference is that she is not as well cast in the rôle as was her predecessor, Margaret Perry.

There is a new boy, too, in the part of the obstreperous Henry from West Orange, who takes his fiancée into a sinister spaghetti-hell that has only two customers and deserts her there because she gets sweetly southern and congenial with an opera singer. [Was that nice, Henry?] His name is Joseph McCalliun, replacing George Meeker. And the play runs on and on —or seems to have that intention. Perhaps these revisions of the cast suggest that it may be tapering off.

The professional biography of Miss Cullinan is brief. She studied and acted at Goucher college, Baltimore; she made her stage debut as Lula in Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen," in revival, and she was playing the leading rôle in Barrie's "What Every Woman Knows" with Stuart Walker's company in Indianapolis when Antoinette Perry, the stage directress, decided that she was exactly the girl for Isabelle No. 3 in "Strictly Dishonorable."

"The Street Singer," in which Queenie Smith contributes so charmingly to the brightness of the theatrical season, announces that its run at the Apollo will end May 10. It will be followed the next night by "Sisters of the Chorus," a comedy which features the well known Edna Hibbard, and also contain Enid Markey, Robert Craig, Charles Laite, and Sonia Karliv.

Richard Bennett, who garnishes his acting with oratery, will come to the Harris theater May 18 in a new comedy called "Solid South," which gives him the character of a southern gentleman of the Marse Watterson type—a florid old fire eater who hardly knows that the civil war has ended. Others in the cast are Owen Davis Jr., Mary Thayer, Elizabeth Patterson, and Jessica Royce Landis. The piece is under the management of Alexander McKaig, and was directed by Rouben Mamoulian, who put on "Porgy" and other plays for the Theater Guild.

There is a rumor that Mr. Bennett's contract with Mr. McKaig forbids him to make curtain speeches, because of his lack of tact in addressing audiences. If you believe that Mr. Bennett has bartered away the sacred right of free speech, and if he should come before the curtain at the première in his familiar "Friends, Romans and countrymen" manner, you might shout at him: "You're fired!" The betting, however, tends strongly toward the belief that Richard is himself and can't be muzzled.

The engagement of "The Merry Widow," with Donald Brian and Beppie de Vries in the leading rôles, at the Majestic theater has been extended from two to four weeks. This decision came too late to permit the management to correct its Sunday advertising, which emphatically announced this week as final.

After "The Merry Widow's" four weeks [or more], the season of operetta revivals at the Majestic will end. "The Chocolate Soldier" was on the schedule, but was canceled some time ago. That company has disbanded.

Gilbert Miller announces that he has obtained for American production next season the new French play by Jacques Deval, "Etienne," which opened in Paris early this month. Mr. Miller, who staged Deval's "Her Cardboard Lover" several seasons ago with Jeanne Eagels as its star, will present "Etienne" soon at St. Martin's theater, London.

Other productions previously announced for next season by Mr. Miller are "One, Two, Three," by Franz Molnar; "The Dreyfus Affair," in an adaptation by William Bolitho; "Marius," by Marcel Pagnol; and "The Weaker Sex," by Edouard Bordet. Max Pallenber and Fritzi Massary, Berlin stars, will play a fall season of repertory in this country under Mr. Miller's sponsorship.

"Candle Light," a comedy from Vienna adapted by P. G. Wodehouse and staged by Gilbert Miller, will begin an engagement at the Princess theater tonight. Eugene Leontovich is the star of the company.

Wesley Hospital Meeting.

The board of trustees and the woman's auxiliary board of the Wesley Memorial hospital is to give a reception for Mrs. Edwin Holt Hughes from 2 to 5 o'clock this afternoon at the First Methodist Episcopal church in the Chicago Temple.

Scout Heroes Given Medals as Life Savers

13 Proves Lucky Number Among Courageous.

New York, April 27.—(AP)—The national court of honor of the Boy Scouts of America today announced awards of the gold honor medal to 13 Scouts for unusual heroism in time of danger and for the saving of lives of others at great risk to their own. This is the highest award the Scout movement can bestow. The ages of the recipients ranged from 14 to 23 years.

The medals were awarded to:

Bruce Estey, South Pasadena, Cal.
Chester Jackson, Harlan, Ky.
Walter Leatham, Alameda, Cal.
Charles Mort, Winchester, Va.
Paul K. Taylor, Highland Park, Mich.
Newton Crouch, Griffin, Ga.
William V. Hood, Brownsville, Tenn.
Walter Fichter, West Hazleton, Pa.
Elmer Clarke, Redfield, S. D.
John Angle, Shippensburg, Pa.
Joe Thonemann, Middletown, N. Y.
Bernard A. Dawson, Zanesville, O.
James Van Wellden, Nyack, N. Y.

The national court said the rescue of an unidentified child on a railroad trestle by Scout Fichter as a train was passing probably was the outstanding case. Hiking with two other Scouts, Fichter saw the three children on the trestle just as a train whistled. Two of the children ran. The third stumbled, then crawled to the side of the bridge. Fichter ran out, crossing the track a moment before the train thundered past. He held the child as it went by, the boxes and ladders on the cars missing their heads by inches. He then carried the child to safety. Fichter is 18 years old.

Estey, who is 19 years old, saved Grace Clark from drowning in a heavy sea at Manhattan Beach, Cal., and immediately afterwards aided in the rescue of four other persons, also bathing nearby.

Hood, who is 18 years old, was one of a party in a boat which hit a submerged log and overturned during a storm. He saw Mrs. C. B. Laws, one of the party, floundering in the water, and pulled her into the boat, which by that time had been righted. He turned to help save the others, but the boat overturned again, and Mrs. Laws slipped off and was drowned. He tried repeatedly to save her, but became exhausted. He was carried to shore in a rescue boat.

Angle, a swimmer of but two weeks experience, swam 90 yards and saved Evelyn Grove, 12 years old, despite her struggles.

Joe Thonemann saved two young brothers who fell in the water while fishing at Middletown, N. Y.

Dawson, who is 23 years old and an assistant scoutmaster, rescued a boy from a burning building at Zanesville, O.

Clark, who is 17, rescued Wayne Hagman, 19 years old, from drowning in Cottonwood lake.

Crouch pulled Miss Willie Childers, 15 years old, out of the water at Griffin, Ga.

Taylor, 13 years old, rescued William and Virginia Wilfong, 9 and 12, from the Cheat river, near Parsons, W. Va.

Van Wellden restored by artificial respiration a 7 year old boy he had pulled from the water.

This Couple Proves Marriage Can Be Happy 'n Successful

BY DORIS BLAKE.

It's refreshing in a marriage clouded era to meet a couple who, after fifteen years of wedded life, are still in love with each other. Also, to find them expressing themselves puzzled as to why two people, plus three children, cannot get along agreeably.

It all seems so simple to them. Just a little compromising here and a little compromising there, extending the art of letting the other fellow be himself to the small ones, if need be; not trying to be to possessive—and that's the formula. If this nice couple were formula dispensers, they would offer this from their own happy experience, but they're modest about their accomplishment, seeing in it nothing to crown themselves with laurels about.

She, the wife, tells you in an aside that she has been such a perfect ninny she wonders how Sam stood for her sentimentalizing over her luck and her "wonderful" children—over everything, in fact. And he, Sam, says: "Sure, we've rowed, but she's such a brick. There's nobody like her."

No play acting here, either. It's the real thing. So real they just can't understand how marriage can be hard for any one.

They haven't much money—but they have a grand time. They probably never will have much money, unless some unknown uncle bequeaths them a legacy, which is neither in expectation at the current moment, nor a matter of vital concern to either of the lucky pair.

They're grade A folk, mentally. They believe in God and in a purpose in life. They're touchingly grateful for their blessings, including each other and the three bright, healthy youngsters. Keeping up with the Joneses is an ambition they're not acquainted with. Keeping up with constructive modern thought and accomplishment does interest them.

Both man and wife are engaged in interesting work. Their off duty hours are hours of rare companionship. Their home is a joy to enter: inexpensively but charmingly decorated; well trained children.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gann spent the week-end with friends in Virginia.

Miss Gertrude Lamont, daughter of the secretary of commerce, went with a party of young people, all horseback riders, into the country today. They had luncheon in the woods and rode home in the late afternoon.

The secretary of labor, James J. Davis, went to Pennsylvania for the week-end, visiting Dowington and Pittsburgh.

Former Gov. and Mrs. Frank O. Lowden are spending the week-end at the Willard.

Seaverns' Noted Magnolia Tree Nipped by Frost

BY THALIA ——.

The magnolia tree that grows in front of the George A. Seaverns residence in Lake Forest, one of the horticultural wonders and delights of the region, was doing well, thank you, until Friday night. It had withstood many nights of persistent Arctic chill, and was covered with buds, pink buds, more almost than ever before.

The blossoming, a glorious and momentous occasion, was almost sure to take place yesterday. But alas, Friday night was frosty, and Saturday morning the tree gave evidence that a number of brown tinged buds had, in a measure, given up the struggle against unfriendly elements.

There were some blossoms yesterday, and the whole spectacle isn't spoiled, but it won't be nearly as beautiful as it was hoped it would be. The tree is, mind you, not the only magnolia tree hereabouts, but it is the only one of its particular kind. The horticulturist who gave Mrs. Seaverns the tree several years ago presented others at the same time, but the Seaverns' is the only one that has flourished. It is of great size, and hundreds of people view it each year while it is in its heyday.

The tree has seemed to have a charmed life until this week-end. Last year it bloomed triumphantly on a warm Sunday after Easter, which was much earlier than this season, but it had weathered a great many freezing nights.

The closing symphony concert of the season on Saturday evening was a festive and gala occasion. Practically every seat was occupied, the musicians wore flowers in their buttonholes, and at the end of the program they rose from their places for a final salvo, the audience responding by rising and applauding a great deal.

Among the Saturday night subscribers for main floor seats who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. West, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill, Mr. and Mrs. George Lytton, the Alan F. Dixons, the Andrew Sherriffs, and the Orville Thompsons. In the boxes were Mrs. A. A. Sprague, Prince and Princess Rostislav, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, who occupied a box with Mrs. William P. Conger, and Miss Cornelia Conger, instead of her customary main floor place; Mr. and Mrs. Neil C. Ward, Mrs. B. A. Massee, Jacob H. Schiff, Mr. and Mrs. William Prescott Allen, Miss Marie Rozet, and the Arthur Bissells.

Mrs. Potter Palmer, first vice chairman of the conseil d'administration of the Alliance Française, and Countess de Chatenouvelle, wife of the French consul general, presided at the tea tables at the reception given yesterday afternoon by the alliance at the residence of the president, Edward H. Bennett, for Mrs. Bennett at 43 East Burton place. Mrs. Laird Bell gave a program of character sketches in French and there were some Russian songs, sung by Anatol Firkin.

Mrs. Wirt Morton, who has been attending the convention of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform in Cleveland, which took place last week, is giving a tea at the Casino this afternoon for Mrs. Charles H. Sabin of New York City, the chairman of the organization.

The Tavern's program of entertainment entitled "April Fooleries" is to be given this evening by members of the organization at the Goodman theater. The program is to begin at 10:15 o'clock, after which the assemblage will dance and sup in the tavern.

The formal opening of the Maison-Ida, recently taken over by the Junior league of Evanston from its former management for the Cradle, is to take place today.

Mr. and Mrs. Press Hodgkins and Joseph Belden have organized parties to attend the Lower North Community council, which is to take place on Friday evening, May 2, at the Bal Tabarin, and which we seem to be hard set on announcing wrongly for the following evening.

Maj. and Mrs. Victor Beaufort of the Ambassador East sailed Saturday morning on the S. S. Minnetonka for Europe.

Miss Frances E. Whedon of 101 Bellevue place and her niece, Miss Frances C. Jeffery, returned on Saturday from a sojourn at Atlantic City, N. J.

Mrs. Martin J. Insull has opened "Orchard House," her summer playhouse out west of Highland Park, for the women of the Trinity Church guild to have daily sessions of sewing on things for the parish sale to take place next July.

The Chicago Wellesley club will hold its annual meeting and luncheon next Saturday at 12:30 o'clock at the Stevens hotel. Miss Vida D. Scudder, professor emeritus of English department of Wellesley, is to be the special guest, and she will speak on "Italy, Medieval and Modern," and will also give some recent news items of the college.

Miss Helen Howell, one of next season's debutantes, is to be presented at the court of St. James on May 27. She will sail for England next Saturday on the Bremen with her mother, Mrs. Thomas M. Howell, of 2708 Lake View avenue.

Maude Runyan Wins Applause in Her Concert

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Among other items on yesterday's list of concerts was a voice greatly out of the ordinary, a seldom heard oratorio, other music of infrequent hearing, a dance recital, and a piano recital. It summed up into about as varied a set of musical entertainment as is likely to be heard, even on a Sunday afternoon.

The unusual voice was a contralto in the throat of Maude Runyan, who appeared at Kimball hall. It is an instrument of grand opera size and capabilities, of great range, dramatic quality, and brilliant power that ought to make it stand out against a combination of chorus and orchestra, no matter how potent. In a group of songs by Grieg, Gounod, and Sibelius, not very well arranged with reference to contrast of tempt and mood, she nevertheless became one of the interesting discoveries of the season.

She was associated on the program with Goldie Rothman, pianist, who was heard in a facile and intelligent performance of the Beethoven sonata, Opus 31, No. 3, which obeyed the indicated instruction marks of the composer, also the marks of repetition.

The oratorio was another work by Beethoven, "The Mount of Olives," sung by the Chicago Lutheran Teachers' chorus under the direction of Dr. George L. Tenney. It was Beethoven in a younger, more melodious, and generally more singable form than he was when he got around to his ninth symphony, and the chorus, assisted by a youthful choir of 200 children, moved in complete sympathy with the composer's music and Dr. Tenney's baton. The soloists were Anna Burmeister, William Pilcher, and Walter Jenkins, all excellent. The second part of the program was Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise."

Other unusual music was presented at the Goodman, where the fourth annual Jewish music festival was presented under the auspices of the Jewish board of education. A children's chorus of 500 and the adult Halevy Choral society appeared under the direction of Harry Coopersmith, presenting songs of various types, folk music, prayer songs, ancient Hebrew songs, chasidic, and Anglo-Jewish music, frequently of a type heard only by those who have made a personal study thereof.

Harriet Lundgren and Edward Caton, assisted by Lee Foley, all of the Civic Opera company ballet, and Pauline Pettibone, pianist, appeared at the Civic Opera house in a series of divertissements of various types, but mainly modern. They are young and expert, well trained in the severe discipline of the dance, and with the kind of personality that is just as notable and just as important in the dance as in music. As much of the program as could be stayed for showed excellent dance composition and highly attractive costumes.

Meanwhile Viola Cole Audet was giving her annual piano recital at the Playhouse. Other musical events delayed arrival at that theater until the final number, Schumann's "Kreisleriana," missing the artist's own "Capriccio Espagnol," which came just before. The Schumann number, however, was well played, with excellent tone, understanding, and warm sympathy.

The marriage of Miss Helen Geraldine Kirby, daughter of James Henry Kirby, former state representative of Petersburg, Ill., to Donald Robert Erickson, son of Mrs. Lillian Erickson of 1447 Berteau avenue, took place Saturday afternoon at the State Street Presbyterian church in Jacksonville, Ill. She is a graduate of the Illinois Woman's college at Jacksonville and Mr. Erickson was graduated in 1927 from the University of Illinois. He is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Opera Patrons View Machinery Back of Famous Scenes

To augment popular interest in the Chicago Civic opera, a series of tours had been arranged whereby members of the Associated Civic Opera Clubs of metropolitan Chicago may visit back stage and study the machinery behind grand opera production. Nearly 800 of the 20,000 club members made the backstage visit yesterday.

The visitors inspected the store room on the sixth floor where armor is fashioned for knights and jewels for ladies. They saw the gigantic switchboard from which myriad colored lights are flashed on the 110 foot cyclorama, which forms the back drop of the stage.

An interesting view afforded the visitors was the scene of the stage as presented in the rigging loft on the thirteenth floor to which a forest of cables reaches.

Freiburg Players Here for Passion Play May 4

Members of the Fassnacht family of Freiburg, Germany, and other members of the Freiburg players, who will present the Passion Play here, beginning May 4, arrived last night in Chicago. Rehearsals with a chorus of 150 singers from the choirs of Chicago and suburban churches will begin tonight in the Civic Opera house, where the performances will be given.

OBERAMMERGAU, Germany, April 27.—(AP)—Cardinal Faulhaber of Munich today solemnly consecrated the famous "Passion Play" theater of Oberammergau in the presence of more than 5,000 persons.

Midland Club Art Exhibition Is Impressive

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The third exhibition sponsored by the Midland club is now hanging on the walls of its comfortable lounge in the building at 172 West Adams street and it is a rather impressive show. Three artists contribute to its distinction. F. Becker offers a number of large portraits and a group of admirable etchings; Otto R. Niebuhr submits a few portraits and several paintings of Chicago; Karl Wagner shows decorative still lifes, a few charming pastels and a group of portraits.

The portrait theme is the one stressed. It is a typically man's portrait show, too. A few women are found but by far the greater number of the portraits deal sturdily and robustly with the successful male. Business men are at a premium. F. Becker runs riot with a gallery of thumping good likenesses. Nothing exactly picturesque here, nor gorgeously great as Louis Betts is great under like circumstances, but a satisfactory array of substantial citizens starting with Dr. Herman N. Bundesen and including Karl Eitel, William Rothman, Walter E. Olson, the Rev. Mr. Pister, and Ernest J. Kruetgen. If Mr. Karl Eitel does not fancy himself according to the talent of Becker he can turn his eyes upon the other portrait of himself painted by O. R. Niebuhr. This is an infrequent opportunity in portraiture.

If Becker is impressive in his portraits, he is delightful in his "Schabozeichnung," a German manner which has no English equivalent. As far as one can judge this "Schabozeichnung" is a method of reproduction something like engraving. The prints are fluent and gracious. They are rich, picturesque and appealing. His etchings are likewise captivating. His gift for the whimsical and the delicate comes to the fore when facts are no longer in keen demand.

"Meditation" by Niebuhr is charming and the "Farmer Boy" by Karl Wagner is delightful. Karl Wagner is the only one of the three painters who offers us decorative canvases pure and simple. His several paintings of flowers are very well done. Perhaps the loveliest painting in the entire exhibit is his pastel "Chinese—Still Life." It is an exquisite, mellow canvas of such wistful beauty as sends an ache to one's heart.

The exhibit will continue through May 3.

Stammering Can Be Caused by Run Down Nervous System

Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A book on the care of babies by Miss Carolyn Conant Van Blarcom, a noted authority on the subject, can be had at The Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street, for 50 cents, or by mail for 65 cents.

While no attempt can be made here to go into the matter of speech defects in any detail, there are one or two general points which might be gone into which were not touched upon in preceding articles on the subject.

One is the belief still held by many people that stammering and stuttering, the two commonest speech difficulties, are hereditary. This idea has no foundation in fact. The reason why it is held is that a child who lives with one or more adults who stutter or stammer almost invariably does likewise. This is entirely due to imitation, not heredity. Perhaps because stammering and stuttering have a sort of fascination for children, they copy it, consciously or otherwise, with incredible swiftness. I saw not long ago a boy of 9 begin to stutter after having spent one long afternoon with another boy who had the habit badly.

There are three known causes of speech difficulties that I believe were not touched upon in the preceding articles. One is emotional shock. Stuttering and stammering have been seen to develop in children who have had some sudden emotional disturbance. Since these habits have a nervous origin, this is a most understandable cause.

Experience has shown that an illness or a run down condition may be followed by stuttering or stammering. This again is quite logical, since the whole nervous system is apt to be depleted at these times. Naturally, your first step toward a cure would be a deliberate effort to build up the body in every possible way—and so raise the nervous tone.

Two possible causes of speech defects will be taken up tomorrow.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Betty and Billy, twins, aged 3, were dressed in their new Easter clothes and taken to the hospital to see their new little baby sister. Seated on the foot of their mother's bed, they watched numerous relatives who came to visit the wee baby. Said Billy to Betty, who was jealously watching the fuss being made over her new sister,

"Look, Betty, everything us has got on is new."

"Yes," assented Betty disconsolately, "but ourselves is old."

U. of Minnesota Alumni

University of Minnesota alumni Chicago and suburbs will gather tomorrow night at the Union League club for their annual banquet, arrangements for which are in the hands Paul Nelson, secretary of the organization. F. E. Nicholson, dean of student affairs at the university, will be the principal speaker.

O, Listen, Gals! Men Spend More Than We Do on Clothes!

I wouldn't be saying much about it around the house, girls, right at this time, anyway, when you DON'T want any arguments about clothes—BUT—

Rumor, substantiated by some pretty solid looking figures, has it that when it comes to the buying of and spending for clothes we wimmin DON'T get the silver cup. It's gotta go where it belongs—to the men.

And, if that isn't enough to ease your spending conscience, sisters, 'taint all clothes men spend it on. Some of what they're holding out on you is going into massages, manicures, coaxing hair to come back again, shaping eyebrows, and other beautifying things the like of which you wives of the "rough-diamond" gentry never did hear tell of—and perhaps you shouldn't oughta know.

So, if the husband of the species, sometimes called human and other times called vain, strives to be beautiful, why should wives be content with nothing less than perfection?

When the home economics department of a large institution of learning like Chicago university finds on investigation that the average husband spends 10 per cent more a year for clothes than his wife, he (the sometimes complaining mate) can't laff that off with nonchalance.

If that isn't enough to tilt his head in the way of humility, then there is the word of a plastic surgeon who divulges the fact that "his men patients far outnumber his women patients."

Of course, men have to look young and handsome to hold their jobs, they'll argue, if you can get 'em to talk at all on the subject. But what I'm thinkin' is that if this world of ours is going to be populated with Adonises soon we gals had better begin stepping a bit more heavily on the Venus stuff. Because there is no use in men getting themselves all dressed up and all beautied up if they haven't some one just as beautiful to step out with, is there, now?

It just means that self-improvement is something serious to be reckoned with when men are going in for it so strongly. Seriously, though, doesn't it?

BEAUTY ANSWERS

M. T.: WHEN BRUSHING THE hair begin at the crown of the head brushing with a slow downward movement. Then brush underneath until every strand of hair has been reached. Do this for five minutes night and morning and your hair will be glossy and sleek.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Do not wait until your neighbor gets started with his garden, for gardeners who are bent on possessing enviable lawns should prepare them now at the very latest. This advice comes from August Koch, chief of the Garfield park conservatory, who has received scores of inquiries regarding the effects of Chicago's freak spring with its late and heavy snowfall in March.

Weeds, it is admitted, cause less trouble if lawn seed is sown as soon as possible after the frost is out of the ground and the grass subsequently gets a good start before the hot and dry weather begins. But there still is opportunity to make a lawn the envy of the neighborhood, Mr. Koch says.

The mixture he most admires and almost always recommends is one composed of 40 per cent red top (Agrostis alba, variety vulgaris) and 60 per cent Kentucky blue grass (Poa Pratensis).

Seven rules which he says are of paramount importance include the following: "See that the ground is thoroughly prepared; buy the best grade of lawn seed; sow as early as possible, have a sharp mowing machine; keep down the weeds; mow whenever necessary to give a smooth appearance; do not water unless the ground requires it, and then water thoroughly."

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Rosettes.

Now and then a woman who wants to entertain gets enamored of the rosette iron, sometimes called a timbale iron, which experts in deep fat frying can use with great effectiveness but which a poor cook might as well leave alone. However, a little cup [timbale] filled with buttered new peas is an exceedingly pretty thing in any plate service of meat and vegetables, and this is only one of the many uses that can be made of the timbale.

Once upon a time I saw in Europe a Swedish cook demonstrate the making of timbale cups of unusual height. She dipped her iron in the hot fat, then into the batter, then back into the fat and moved it up and down so that her timbale was as beautifully scalloped as a morning glory blossom. An eminent chef who was supposed to be assisting her tried to go on with the work of making these timbales while she did something else. He could not make the ruffled top, and it ruffled his temper extremely that he could not do so.

We have suggested that it is almost a sleight of hand or trick to cook these timbales and rosettes, therefore perhaps this English recipe may be of some service at least suggestively: "Put eight ounces of sifted flour into a basin, add a pinch of salt and a dessert spoon of castor sugar. Beat up two eggs and mix with three gills of milk; stir this gradually into the flour and beat well until the batter is quite smooth. Screw the end of the wafer iron into one of the molds, have ready some fat, lard, or oil. Put the wafer into it so as to grease the mold, then dip it into the prepared batter, taking care that the batter does not run over the top of the iron. Now plunge it carefully into the hot fat, thoroughly covering the iron with same, and fry for at least one minute, but not more than two minutes. Then tilt rosette against side of pan, shake the iron on the edge of same to remove all oil or fat, and take off the wafer with a clean cloth."

It is easy to turn this recipe into our terms, and to remember that the rosette iron is also called a wafer iron and a timbale iron, although there is another sort—waffle-like—called a wafer iron.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

A Mother's Plea.

"My husband has been out of work for months and I am badly in need of a helping hand. We owe rent and other bills and the children's clothes are all worn out. I have three boys, 10, 8, and 2 years old, and two girls, 6 and 4. I also have a baby two months old. If you can get me clothing for them and some sheets and blankets, I shall be most grateful to you. Mrs. M. S."

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Here is a typical sports dress, suitable for all the new fabrics used for this kind of dress. Shantung in powder pink, men's silk shirting in orchid and white, and green and white piqué print are smart suggestions. The front fullness allows plenty of freedom of movement, and in the back the dress is quite straight. The V neckline is finished with an applied band, and the edges of the short sleeves may be similarly finished or bound.

The pattern, No. 2841, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 2¾ yards of 39 inch material, with 2 yards of binding.

Sophisticate Chooses Chic Duplex Ensemble

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Ensembles for indoors are one of the latest fancies of the Paris dressmakers. Chantal, who is going in extensively for duplex and triplex costumes this season is devoting considerable talent to the inside ensemble to take away for week-ends.

One of the most attractive and practical of these ensembles is shown in our sketch. The outer garment, an indoor coat, is a simple tailored robe that you can wear going down to your week-end rendezvous and afterward for your first morning costume. It is made of creamy dull surfaced brocade adorned with a green and pink flower pattern. The cut is similar to that of a tailored bathrobe, but the pink chiffon scarf collar supplies a feminine touch that is absolutely essential. This house coat is lined with pink satin to match the scarf.

The frock that may be worn under the flowered brocade coat or alone for the informal tea or dinner is shown on the small figure. Chantal makes this frock of creamy satin. The yoke that descends in deep V's over the loose kimona sleeves and down the front and back is coarse cream lace, bound with pipings of the satin. At the waistline there is a tailored belt with a crystal buckle. The skirt is quite long—about eight inches from the floor—and is flared by a sunburst godet at the center front. It is otherwise straight.

Chantal shows two pairs of slippers to go with this ensemble, a pair of brocaded mules to match the coat and a pair of cream satin slippers to match the frock.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscripts returned.

An Awkward Moment.

One summer while working in my father's office I had the opportunity of meeting several nice young men. I was telling one of them how I liked to dance, but that my sister was a regular "stick" because she would not even learn to dance.

He asked to take me out the next day and I replied that there was a dance at my father's lodge hall. Imagine my feelings when he replied, "Yes, but I can't dance." L. D. S.

Distressing Mistake.

I had attended a costume party, prizes were being awarded to members garbed most originally. I heard the judge say: "The young lady in the Spanish costume wins first prize." Thinking he meant me, I stepped out so every one could see me, but only to observe the judge giving the prize to a young lady in a Spanish boy costume. I left the hall at once. C. B.

KONJOLA—

The new and different medicine with more than a million friends.

To win more than a million friends a medicine has to make good, and that is exactly what Konjola does. Consider the experience of Mrs. Catherine Witthe, 485 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago; read what she says here:

MRS. CATHERINE WITTHE
485 Milwaukee Avenue

"I was troubled with constipation and was told that I had a sluggish liver. I had a tired feeling all the time, and I tried a number of medicines but none of them helped me. I have now used four bottles of Konjola, and I feel much better, and my bowels are functioning as they should. I am glad to tell how Konjola helped me for I did not believe there was a medicine that could do so much for me."

The enemy of the years after 30

AFTER 30, intestinal poisoning quietly, steadily, gains the upper hand. Then the slow tortures of constipation, auto-intoxication, arthritis, and other serious disorders may follow. This is because putrefactive bacteria—the germs of decay—dominate in your intestines.

Correct this condition, replacing the putrefactive bacteria with the friendly wholesome Bacillus Acidophilus. Drink Brook Hill Acidophilus Milk—a delightful health beverage that keeps your digestion and intestines young.

Your milkman will bring it fresh daily. (Also served at Walgreen stores and the better restaurants.) Start this drugless treatment today.

SALES OPPORTUNITY.

This ad is directed to real automobile salesmen—who has made good—selling popular cars priced between $1,500 and $1,800.

This type of man will know that his market is decreasing—people are buying low priced cars—trade-ins on the higher priced units are too hard to sell.

This man wants a more attractive market.

He will find it selling Oakland's new V type 8 base priced at $1,045 and Pontiac at $745. Experienced men with clean records can find a few attractive openings. Ask for W. S. Farrant between 2 and 4 p. m. any day.

COMMUNITY MOTORS, INC. 235 E. 33d-st.

A SELLER

If you have two popular priced necessities that you could offer for half the price they sell for elsewhere and were permitted to take orders for these noncompetitive items at terms of a dollar down and a dollar a week, do you feel you could get your share of business on such an unusual basis?

Just one order a day, with a dollar deposit (and you can write several each day), means you over $50 a week for steady, and we get you into the house.

This extraordinary opportunity extended to a few selected men of character and offers an excellent future with the world's largest manufacturer of a truly important product. 11TH FLR. 23 E. JACKSON-BLVD.

BRAND NEW SPECIALTY.

A REAL WORLD BEATER.

EIGHT PATENT FEATURES.

Going over big. H. R. W. just made $50.00 his first day in the field and says he can soon average $100.00 and says Some men who have joined us say they will make $25,000 this year. J. N. who is 21 years old and never sold before, recently made $162.50 in one day, his third day in the field. J. L. made $177.50 in one day during his first week in the field.

Sales run from one item to a gross or more. The article sells to dealers or direct. Thirty thousand have been sold and contracted for during the last thirty days before we even opened an office. This business was all done from one room in a hotel.

There is a ready market for probably a million or more. This is one of the first ads for men to build a national organization. The advertiser is the owner.

There are eight patent features on this article. It is new. Novel. Attractive. Has big eye value. Sells to people who have money and care for wonderful convenience. Saves cost quickly and protects and preserves highly prized equipment. Has a luxury and sport appeal without equal.

We are ready to contract for exclusive territory outside of Chicago to real producers. Applicants must be high caliber men who have earned $10,000 a year or more and can furnish unit-edged references. Our deal will interest real $25,000 per year men. Call or write room 407, 160 N. La Salle-st.

TWO USED CAR LOTS
3458 OGDEN-AV.
4045 W. 22D-ST.

The Large Volume of Sales on New Chevrolet cars has brought in an unusually large selection of USED CARS. These are immediately reconditioned in our shop by factory trained mechanics and put in excellent condition before we put on them the label:

USED CARS WITH "AN O. K. THAT COUNTS."

1929 Chevrolet Coach, "With an O. K. That Counts," $365.

1928 Chevrolet Coach, "With an O. K. That Counts," $245.

1929 Chevrolet 4 Dr. Sed., "With an O. K. That Counts," $385.

1929 MODEL A FORD, $160 DOWN.

This sport coupe with rumble seat has run but fifteen hundred miles. Beautifully equipped with cowl lights, step plates, front and rear bumpers, all five tires are just as they left the factory. A real saving on a car so nearly new. This car at our 4045 W. 22d-st. lot.

PIERCE-ARROW SPORT ROADSTER.

This car represents the utmost in luxury and refinement. It is finished in a beautiful cream and is equipped with trunk, disc wheels and rear bumpers and other essential equipment such as only a car of this caliber would be. It is the last word in class. It belonged to a wealthy customer of ours who has met with reverses. It is in excellent mechanical condition, and as for its appearance you must see it to appreciate what a bargain it is at our price of $595. Terms. This car at 3400 Ogden-av.
